Daily Review. The THE GOOD WE ALL MAY DO.

There are lonely hearts to cherish While the days are going by! there are weary souls who perish While the days are going by; If a smile we can renew, As our journey we pursue, Oh! the good we all may do, While the days are going by.

There's no time for idle scorning While the days are going by; Let our face be like the morning While the days are going by; Oh! the world is full of sight, Full of sad and weeping eyes; Help your fallen brother rise, while the days are going by.

All the loving links that bind us, While the days are going by, One by one they leave belind us. While the days are going by. But the seeds of good we sow, Both in shade and shine will grow. and will keep our hearts aglow, While the days are going by.

Persons, and especially children, are subject to this agonizing complaint, which often comes on -suddenly in the night and without any previous warning. Simmons Liver Regulator should always be at haud. A single dose will generally allay the pain. It never fails in giving relief. It is harmless, and can be given with safety to a child of the tenderest age.

We desire to say to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, the right to burden its people with if satisfactory results do not foliow their use. These remedies have to pay its necessary expenses and won their great popularity purely on their merits. Wm. H. Green &

A foreigner who learns your language and uses it can never get it through his head that you understand his. He was going traveling, and he stopped on the way to the ferry to get a cheap overcoat. There was an old man and a young man, father and son, and the son waited on the gentleman. Hefinally found a coat to suit.

"How much is this?"

"Twenty dollars."

"All right. I'll take it."

The old man, using strange jargon, Md an animated conversation with the young one. This was what # was translated, and the purchaser understood it, which the man evidently thought he did not: "You will never make a merchant, Samuel, never."

"Why, father?"

"Why, you might have got $25 for that coat just as easy as $20."

"Well, I think I'm a good enough salesman. It's $15 and I thought

"No, you're no good, no good at all." was doing well making it $20."

In the meantime the coat was being brushed a little for the customer. When he put it on he said: "That'll do beautifully. Now, since it was marked $15 I'll pay you hat and no more." The young one snickered and the

A Bloodthirsty Audience.

Warde, the actor, tells a good story. It is, I suppose, a chestnut. I never heard a theatrical story that was not. What proves it to be an old one is that Warde names the place it occurred in. He was play ing Virginius in some small place. You will remember that Appius Claudius' client, who does the dirty work, comes in on the last act, has a few words with Appius Claudius in prison and then goes off. That is the last that is seen of him in the flay. When the curtain fell on this performance of "Virginius" in this small place Warde retired to his dressing room and proceeded to be come the Frederick Warde of every day life. The manager came in.

"Mr Warde, the audience has not gone."

ury. That any system of taxation ridge. which necessitates the payment of a premium of $270 by the government on each $1,000 of its bonds, taken up with the millions that would otherwise lie idle in its vaults, and paid to bondholders who purchased, in many instances, at less than par, is undemocratic, oppressive and iniquitous and should be refunded. The course of our Democratic Representatives in Congress, in their efforts to give reliet to the people from burdensome internal revenue and tariff taxation, meets with the approval of the Democratic party of this State and we respectfully recommend that if they find it impossible to give to our people all the relief demanded, they support any just and practical measure presented in Congress that will afford
