

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

The Daily Review.

MONDAY, OCT. 29, 1888.

STATE NEWS.

Washington Gazette: Mr. Auelck James, of Martin county, the champion watermelon producer, raised on one vine 12 melons weighing 694 pounds.

Greensboro Patriot: On the line of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway, between this city and Benningville, S. C., there are now in operation 60 steam saw mills, pushing the development of the lumber business throughout the whole section, and giving employment to hundreds of men.

Durham Plant: Twenty seven persons gave their names for church membership last night and about fifteen this morning, making about one hundred and thirty in the past two or three days. — Rev. Dr. E. A. Yates left last evening for Charlotte to attend the funeral of his brother, Mr. W. J. Yates. The Dr. has the sympathy of many warm hearts in Durham in his bereavement.

Asheville Citizen: Mr. W. K. Vanderbilt, with a party of friends, has been viewing his recent purchase of lands in South Asheville. The party returned North yesterday but will come to Asheville in March to spend several weeks. — The Methodist Episcopal Church North has been holding its annual conference during the past week at Clyde, Haywood county. An increase of membership of 1,000 is reported, and also 1,800 Sunday school scholars; and 17 new ministers were received into the conference. The conference embraces the whole State of North Carolina, and one circuit in South Carolina. The next annual conference will be held at Clifton. Bishop Fitzgerald presided over the conference.

Charlotte Chronicle: Mr. C. L. Hopkins, who escorted the North Carolina delegates to the Associate Reformed Synod, which meets in Arkansas, returned yesterday. The trip from Charlotte to Little Rock was made in 36 hours, the distance being almost 1,000 miles. — Col. John F. Hoke, of Lincolnton, one of the most prominent lawyers of this section of North Carolina, died suddenly at his home at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning. The last object that his eyes ever rested upon was a Democratic procession. Col. Hoke was at Shelby last Friday, and he arrived home at Lincolnton on the morning train from that place yesterday. Arrangements had been made for a big political meeting in Lincolnton, which was to be addressed by Capt. W. H. Kitchin. On alighting from the train Col. Hoke went to his home, and after awhile, the procession came along and he went out on his porch to see it. While he was watching the moving column, he suddenly threw up his hands and fell to the floor a corpse. His death was due to heart disease. A singular circumstance mentioned in connection with his death is that one of his brothers and a sister died suddenly of heart disease.

A letter received here from a well known gentleman of this State, brings the information that Col. Dockery's party is making an effort to have Federal marshals and supervisors appointed for the elections in this State. It is reported that application has been made to Judge Bond, but is not known how he will consider it. Such applications must be made ten days prior to the election. It is to be hoped that this report is unfounded, yet it comes from a good source. Elections are as free and fair in North Carolina as in any other State in the Union, and the presence of Federal officers at the polls would serve to excite the people. If such a step as this is taken it will be a good thing for the Democratic party in this State. It is an ascertained fact that this Federal interference at the polls is to prevail in Richmond county, the home of Oliver H. Dockery. The commissions of two Federal officers, signed by Judge Dick, have been seen, and it is reasonably sure that other commissions have been signed. This does not speak well for Colonel Dockery.

LOCAL NEWS.

The receipts of cotton at this port to day foot up 2,487 bales.

A SAD STORY.
The child coughed. The mother ran. No remedy was near. Before morning the poor little sufferer was dead. Moral: Always keep Dr. Acker's English Remedy at hand. — Munds Bros., druggists.

Rock Crystal Spectacles and Eyeglasses
Advice to old and young: In selecting spectacles you should be cautious not to take more magnifying power than has been lost to the eye as in the same proportion that you pass that point of increase, will cause you further injury to the eye. Using glasses of stronger power than is necessary is the daily cause of premature old age to the sight. You can get the best at Heinsberger's.

The New Road to Chester.

The Georgia, Carolina & Northern road, which has just been completed from Monroe to Chester, is one of the most rapidly constructed roads in the country. A Chester correspondent of the Charleston News and Courier says that it is built after the newest improved methods. The iron bridge across the Catawba river cost $70,000 and is a superb structure. All large streams are spanned with bridges of the same material, and granite arches stride the smaller water courses. The road bed is straight and level, laid with pine ties and steel rails. This line intersects the Three C's at Catawba Junction, about fifteen miles from Chester, in conjunction with which road we understand it will be operated, giving this town and county two routes to the City by the Sea. Chief Engineer Matson and Superintendent Dodson will transfer their respective departments to this point in a few days, and next week the road will be ready for business. Gen. Hoke, of Raleigh, is president of the road, but it is understood to be part and parcel of the Seaboard Air Line, which system is dominated by Mr. John Robinson and has Norfolk for its land terminus.

The work of building this road was inaugurated in 1885 by the incorporation of the Chester, Greenville & Abbeville Railroad. Major Julius Mills was the leading spirit in this movement. Capitalists saw a future for the enterprise, and in 1886 the character of the company was amended and the name changed to the Georgia, Carolina and Northern, and Mr. S. E. McLeire, of Chester, was made a director. Dirt was broken at Monroe in June, 1887, and in sixteen months thereafter the iron horse rolled into Chester. The line on to Atlanta has been located and some grading has been done. The distance to that point from Chester is 220 miles, and no time will be lost in completing the structure. It traverses a magnificent stretch of country, passing through Lancaster, York, Chester, Union, Laurens and Abbeville counties on into Georgia, and paralleling the Air Line Road, with which it expects to share the great business from the Southwest. Col. L. C. Jones, Superintendent of the Carolina Central road, in company with other officials, recently went over the entire route from Chester to Atlanta, on horseback.
