was passing along a street in Brooklyn rewhen I saw a venerable and benevolent. oking old gentleman assisting a younger and eeble man along the street. The scene was help to the elderly man, and learned that he was the well known doctor T. S. Wilcox, and that he was helping the younger man, who was a consumptive, to an institution of which he had charge. I accompanied them, assisting as best I could, and asked the elderly gentleman some questions roughing his past history and his rich experiences of life. He replied that he thought he could put the matter more learly in writing, and at my request gave me he following statement: "I have been in the general practice of medi-cine for fifty years, being now over seventy years of age, and have charge of the Sanitarian Hospital located at No. 163 Lawrence street, Brooklyn, N. Y. During my lifetime of pracall deaths arise from consumption of the lungs or some lung trouble. For a century doctors have tried to reach and overcome this disease. but have never succeeded. Few people who have lung trouble know it; few people realize their danger until it is too late. After a thorough trial of all known remedies, I have settled down to the use of pure stimulants for all lung difficulties, and I find nothing so pure or valuable as Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. One of the superior advantages, possessed only by this whiskey, is its tonic power. It not only checks the waste of lung tissue but it tones and builds up the system wonderfully. In the Sanitarian and in my general practice, I use it constantly and I have never known it to fail

I was greatly impressed by the sincer;ty and truth of Dr. Wilcox, and believe his statemen can be made of great value to all.

Maryland in 1888 canned 1,007,450 cases of corn and 968,733 cases of tomatoes, beating every other State of the Union in the quantity of corn and tountoes canned. New York canned 563,486 cases of corn and Maine 496,200 cases. New Jersey canned 789,363 cases of tomatoes. The totals for the whole country were 3, 191,474 cases of corn and 3, 343,137 of tomatoes. This is a larger product than was ever previously

Mr. Froude denies that he has been converted to home rule. The report arose from his saying that the collapse of the Times case rendered home rule inevitable. This he admits, but he says, all the same, that he thinks the thing will be der the yoke. ruinous. Not long ago he expressed rule, on the ground that after awhile it would be necessary to re conquer Ireland, which he seemed to think would be pretty good fun.

Lord Wolseley has written an essay upon the English swords, which proved in recent battles in the Sou dan to be no better than sticks, bending and breaking under the most ordinary strain. He says that the present style of sword is too light by two or three ounces and too thin in the "fuller," but he thinks that one main trouble has been that the weapons were weakened by the on der creek is two feet thick, so I tests to which they had to be sub- thought I'd sit here an' freeze him mitted before acceptance, and he sagely suggests that it might be from a drive through the country better to accept the swords without testing them.

for their armies and are conducting experiments to get an explosive as nearly noiseless as possible. A fair ly. degree of success has been reached and experts have no doubt that by the time the next European war begins the smoke and noise of battle will have been done away with. It s alleged that the French will suffer most by this, as the men of that na tion are supposed to be least able to withstand the terrorizing effect of being mowed down by silent missiles from unseen enemies.

It was expected some weeks ago that the Unionist Government of Great Britain might go to pieces on Lord Salisbury's bill to increase the navy by seventy ships, costing about $100,000,000, but it now appears tha the bulk of the Gladstonian party will support his lordship's proposal. It is felt that England, having an empire upon which the sun never sets, should have a navy capable of facing a combination of at least two of her European rivals. In the next great war, Russia and France, it is thought, will fight England as well as Germany, Austria and Italy. It is believed to be necessary to pro vide against such a contingency. The English theory is that in time | That the body is now more suscepof war the English frontier should be considered to extend over the sea up to the very ports of her enemy. The enemy's ships must not be permitted to emerge from their har bors, but must be bottled up there. A plan of campaign like this demands, of course, a large number of parilla, which is peculiar to itself. swift fighting ships.

The latest South Sea yarn, coming by way of San Francisco, is attributed to a "gentleman," who knows all about it. By a common secret agreement, France is to take New Caledonia, England is to have Hawaii, and Germany to swallow the Samoan Islands. But in one of the most recent of Bismarck's dis patches on this question he expressly declares that the annexation of Samoa is wholly out of the question, on account of existing stipulations with England and the United States. It is quite certain that England has encouraged either by France or Germany, to say nothing of the United States, to seize the Sandwich Islands is preposterous. This story cannot have even as much basis of likelihood as the recent rumor of the blowing up of the Nipsic had; and if there were no other proof against it, the fact that the United States Government has been invited to confer in Berlin on the future of Samoa is proof enough that the fate of the group has not been settled.

PERD'S MILL, TEXAS, June 20, 1838—The Swift Specific Company, Atlanta, Ga.—Gentiemen: One of my children was troubled with rheumatism and boils for about two years. We gave her various kinds of medicine, but without profit, and began to despair of curing her at all. I was persuaded to try your Swift's Specific. After she had used several bottles the diseases all disappeared, and she is now a hale, hearty and healthy girl twelve years old. We tried the prescriptions from several good doctors, but without any special benefit We tried S. S. Homer, I.a., May 25, 1898—The Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga.—Gentlemen: About two years ago my general health gave way en-tirely. I was so debilitated that I almost tirely. I was so debilitated that I almost despaired of ever feeling well again. All that the physicians done for me brought no permanent relief. Friends insisted that I should give S. S. S. a fair trial, although I thought it would be throwing away money. After taking a thorough course, my health and strength returned, and I must say that S. S. S. alone cured me, as I discarded all others while using it. As a tonic I can most heartily recommend it; for general debility, it certainly is a specific. W. F. Bridges, and HOMER, LA.—I know Mr. W.
