THE DAILY REVIEW

VOL. XIII. WILMINGTON, N. C. WEDNESDAY, JULY 10, 1889. NO 161.

Lawn rakes of the latest and most improved patent. For sale by the N. Jacobi Hdw. Co.

Capt. R. M. McIntire, in this issue, extends the compliments of the season to all who will be within its borders during the Encampment and a cordial invitation to call and see him.

Mrs. Wm. Gorman has leased the premises No. 115 Market street, nearly opposite this office and is ready to accommodate boarders by the day, week or month. Her table will be supplied with the best the market affords.

Col. DeRosset requests all of the officers of the Veterans to meet him at the City Hall tomorrow, Thursday evening, at 8 o'clock, so that all may fully understand the arrangements for the parade on Friday.

Mr. J. F. A. Reaves has opened the Rock Spring Hotel on Chestnut street, between Front and Water, and West of the new public building, where he is prepared to supply good board and lodging, and meals at all hours. See ad.

It is very important in this age of vast material progress that a remedy be pleasing to the taste and to the eye, easily taken, acceptable to the stomach and healthy in its nature and effects. Possession these qualities, Syrup of Figs is the one perfect laxative and most gentle diuretic known.

Shirts, we have got them by the million, made by good and skillful hand; come and see us, we can save you over fifty five per cent. We'll not charge you fancy prices, treat you well, don't be afraid, therefore come and patronize; us money saved is money made, at the Wilmington Shirt Factory, 123 Market street. Sign of the blue awning.

It was a busy scene on deck at the Seacoast depot in Wrightsville last night. The frequently arriving and departing trains, the immense piles of camp equipage which crowded the platform, the uniformed warriors who paced the planks, the vans standing ready waiting to be loaded with baggage and the shouts of laborers as they rapidly disposed of equipage and baggage, formed a bright and animated scene. Capt. T. J. Southerland had the contract for removing everything from the depot to the camp and he had a large force there of horses and vehicles and men to do the work under his personal supervision. He has also ready wagonettes and carriages to take parties to and fro between the depot and the camp and these will be on hand to connect with every train during the Encampment.

Miss Annie DeRosset returned a few days since from a visit to Lexington, Ky., where she had gone, by invitation, to attend Kentucky Chautauqua Assembly, and to sing there. Her success there, and the impression she made upon all who heard her exquisite voice, is told in the following, which we clip from the Assembly Notes, the organ of the Chautauqua Assembly: Miss DeRosset's departure yesterday afternoon was a cause of regret much more sincere and deep than is often felt at the departure of one known only for a week or thereabouts. The Lexington public is usually as slow to form attachments as it is constant after they are formed, but this young singer, with the entrancing voice and modest bearing, has won them in a body and at first sight. She sang as a farewell yesterday morning, before Dr. Henson's lecture, "The Old Kentucky Home," and nothing that she had previously rendered seemed to suit so well the tender expressiveness of her pure face, however equally all her selections suit her voice. The people were under promise not to demand an encore, but they showed themselves almost of a mind to break their word. Success and happiness to her wherever her lot is cast! The latter she is sure to have if the first can give it. Let us hear and see her again next year.

No mortal yet has ever forecast The moment that shall be his last, but Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets have forever settled the question of a comfortable existence until that moment does arrive, and put to flight the melancholy forebodings of sufferers from: biliousness, headache, indigestion, consumption, and kindred ailments.

A HOT FIRE.

Messrs. Parsley & Wiggins' Planing Mill and Sash and Blind Factory Destroyed—A Vessel Burned at the Wharf—Losses Very Heavy.

At 2 o'clock this morning an alarm of fire was sounded from Messrs. Parsley & Wiggins' steam saw and planing mills, located at Hilton, in the extreme northern part of the city. The fire was first discovered by the watchman in a part of the mill where Mr. Gooding, the Foreman, says there had been no fire at all during the day and the only plausible theory of its origin is that it was caused by some one passing to or from one of the vessels lying at the wharf emptying a pipe there with fire in it or carelessly throwing in there a lighted cigar or a match. It was a small fire when first discovered and the watchman tried to smother it but failing in this he sent in an alarm. Some precious time was thus consumed and when the three fire steamers arrived at the bridge of the C. C. R. R., several hundred yards from the mill, they halted, as it was deemed unsafe to venture on the bridge with the engines. They then laid their hose to the fire and were soon hard at work. The fire, however, had by this time gained headway and the planing mill and the sash and blind factory were already a seething mass of flames. It was hard work but the firemen buckled to it with a hearty good will and succeeded in saving the gang mill and the circular saw mill. Parts of the latter and the office were on fire several times but were saved.

Lying at the wharf at the time were three tow schooners, the Samuel B. Vrooman, loading for Philadelphia, with 200,000 feet of lumber in the hold; the Nellie Sawyer, for Boston, with 230,000 feet, and the Fanny Tracy, of New York, with 160,000 feet. The two last pulled out into the stream and escaped but the Vrooman was burned at the wharf. No effort was made to save her. It is said that there were but two of the crew on board at the time and the Captain claims that the vessel was aground and could not be moved. She will prove a total loss but it is hoped that the cargo will be saved. The steam tug Marie arrived on the scene and tried to save her but could not do so. She is burned almost to the water's edge with her three masts standing bare and blackened against the sky. There were about 300,000 feet of lumber on the yard and wharf and it is estimated that about 100,000 feet of this was saved.

The loss is roughly estimated at between $20,000 and $25,000, with partial insurance. The mills were splendidly equipped and in first class order. They have been running for about thirty years, in common with the Chadbourn Mills, the Kidder Mills, and the Northrop Mills, and it is the first time a serious fire has occurred at either of the four in that period. We are glad to know that the enterprising proprietors of the Hilton Mills will rebuild the destroyed works just as soon as the debris can be cleared away.

As far as we could ascertain there was no insurance on the Vrooman but Messrs. Parsley & Wiggins were insured as follows:

With Messrs. Atkinson & Manning, $1,000 in city of London, and $1,000 in North Carolina Home on planing mill; and $1,500 in Imperial, of London, and $500 in Hartford Fire, with on sash and blind factory, Messrs. Northrop, Hodges and Taylor, $1,000 in Phoenix, of Hartford, on planing mill. With Mr. M. S. Willard $1,250 in Western Assurance, of Toronto, and $1,350 in Niagara Fire, of New York, on sash and blind factory.

Death of Mr. Morris Bear.

The sad news of the death of Mr. Morris Bear, received here last evening by telegraph, was heard with great regret by his many friends in this city. It was only a few weeks ago that we shook hands with him here and imagined that he looked greatly improved. For many years past his health has been delicate and for some time he has sojourned at Rutherfordton. He has recently been traveling in the West and yesterday died suddenly at Marion, N. C., soon after his arrival there. The remains will arrive here this evening and the funeral will take place at 9.30 tomorrow morning.

Mr. Bear was 41 years of age, and unmarried. He was the head of the large wholesale house of Morris Bear & Bros., of this city. He was a man of a quiet, reserved disposition but of a kindly heart and of a generous nature. Those who knew him well loved him sincerely and will deeply mourn him.

THE ENCAMPMENT

Formally Opened To-Day With Gen. Anthony in Command—List of the Officers—Some Veterans of Two Wars.

CAMP LATIMER, WRIGHTSVILLE, N. C., July 10. Last Light the boys made "Rome howl!" even daylight found them still enjoying themselves. Upon dismissal yesterday afternoon at least one hundred sought the briny deep and enjoyed the pleasures of a bath after their dusty and tiresome ride.

Today at 8 o'clock (there was no reveille) each regimental commander had guard mounting, and afterwards the battalions were drilled.

At 10.30 a. m. the regiments were formed in front of the main building, in close order, and the opening exercises began by the reading of a prayer by Chaplain W. G. Campsbell, of the Fourth Regiment.

Brig. Gen. Anthony then assumed command and had read the general orders convoking the Encampment, after which the "Military Opera Band," from Hickory, pleased the troops and visitors by playing "Dixie." The troops were then dismissed, to their great pleasure, as old Sol was shedding his rays very strongly and many sought refuge in those "unbragued grots of cool recesses."

Everyone seems delighted with the prospects of a good time and the advent of visitors adds to their pleasures. The boys are throwing off all care and after the business of the day are giving themselves up to full enjoyment. The water is sought after for sailing and bathing and the expressions of pleasure at returning to Wilmington, or rather Wrightsville, are heard often and loud.

Brig. Gen. Anthony is in command. His staff is composed of Maj. Divine, Maj. Hall, Capt. Wood, Capt. Frank Muse and Lt. Jackson. His headquarters are in tents opposite the main building.

Adj. Gen. Glenn, who has his headquarters in a cottage Northeast of the main building, has present Col. Cameron, Inspector General; Col. Olds, Quartermaster General; Col. Cantwell, Commissary General; Capt. Grimes, Assistant Quartermaster General, and Col. Haywood, Surgeon General.
