Harper's Bazar.

ILLUSTRATED.

HARPER'S BAZAR will continue to maintain its reputation as an unequalled family journal. Its art illustrations are of the highest order. Its literature is of the choicest kind, and its Fashion and Household departments of the most practical and economical character. The terse, short, and snappy articles and fashion plates alone will save its readers ten times the cost of the subscription, and its articles on decorative art, social etiquette, house-keeping, cooking, etc., make it indispensable to every household. Its bright short stories and timely essays are among the best published; and not a line is admitted to its columns that could not find the most fastidious taste. Among the attractions of the new volume will be serials by Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett, Mrs. Alexander, William Black and Thomas Hardy, and a series of papers on nursery management by Mrs. Christine Terkune Herick.

Harper's Weekly.

ILLUSTRATED.

HARPER'S WEEKLY has a well-established place in the literature of the United States. The fairness of its editorial comments on current politics has earned for it the respect and confidence of all impartial readers, and the variety and excellence of its literary contents, which include serial and short stories by the best and most popular writers, fit it for the perusal of people of the widest range of tastes and occupations. Supplements are frequently provided, and no expense is spared to bring the highest order of artistic ability to bear upon the illustration of the changed phases of home and foreign history. A new work of fiction from the pen of William Dean Howells, and one by Charles King, will be among the leading features of the Weekly for 1889.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

SATURDAY, JULY 27, 1889.

Entered at the Postoffice at Wilmington, N.C., as second-class matter.

Col. Duncan, of Barnwell county, S. C., has suggested that the watermelon be utilized in the manufacture of syrup. He says that he has tried it and that it can be made a success. But why not go a step farther? If syrup can be made from the melon, why not sugar? We have often wondered why the inventive genius of the age has not been turned in this direction. If it will pay to make glucose from corn, surely it ought to pay to make syrup or sugar from watermelons. Commenting on Col. Duncan's report the Charleston News and Courier says:

The suggestion of Col. William H. Duncan, that an intelligent effort should be made to utilize the watermelon for the manufacture of syrup on a large scale, is well worthy of the serious attention of the farmers of South Carolina, and of all the Southern States. It is very generally known in the United States that the juice of the melon is very sweet. It is also known that there is plenty of it—each individual melon containing all that it will hold, and the number of melons being practically infinite. Why, then, should not this grand fruit, the biggest fruit in the world, form the basis for the syrup supply of this continent, at least? It is more easily and far more generally raised than the sugar cane. It grows above ground, and in this respect, is far more convenient for cultivation and harvesting than the sugar beet. If syrup of good quality can be produced from the melon why should we not enter it as a competitor against its two rivals?

Col. Duncan says that it is not a mere theory that the juice of the watermelon will make a good syrup. He has made syrup from it, and found it to be of excellent quality. The taste of watermelon syrup he says is "more like preserves," than the cane syrup, and, barring tomato preserves, it would be difficult to make a syrup of this generic flavor that would not please almost every palate.

At any rate, the experiment is worth trying again, and trying thoroughly. By the use of the new evaporating pans, which have so largely taken the place of the old fashioned iron boilers, it is practically now to make sorghum syrup that compares favorably with the product of the Louisiana cane, and that sells for a high price in the market. The new process might prove equally effective for the improvement of the melon syrup. Certainly, the experiment should be made, and every other experiment on the same line that ingenuity can devise.

The refuse of the melons, after the syrup is extracted, is still available for the purpose of feeding stock, and, Col. Duncan says, will repay the cost of making the syrup. For the rest, it is his opinion that the melon crop of Barnwell county this season would make 400,000 gallons of syrup, worth $300,000. These are startling figures, but no farmer will be disposed to laugh at them or to reject them, who recalls for one instant that the cotton seed which he used to bury or give away "to get rid of it," ranks now as second in value to cotton itself, and that the hulls of the seed, which were burned last year in the furnaces of the oil mills, are now regarded as superior to corn and clover as food for cattle.

Peculiar

In the combination, proportion and preparation of its ingredients—Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures where other preparations entirely fail. Peculiar in its good name at home, which is a "tower of strength abroad," peculiar in the phenomenal sales it has attained, Hood's Sarsaparilla is the most successful medicine for purifying the blood, giving strength and creating an appetite.

Take Hood's Sarsaparilla 100 Doses One Dollar

The Chief Reason for the great success of Hood's Sarsaparilla is found in the article itself. It is merit that wins, and the fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla actually accomplishes what is claimed for it, is what has given to this medicine a popularity and sale greater than that of any other sarsaparilla or blood purifier before the public.

Hood's Sarsaparilla cures Scrofula, Salt Rheum and all Humors, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Biliousness, overcomes that Tired Feeling, creates an Appetite, strengthens the Nerves, builds up the Whole System.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is sold by all druggists. Price, $1; six for $5. Prepared by C. I. Hood & Co., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass., Jan 1 1874 d2wrrm mws 2d

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., June 7, 1888—Swift's Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga.—Gentlemen: In the early part of the present year, a bad case of blood poison appeared upon me. I began taking S. S. under advice of another doctor to-day I feel greatly improved. I am still taking the medicine and shall continue to do so until I am perfectly well. I believe it will effect a perfect cure. Yours truly, Loc. Hill West Sixth St. (

COLUMBIA, S. C., July 7, 1888—The Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga.—Gentlemen: I was a great sufferer from muscular rheumatism for two years. I could get no permanent relief from any medicine prescribed by my physician. I took over a dozen bottles of your S. S., and now I am as well as I ever was in my life. I am sure your medicine cured me, and I would recommend it to anyone suffering from any blood disease. Yours truly, Conductor O. E. HIGGINS.

YACO, TEXAS, May 9, 1888—Gentlemen: The wife of one of my customers was terribly afflicted with a loathsome skin disease, that covered her whole body. She was confined to her bed for several years by this affliction, and could not help herself at all. She could not sleep from a violent itching and stinging of the skin. The disease baffled the skill of the physicians who attended her. Her husband began finally giving his wife Swift's Specific, and she commenced to improve almost immediately, and in a few weeks she was apparently well. She is now a hearty frolicking lady, with no trace of the affliction left. Yours very truly, Wholesale Druggist, Austin Avenue.
