JOSH. T. JAMES, Editor & Prop'r.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 1. 1889. Entered at the Postoffice at Wilmington, N.C.

The Atlanta Constitution announces that everything is now ready to begin the erection of the main building for the Confederate designed by the architect, the same paper says, looks more like a country villa than a soldiers' home, has every convenience and comfort for the old veterans, and is surrounded with immense piazzas. It will be placed in a beautiful grove, and will be ready for occupancy just as soon ar the contractors can finish it. There is money enough on hand to pay for it. The full purchase money for the location has been paid, and a force of hands has been at work for two months cutting out roads and laying out the park. The architects are now at work on the cottages, stables, dairy and other outhouses. In the meantime the directors have received scores of applications from old veterans and their wives who want a home, and in less drummer from Boston." than six months every one of them will have a home.

Indian hostilities which have mark ed the present year seems to have passed quietly away, the announcewar dances of a band in the mountainous regions of Northwestern Arizona had no evil intent so far as previously had rumored hostilities of the Mille Lacs, the Utes, the Calispels or Spokanes, and perhaps other tribes, which turned out to be false alarms. In the present case the settlers of the town nearest to the trenchments, and had sent away their families, when it was fortunately learned that the Indians had only had some disputes with each other as to burial rites and customs, but had no intention of going on the war path. There is, of course, no absolute guarantee against the breaking out of Indian hosfilities, but it is not too much to say that the danger of them is everywhere dozen years ago. With the march of settlements and the wiser methods of dealing with the red men that have come by experience it has become possible to hold them almost completely under control.

A San Francisco dispatch states that the application made to the State board of equalization last week for a reduction of county assessments revealed some curious facts. They betrayed the fact that the effort to continue the boom in certain sections of California has been disastrous to property owners, and has resulted in the virtual confiscation of property in Los Angeles, San Bernardino and San Diegos counties. Much alkali land near Los Angeles, which is worthless, is still assessed at $50 per acre, because it was divided into town lots and sold at a big price at the time of the boom. Many specific instances of the terrible depreciation were given In one case property that sold two years ago for $16,000 has been returned to the owner for $6,000, the face of the mortgage on it. One of the most curious features of this land craze was the paper towns. Newspapers are not to copy this adversisement | Statistics were given of sixty of these towns in Los Angeles coun ty, two being actually on a desert. Lots in them were unloaded mainly on the Eastern public. These sixty towns have now only 2,300 people. Among those towns were Border City, with 1,920 lots and no inhabitants; Chicago Park, with 2,200 lots, and the only inhabitant the watchman in charge of the leading hotel. Several other paper towns had no residences except the watchman admitted that the bottom had been reached and that the reaction was and Fresno secured 10 per cent re duction, and San Francisco, San Bernardina and Santa Barbara 5 per cent.
