The New York Times' London correspondent is authority for the statement that the Prince of Wales is a doomed man. It is said that he has Bright's disease incurably fastened upon him and that the chances are against his living more than a year longer.

Mgre. O'Connell, rector of the American College at Rome, who arrived in Baltimore on Tuesday, has received a cablegram from Miss Mary Gwendoline Caldwell, the young lady who gave $300,000 toward the endowment of the Washington University, announcing that her marriage to Prince Murat would be celebrated in Paris on the 30th instant.

The Duke of Portland's winnings on the English turf during the past two years have been stupendous. Ayrshire, in 1888, won £8,675, and in 1889 he has won £20,000, making his total £28,675. Donovan, in 1888, won £16,487.15, and in 1889 he has won £38,206.15, making his total £54,694.10. Semolina's winnings this season reach £8,810.8. Thus the Duke's winnings with the three amounts to £92,179.18. This does not include the Duke of Portland's minor winners, who have won quite handsomely.

In a village in the canton of Lucerne, Switzerland, there is a society of old maids. It numbers eighty members, and, strangely enough, is under the patronage of the St. Catharine matrimonial agency. The members perform acts of charity, and are highly esteemed in their neighborhood. The municipal council lately presented them with a banner on which is the following startling inscription: "Women are an evil, but they are also a blessing. They remind us of the onions that make us weep, but that we love all the same."

The blockade of the east coast of Africa for the suppression of the slave trade is at an end. It is just about a year ago that this very question was causing a good deal of talk, but it was not until the end of November that any important measures were taken. Then it was that the blockade commenced; since which time the east African coast, from two given points, north and south, has been effectively watched by the combined fleets of England, Germany and Italy, while France and Portugal were ready to help if extra assistance were required.

Reveries of bachelors used to contain an alloy of painful anticipation, on account of sleepless nights with the prospective baby, but Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup has made all that part a joy forever.

Br. steamship Camanti, Hagan, cleared to day for Liverpool, with 6,500 bales of cotton, valued at $318,600, shipped by Messrs. Alex. Sprunt & Son.

We have had good rains to-day, the first for weeks. They were greatly needed. It is hoped that they extended to the interior and may put more water in the river.

The transfer steamer of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley R. R. Company was at Norfolk on Monday and was expected here to-day but at our close she had not arrived.

Only a small audience was present last night to witness "An Arabian Night." The piece was well presented, however, and those who were present did not regret being there.

Mayor Fowler has been invited to visit Charleston during the Gala Week there as the guest of the committee and he thinks that he will spend a day or two of the week there.

Mr. Jno. B. Lord, of New York, was in the city yesterday on a brief visit to his father, M. F. J. Lord. He is a lawyer and had been to Charleston in attendance on a case tried there.

Hon. A. M. Waddell returned to the city last night from New York, where he has been as a delegate to the Triennial Convention of the Episcopal Church. The Convention will adjourn to morrow.

Those who believe that the moon has an effect on the weather have been saying that the long spell of warm, dry weather would close on or about the change of the moon. A change in the weather took place this morning and the change of the moon is booked for to-morrow morning.

The oil in a large lamp in Capt. W. E. Mayo's residence, on Market street, exploded last night and for a time a serious disaster was threatened. The flames were suppressed, however, without turning in an alarm. The oil used was refined white oil and the cause of explosion is a mystery.

Forecasts. For North Carolina, clearing and colder weather, winds high on the coast and frosts to-night. For Wilmington and vicinity, fair weather.

CITY COURT. The Mayor disposed of the following cases to-day: William Beldon was charged with disorderly conduct, and was found guilty but judgment was suspended on payment of costs.

Richard Ferguson, disorderly, was fined $20 and costs but one-half the fine was remitted.

Nearly $200 an Acre. We spoke some weeks ago of the fine tobacco crop raised by Mr. D. W. Rencher, near Willard. On Saturday last Mr. Rencher sold the proceeds of a half acre of this crop for $98.05, which is at the rate of $196.10 per acre. Let some of the best farmers in Pender county, who have good tobacco lands lying idle, put on their thinking caps and reason this matter out to its logical conclusion.

Rain, Cold Weather and High Winds. The cautionary Northeast storm signal was raised here this morning, at 11.10 o'clock, in accordance with instructions from Washington City. They were also ordered for Morehead. A storm is approaching the Atlantic coast from the interior and Easterly gales may be expected. Vessels are warned against leaving port in the teeth of this expected gale. Rain and colder weather are also on the programme.

Syrup of Figs. Produced from the laxative and nutritious juice of California figs, combined with the medicinal virtues of plants known to be most beneficial to the human system, acts gently, on the kidneys, liver and bowels effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds and headaches, and curing habitual constipation.

The Wedding Bells. Grace M. E. Church was filled to its utmost capacity last night to witness the marriage of Mr. Frank Boykin, of Clinton, and Miss Julia A. Bowden, the charming and accomplished daughter of Mr. L. H. Bowden, of this city. Rev. W. S. Creasy, Pastor of the Church, pronounced the words which made them man and wife. The church was beautifully decorated with flowers. The attendants were Mr. W. N. Jacobs, of Wilmington, with Miss Mamie Boykin, of Clinton; Mr. J. C. Slocum, of Clinton, with Miss Sallie E. King, of Wilmington; Mr. D. S. Boykin, of Wilson, with Miss Lillian Bowden, of Wilmington; Mr. W. A. Hobbs, of Clinton, with Miss Mollie Hawes, of Wilmington; Mr. L. Tate Bowden and Miss Florence Alderman, both of Wilmington. The ushers were Messrs. James W. Moore, B. F. Hawes, E. W. Moore, Joe Clark, Mosely Hubbard and H. W. Bagg.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the bridal party repaired to Mr. Bowden's residence where a reception was held. The happy couple left at 12.05 o'clock for a tour to the North. There were many beautiful and costly wedding presents.

A Horrible Disaster. The alarm of fire last evening, about dark, was caused by the explosion of a barrel of gasoline in a freight car which was being loaded at the W. C. & A. R. R. depot in this city for transmission to Marion, S. C. The flames were speedily checked with a loss of about $300 but a horrible disaster was developed in the death of Mr. R. L. Denmark, the yard master, who was literally burned to death. The car was partially loaded. The gasoline had been loaded and the car was being backed down to another door of the warehouse, to take on other freight, when the explosion occurred. Mr. Denmark was seen to enter the car for some purpose with a lantern in his hand and almost immediately thereafter the explosion occurred. It was supposed that he had jumped out of the car and his horrible fate was not discovered until after the flames had been suppressed. It was then that Chief Newman looked into the car from an aperture near the top and saw some object in the corner. He called to Mr. J. D. Kelley, who had entered by the door, to see what the object was, when Mr. Kelley exclaimed that it was a dead man. At first it was thought to be a colored man but the body was soon identified as that of Mr. Denmark. He was crouched in a corner with his hands clenched before him and his head turned upward. He was horribly burned. All of the hair was gone from his head and his face and hands were perfectly black. It is not known how the explosion occurred but it is supposed that gas escaped from the barrel of gasoline and came in contact with the flame of the lantern.

Mr. Denmark was about 35 years of age and leaves a wife and two small children, one a mere infant. He had been in the employ of the W. C. & A. R. R. Co. for about eight years, first as a conductor and more recently as yard master. He was an honorable, high-minded man, greatly esteemed by all the officials of the road and his fellow employees and his sad and untimely death is deeply regretted. He was a member of Brooklyn Baptist Church, he and his wife having joined that church about two weeks ago. The remains were removed to the residence on Chestnut street, between Fourth and Fifth.

Coroner Jacobs held an inquest this morning and a verdict was rendered that "deceased came to his death by the explosion of gasoline in a railroad car."

Do you think the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy would offer, as they have done for many years, a standing reward if they cannot cure a case of Catarrh which they cannot cure, if they did not positively know that the Remedy will absolutely and permanently cure Catarrh. Sold by druggists, at only 50 cents.

Merchants' Carnival. The Merchants' Carnival, spoken of by us some weeks ago as in preparation by the ladies of St. Paul's E. L. Church, will be given at the Opera House in this city on the Thursday night of next week, the 31st inst. More than one hundred young ladies, arrayed in appropriate costumes, will represent business houses in the city. There will be some fine vocal and instrumental music and the Germania Cornet Band will be present and render some of their best selections. Reserved seats may be had at Yates'.

Rheumatism is caused by lactic acid in the blood, which Hood's Sarsaparilla neutralizes, and thus cures rheumatism.

IN MEMORIAM.

George S. Willis. Death spares no sex, nor age, nor climate. There is no stream so wide he cannot cross it. There is no mountain so high that he cannot scale it. There is no wall so thick that he cannot penetrate it. There is no power so great that he cannot crush it. There is no palace so grand that he will shrink from entering it. There is no home so humble that he will pass it by. He rides upon the wind, he moves upon the air and trusts in his heartless and pitiless sickle upon every field, and in every land and on every sea, and he cuts down the young, the old and the middle-aged. So his power has been felt amid the ranks of the workmen of the Review. He drove one by the power of disease away from his work, and first to his home, then to his bed, then to his eternal rest, and the man who fell before his awful power was gentle, genial, generous-hearted Geo. S. Willis, cut down in the midst of his years if seen as a pity great. He was one of God's noble, humble men. He was respectful towards all. He was kind-hearted in his demeanor. He was trustworthy in every particular. He was faithful and conscientious in the performance of his duties and reliable in every position of life. He possessed a high tone of intelligence and was for himself a high gentleman. In all the long, lingering sickness, in all his fierce struggles against death, his trust in God made him brave. He showed a fearlessness at the approach of death that was admirable in the extreme, and his end was peaceful. His very actions remind us of David's words, "I will both lay me down in peace and sleep." He ever was for himself a high gentleman. He learned to know him, and will be mourned by hundreds of friends as they learn of his death. We tender our sincere sympathy to the stricken wife, who in all his afflictions ministered to him like an angel of mercy, and who will miss him all the more because of her continued and constant attentions to him. Blessed be his memory! Peace to his ashes! This call says to all, "We live not when thy summons comes to join The innumerable caravan that moves To the pale realms of shade where each shall To his chamber in the silent halls of death. Thou go, not like the quarry slave at night, Scourged to his dungeon, but sustained and soothed By an unfeeling trust approach thy grave. Like one who wraps the drapery of his couch About him and lies down to pleasant dreams."
