PROMISES VS. ACTS.

If promises were always fulfilled, and, especially, if promises made by Republican candidates for office be fore election" were kept after the election had placed them in official position, this, would indeed be a funny world and we might almost expect a political millenium to be near at hand, but this has never been known to be the case except on special occasions and as a reward for the services of special partisans-Yet there are pleaty of people who have been credulous enough to think that promises so loudly made would be kept, notwithstanding the palpable fact that they had no antecedent history upon which to base such an absurd opinion.

President Harrison and many of the Republican speakers during the last Presidential campaign were loud-mouthed in the assertion that no faithful and efficient official should be removed from office, in case of a Republican success, on account of his political preferences, and we know of some who under this delusive promise felt sure that they would not be disturbed. Especially was this the case with some of the soldiers of the late war, who are members of the Grand Army of the Republic, of which organization President Harrison is also a member. The fact that they were the comrades of the President gave would not be disturbed, but comcrats are falling as fast as the axes of Republican chieftains can decap itate them.

We have in mind a soldier of this description, who served faithfully through the entire war, who on account of his peculiar qualifications was detailed to positions of great was appointed under President Cleveland's administration to be superintendent of one of the principal branches of the Postoffice Department, a position he was eminently well qualified to fill. He thought he was sure to be retained, but Postmaster General Wanamaker thought otherwise and the official would be accepted. A personal interview with the Postmaster Genpressure was so great" from the druggists. outside that it had to be done. With this poor consolation the offi. cial sought an interview with the HARPER'S MAGAZINE. .............$4 00 a comrade in the Grand Army of the Republic "didn't work worth a cent," as Mr. Harrison did not feel like interfering in the matter.

> This is a case that comes under the knowledge of the writer, and we presume it is but one of thousands of the same nature. Republican protestations before an election are not so good as straws, for the latter "show which way the wind blows," while the former show nothing at all.

The Light of Home.

A cheerful, healthy woman is the ight of home, but through over-exertion in her efforts to minister to the happiness of the household, her health is often impaired, or weakness, or displacement brought on, making life miserable, and clouding an otherwise happy home with gloom. The thoughtful and tender husband, in such cases, should be intelligent enough to perceive the cause of such gloom and suffering, relieve the faithful wife from drudgery, and furnish her with that best of friends to women, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, now recognized and used in thousands of homes as a certain cure for all those delicate afflictions peculiar to the female sex. "Favorite Prescription" by druggists, under a positive guarcase, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrapper, and faithfully carried out for many years.
