Inherited Blood Poison.
How many people there are whose distress
from sores, aches, pains and eruptive
tendencies are due to inherited blood poison.
Bad blood passes from parent to child, and it is therefore the duty of husband and wife to keep their blood pure. This is easily accomplished by a timely use of B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm). Send to Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, for book of most convincing proof.
James H. Atlanta, Ga., writes: "My two sons were afflicted with blood poison, which doctors said was hereditary. They both broke out in sores and eruptions which B. B. B.
promptly controlled and finally cured completely."
Mrs. S. M. Williams, Sandy, Texas, writes:
"My three poor afflicted children, who inherited blood poison, have improved rapidly after a use of B. B. B. It is a Godsend."
J. R. Wilson, Glen Alpine Station, N. C., Feb. 18, 1889, writes: "Bone and blood poison
forced me to have my leg amputated, and on the stump there came a large ulcer, which gave worse every day until doctors gave me up. I only weighed 120 pounds when I began to take B. B. B., and 12 bottles increased my weight to 180 pounds and made me sound and well. I never knew what good health was before."

NOVEMBER 1ST, 1889.

We begin the month with a magnificent stock of Dry Goods, to which we invite an examination. Our stock covers every department in the Dry Goods line, and every department is complete. We would call especial attention to our stock of Dress Goods. We have the best and cheapest stock of Mourning Goods in the city. Time and space will not permit us to enumerate the great number of special bargains we have to offer. It is sufficient to say that we are willing and anxious to show our stock and that we are able to offer
Superior Goods at lowest prices.
The immensity of our sales and extent of our stock of Gents' Furnishing Goods enable us to offer inducements in that line, and a class of goods not to be found in any other store in the State. We have in reserve for the Holidays the handsomest stock of Embroidered Handkerchiefs ever opened in the South.
These goods will be exhibited to persons desirous of seeing them.
Respectfully,
JNO. J. HEDRICK,

THE DAILY REVIEW

VOL. XIII. WILMINGTON, N. C., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1889. NO 269.

The new Brooklyn Tabernacle is to be 118 x 200 feet. It will stand on the corner of Clinton and Greene avenues. It will cost about $150,000 to build it.

New York is trying hard to raise a guarantee fund of $5,000,000 for the World's Fair. About three million is now in sight for the site and the balance is to be pledged.

The Durham Globe has suspended. We are sorry for it. It was a good paper and a credit to North Carolina journalism. Want of patronage was the cause.

Speaker Carlisle is an enthusiastic Cleveland man. He says that the recent elections all point one way and that is to Cleveland as the standard bearer of the Democratic party in '92. And John Brown's soul goes marching on.

Stanley has been heard from. He expects to reach Zanzibar about the middle of January. A Herald relief expedition will meet him somewhere in the wilds with some important dispatches in a bottle and on ice.

The result of the election in Iowa is another blow against prohibition. Among the causes that contributed to the Democratic victory was undoubtedly a revolt against the prohibition policy that has been in force in that State for so many years. In fact, Iowa was a pioneer in "constitutional prohibition," having adopted a prohibitory amendment in 1882 by a majority of 30,000. Experience shows that in the cities and large towns prohibition fails of its object, and the result is a state of things for which there is no remedy so long as it is impossible to pass laws of restriction and regulation for liquor selling.

This is a free country but freedom here does not mean license, any more than it does in any other country. A man is free to go and come as he pleases, free to act, move, speak and work, but all under the province of the law. Freedom of speech is a great institution with us and it is stretched to its utmost, but language is sometimes incendiary and then it degenerates from liberty into license. The Anarchists met in New York on Monday night to celebrate the anniversary of the death of the Chicago "martyrs" and some of the language used was violent in the extreme. Why this should have been allowed it is hard to say. No arrests were made, although the police were on hand in force.

Burns or wounds should be attended to carefully, especially in cold weather. We would recommend Salvation Oil for such cases. All druggists sell it for 25 cents a bottle.

High Winds To-Day.

The high winds blowing directly up the river gave us quite a high tide this afternoon. The greatest velocity here was 32 miles per-hour from the Southwest between 11 a. m. and 12 m. Southport reported a velocity of 33 miles an hour with the wind from the Southwest. We think it will be cold to morrow.

Water Pitcher Presented.

The elegant silver water pitcher and cup intended for Mr. Richard F. Warren, in token of his gallantry last Summer at Wrightsville Beach, was presented to him last night at Atlantic Hall by his fellow firemen of W. S. F. E. Co. No. 1, in the presence of a large number of invited guests, ladies as well as gentlemen. The presentation was made by Capt. W. P. Oldham, President of the company, and Mr. N. W. Jacobs responded in behalf of Mr. Warren, whose well known native modesty held him back. The pleasures of the evening closed with a handsome collation. The engine house was brilliantly illuminated and a pleasant, quiet, sociable evening followed the presentation.

A general invitation is also extended to the friends of the Knights to visit the hall, which will be thrown open to the public on this occasion.

Mr. Singletary's Fate.

Our good friend, Mr. C. M. Galloway, has been at the pains to copy for us a report of the death of Mr. J. E. Singletary, late of this city, and the son of Mr. F. C. Singletary, of which mention was made by us at the time. The report is from the Los Angeles, Cal., Tribune, and bears date of October 27th. The report was handed in to us yesterday afternoon, too late for publication in that issue, and hence we give it to-day:

Four miners who got into camp on October 23d from the Cocapa placers, on the desert, found the body of J. E. Singletary, the young lawyer from Los Angeles. Deserion by his companions some months ago caused his death from thirst, and the body was discovered only a mile and a half from water.

It was completely mummified by the desert heat, in fact perfectly preserved. The coyotes had mutilated the legs a little, but otherwise the remains were in perfect preservation. He had evidently died in a frenzy of agony, as his clothes were scattered all around him. The miners buried the body where they found it.

J. E. Singletary was one of the most promising young lawyers of Los Angeles, and was connected with the law firm of Anderson, Fitzgerald & Anderson.

In the latter part of August Mr. Singletary went to Lower California on a prospecting tour. From Escondido he proceeded to the Real del Castillo Mines. Here he met two other experienced miners, and the three started out together on a prospecting tour. After proceeding some distance, it was suggested that the party separate. All agreed to the proposition. Accordingly Singletary's two friends set off, they being mounted on horses, while the latter pursued his way on foot. The understanding was that all were to meet at a given point within six hours and Singletary was told where he could find a spring on the way, at which to slake his thirst. The men on horseback were going to cover a great deal more ground, as they were pursuing a roundabout way.

This was the last ever seen of Singletary until on the 23d instant a miner found his withered, mummified body lying bleaching upon the desert. When the men on horseback arrived at the point where they were to meet Singletary he was not there. Instead of instituting a thorough search for him as they should have done, they left him to his fate, and the consequence was he died a most horrible death and in terrible agony.

A Happy Woman.

Happy is the woman without bodily ills, but happier is the woman who having them knows of the saving properties of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. When relieved, as she surely will be upon a trial of it, she can contrast her condition with her former one of suffering and appreciate health as none can who have not for a time been deprived of it. The "Favorite Prescription" corrects unnatural discharges and cures all "weakness" and irregularities.

Children Enjoy

The pleasant flavor, gentle action and soothing effects of Syrup of Figs, when in need of a laxative, and if the father or mother be costive or bilious the most gratifying results follow its use, so that it is the best family remedy known and every family should have a bottle.

How It Feels

It is right "amooosing" to sit here in Wilmington by an open window, with a lovely breeze from the Southwest and a pitcher of ice-water—and something else—near at hand and read of a big blizzard and snow covered plains in the Northwest. But this is a big country, and covers almost every climate. You pays your money and you takes your choice.

Pretty Plain Language.

There has been laid before us a copy of a series of resolutions adopted by the Baptist Educational and Missionary Convention of North Carolina (colored), in session at Garysburg the latter part of last month, which we cannot give entire because of their length. But the resolutions give forth no uncertain sound. They speak plainly as to the proposed exodus of colored people from this State to new and uncertain fields of labor and "to build up the waste places of the States and to further the interest and futures of other people at a dear expense to ourselves." The resolutions plainly say: "It is the sense of the Convention that emigration in mass is impossible; and that the present method of emigration—that is, by agents and sub-agents, who are doubtless prompted to agitate this movement solely for the fee that is in it—is impracticable, untimely, and injurious to our people."
