A WORD TO LEADING COLORED MEN

New York Herald: A remarkable phenomenon demands the attention of the leaders of colored public opinion in the South and North. They cannot prudently shut their eyes or the eyes of their constituency-the colored people of the Union-to the sympathy and applause given by all New England and a great part of the North to the recent speech of Mr. Grady, of Georgia, at a Boston banquet.

We do not ask colored men to agree with Mr. Grady's opinions or sentiments. They may dispute Mr. Grady's statements if they please; they may deny the truth and justice of his conclusions; they may say what they please about his sentiment. All that is beside the question. What they are bound to notice and to call to the attention of colored men of influence everywhere in the South, is that all New England has applauded Mr. Grady; that in the ancient stronghold of abolition, in the region where the negro has been accustomed to count upon finding his most zealous friends and defenders--there, at last, he has ap even their most zealous friends in the North. Mr. Grady suggested that the colored men of the South had not been given the vote. We do not agree with him there, for we believe the vote was needed to turn him from a freedman into a freeman. But the significant fact is that no appreciable public opinion in New England or elsewhere in the North has taken serious exception to Mr. Grady's opinion.

It is the duty of the intelligent and conscientious leaders of the colored South to tell their people all over the South plainly that they have no help to expect from Northern sympathy that federal election laws, even if they could pass, would not benefit them, and would be repealed in two years under the stress of Northern indignation and opposition; and that they ought no longer to allow themselves to be banded together in their States in a "solid" mass, not forming a political party but only a political mob. It is their duty to teach their people that they must vote as they think and not as Republican demagogues urge them

The solid South consists of two parts, the solid white voters and the solid black voters. But what do the blacks gain-what have they gained by this solidity? Nothing, except here and there a post office er some other petty federal place flung to them by their Republican friends as a bone is flung to a dog.
