Dr. Hanman had a case yesterday, but fortunately it is not a dangerous disease in this climate. — At a dance in Charlotte township Tuesday night Andy Summerville was severely cut across the bowels. Yesterday Andy Ross, colored, was lodged in; jail, charged with doing the cutting. It was reported here that Summerville was very badly cut.

was informed Saturday morning that many of the farmers in Leggett's section have already begun work on next year's crop. The exodus fever has abated and the hands have gone to work. Many of the several friends were standing on the street when John W. Cotton, Jr., came dashing by in a buggy looking for Dr. J. H. Baker. Many inquired what had bappened. He said that row morning in St. Andrew's a horse had run over little Theo. Church. At night there will be Cheshire. The reporter made further inquiries and learned that Mrs. S. S. Nash, with several little shildren had been out driving and the little boy was sitting in the foot of passed over his neck and he was badly hurt.

Statesville Landmark: At the saw mill of Messrs. Thomas & Bros., of Alexander county, on the 13th, both bones of the left leg of Mr. Henry B Thomas were broken by a log rolling on it from the top of a pile at which he was working. The accrage seeded in wheat this year is fully as large as it was last and probably a little larger. The ground generally was well prepared and the young wheat looks Lealthy and is promising. It has been a great time for out-door work and a great deal of plowing has been done for next year crops: spring oats, cotton, corn, &c. -- Mr. W. B. McLelland, of Concord township, made this year on three acres of land 1,425 lbs. of lint cotton, equal to three bales of 475 lbs. each. The same land last year made four bales, so that Mr. McLelland got He topped about half of his crop in come at the services. July and the other half was not topped at all.

Charlotte News: A very startling Concord last night, while the 'busses' and hacks were waiting for the fellow entered Brown's 'bus and deposited a valise on the seat. There were several parties in the 'bus, including a little girl. The fellow in Christmas green. Seats free. All utes his valise exploded with terrifle force. The glass windows in the 'bus were shattered, and the lit tle girl was cut by flying glass, but no other damage was done. The man who put the valise in the 'bus has not since been seen. - Late of the officers of the several Masonic yesterday afternoon a colored boy named thus Abernathy, a son of Lewis Abernathy, was probably fatally stabbed by another colored generally had availed themselves of boy named Henry Ledbetter, a the invitation extended and a large brother of the negro who some and brilliant audience was present. months ago killed a companion in Charlotte. The two boys got into a quarrel near the Carolina Central freight depot. Ledbetter started to move away, when Abernathy grabbed his coat and tore his sleeve.
