SATURDAY, JAN. 11. 1890.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

Entered at the Postoffice at Wilmington, N.C.

Speaker Reed's course in the House the other day, in refusing to allow the call of the yeas and nays, was very arbitary and very revoluwith the rules and characteristics of the Republican party. As the New York Star says, in the absence of properly adopted rules of the House the Speaker has attempted to set up his own arbitrary will as the law of procedure. By declining to sick yet. - Munsey's Weekly. allow a recital of the yeas and nays, he refused to the minority an opportunity to verify the vote on the appeal from the decision of the chair. For all practical purposes he constituted himself and the machinery of the Clerk's desk under his direction the whole House of Representatives, and denied to the members an opportunity to verify was the reply.—Texas Siftings. the record of their own proceedings By an alleged vote thus determined he in effect put into operation a new and revolutionary rule even before any action of the Committee on Rules had been reported to the House. In fact, the Committee on Rules has not yet concluded what code to recommend, and it is a Re publican brag at Washington that Congress can go on well enough under "Speaker Reed's rules" until the Democrats can be coerced into assenting to the tyrannical proposition that the presiding officer may declare a quorum when less than a quorum answer the roll call.

A new member, but one of experience in the State Legislature, Congressman "Fred" Lansing of Watertown, is reported by Republican papers as exclaiming: "Well, that the first time I ever saw a sent to the Committee the Whole when other fellows were against it." This fall overcoat you bought in Philacharacteristic remark of the chipper Representative from Northern New York illustrates the astonishingly novel character of the action by Mr. Reed. The reference was made ostensibly "under the rules of the last House," which, of course, are not in force, and to which, as precedents, the Speaker refused to pay the slightest attention when the minority cited them.

Compactly organized, skillfully led, incessantly vigilant, submissive to discipline on every occasion, the Democratic minority may succeed in defeating Speaker Reed's revolutionary programme. They are sure to succeed in making such usurpation odious to the country if they operate with unity and discretion. But they must not be content with any but the very best leadership. They must place the conduct of their affairs in the ablest hands, clothed with the strongest authority. They must fight inch by inch to prevent the transaction of any business under conditions that would destroy representative government and nullify all influence in Congress of those who, although in a minority in the House by a few votes, owing to the corruption of elections, yet stand for the majority of the voters of the country.

Vigilance and discipline were never more essential to the Democrats of the House than they are to-day. 'It is for them to realize the situation; to meet it and master it by devoted efforts worthy of the crisis.

Hard Times Coming.

General Discontent in command! No trust, but Distrust! Nothing moving but stagnation! Look out for the worst!

These warnings, applicable alike o business and the condition of our own bodies. When there is "nothing moving but stagnation" in the different functions of the body, and they fail to do the work designed for them, when colds, catarrh, or bronchitis, hang on with a deathlike grip, then it is that "hard times" are coming unless you act wise and get Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and restore your health, the grandest capital a man can have. This is a sure cure for throat and lung diseases, and especially consumption, if taken in time.
