The Daily Review.

Thou, who dost dwell alone—
Thou, who dost know thine own—
Thou, to whom all are known—
From the cradle to the grave—
Save, oh! save.
From the world's temptations,
From tribulations,
From that fierce anguish
Wherein we languish,
From that torpor deep
Wherein we lie asleep,
Heavy as death, cold as the grave—
Save, oh! save.

When the soul, growing clearer,
Sees God no nearer;
When the soul, mounting higher,
To God comes no higher;
But the arch-angel Pride
Mounts at her side,
Folding her high surprise,
Sealing her eagle eyes,
And when she fain would soar
Makes idols to adore.
Changing the pure emotion
Of her high devotion
To a skin-deep sense
Of her own eloquence;
Strong to deceive, strong to enslave—
Save, oh! save.

Oh! let the false dream fly,
Where our sick souls do lie
Tossing continually!
Oh where thy voice doth come
Let all doubts be dumb,
Let all words be mild,
All stripes be reconciled,
All pains beguiled!
Light being no blindness,
Love no unkindness,
Knowledge no ruin,
Fear no undoing!
From the cradle to the grave.
Save, oh! save.

—Matthew Arnold.

Not Deaf Enough for the Occasion.

A short while ago, while Judge Marshall J. Clarke was swearing in petit jurors, one man stepped up and, with his hand to his ear, said: "Your Honor, I am very deaf and cannot serve a juror."
"You say you can't hear well," asked the judge.
"Eh?"
"You say you are deaf," asked the judge in a loud voice.
"Eh?"
"You can go," said the judge, in a low tone of voice.
"Thank you, sir, replied the fellow, as he started toward the door.
"Stop!" cried the judge: "I guess you had better serve."

ARE YOU SKEPTICAL?

If so we will convince you that Acker's English Remedy for the lungs is superior to all other preparations, and is a positive cure for all Throat and Lung troubles, Croup, Whooping Cough and Colds. We guarantee the preparation and will give you a sample bottle free. Sold by Munds Bros., druggists.

One Hundred Years Ago.

One hundred years ago, there were no disputes about the impoliteness of street car drivers.
One hundred years ago, farmers did not cut their legs off with mowing machines.
One hundred years ago, "crooked" whiskey was not known. Our forefathers took this straight.
One hundred years ago, our fathers did not light their pipes with matches but carried fire in their pockets, in the shape of a piece of punk, a piece of steel and a flint.
One hundred years ago, the producer carried his surplus produce to market on his horse, the products being placed at one end of the bag and the jug at the other end.
One hundred years ago, the physician who could not draw every form of disease from the system by tapping a vein in the arm was not much of a doctor.
One hundred years ago, a young lady did not lose caste by getting her hands wet in dish water, or rubbing the skin off her knuckles on a washboard.

CAUTION TO MOTHERS.

Every mother is cautioned against giving her child laudanum or paregoric; it creates an unnatural craving for stimulants which kills the mind or the child. Acker's Baby Soother is specially prepared to benefit children and cure their pains. It is harmless and contains no opium or morphine. Sold by Munds Bros., druggists.

A Nice Boy.

About the middle of the car was a lady and a boy about five years of age, evidently mother and son. The train had scarcely moved out of the depot before the boy began running up and down the aisle making remarks to passengers. The mother called to him several times, and finally said:
"James, I shall certainly tell your father."
"How can you when he's run away and nobody knows where he is?" replied the boy.
This settled the mother for a time, but when the boy sought to raise a window she leaned forward and said:
"James, I shall surely punish you!"
"If you do I'll tell that a policeman arrested grandpa," he retorted. She let him alone for another interval, but as he began to worry a bird in a cage, which one of the passengers was transporting, she sternly said:
"James, come here!"
"Not now."
"Right off! You are a bad boy, and I shan't let you come with me again."
"Yes you will."
"No, I won't."
"Then I'll tell that the reason papa ran away is because Mr. Davis came to our house so much."
This prostrated the mother, and she began to read, and the boy nuzzled until he finally fell asleep on a vacant seat. He had one more shot in reserve, however. As he lay down he called out:
"Say, mamma, wake me up when we get to grandpa's. I want to hear her swear and take on because papa turned her out of doors last summer."—N. Y. Sun.
