JOSH. T. JAMES, Editor & Prop'r. WILMINGTON, N. C.

FRIDAY, JAN. 24, 1890.

Entered at the Postoffice at Wilmington, N.C. as second-class matter.

College professors, civil engineers and magazine writers are directing public attention to the subject of country highways, and the Vanderbilt University in Tennessee has gone so far as to provide for the free instruction in road engineering of one person from each county in that State. The Baltimore Sun, which is agitating the question in Maryralgia, Swellings, Bruises, Lumbago, land, points out that the power required to draw a wagon weighing with its load one ton on a level maca damized road of broken stone is sixty five pounds, which is increased to 200 pounds on a common dirt road. Professor Ely, of Johns Hopkins University, estimates that poor roads cost the farmer on an average of $15 per horse; and Professor Jenks, of Knox College, Illinois, argues that with good, permanent road freight could often be hauled ten miles on wagons cheaper than it could be taken one mile on a dirt road to a railroad station, unloaded, put on the cars, and earried to its destination. Of the social influences of good roads he says that "a large part of the mental inspiration of the farmers depends on their ability to attend church, lectures, concerts and social gatherings at a distance, and really good roads, by enabling them to go so much more easily, would doubtless raise the whole intellectual tone of the farming community, besides keeping within the healthful influence of the farm many who are now forced into the Leopold, of Belgium, made a speech in 1848 from his palace windows, giving notice that he took the throne to accommodate the Belgians, and was ready to leave whenever they were dissatisfied, but he gave no hint that he would expect compensation in money, either in a lump sum or a pension. Amadeo also abandoned the Spanish throne in disgust, but made noterms. In every other case that we can recall, monarchs who have quitted their thrones under duress have gone off without any settlements, if not after a fight. The arrangement with the Emperor of Brazil will, therefore, probably constitute a most useful precedent, which many monarchs will think of with secret satisfaction. King Humhert, of Italy, makes no secret of his readiness to retire from his Government whenever the country gives unmistakable proof of a desire to try something else. After what has happened in Brazil, he would undoubtedly expect a retiring allowance of some kind. The Sultan, too, who lives in hourly dread of being driven out of Coustantinople, will probably now hold out, when the crisis comes, for a few millions in the way of salve. Nothing could more completely extinguish the old mediaval idea of 'divine right.' A right which can be appraised and extinguished by dollars and cents cannot be divine."
