The celebration last week af Cardinal Newman's 90th birthday suggests the fact that the great writers of Europe live to an extreme age. Among the elders of this nineteenth century have been Goethe, Wordsworth, Carlyle, Hugo. Ranke. Ruskin and Tennyson.

We learn from the Robesonian that Hon. Alfred Rowland, Representative in Congress from this district, who has always the interest of introduced a bill in Congress to establish a graduated income tax. It is a good measure and it ought to pass, but it will not pass, inasmuch as those who are to vote upon the measure are those who will be affected by its becoming a law. For this reason we are afraid that it will never find its way anywhere farther than a pigeou hole in some committee room. It is the poor men who pay the taxes in this country and it is the rich men sho make the laws, ly bare of beef to-day but Mr. John and that is just about the way the F.
