Daily Review. The JOSH. T. JAMES, Editor & Prop'r. WILMINGTON, N. C. SATURDAY, APRIL 26, 1890.

Entered at the Postoffice at Wilmington, N.C., as second-class matter.

A professor in the University of Klausenberg claims to have compounded a solution which completely neutralizes the poison introduced into the system by the bite of a mad dog. This solution consists of chlorine water, salt brine, sulphurous acid, permanganate of potassium and eucalyptus oil.

Of thirteen charitable bequests, aggregating $1,100,000, which were made by the late William H. Vanderbilt, all but two Surrogate Ransom, of New York, decides are subject to the collateral inheritance tax. One of these, St. Luke's Hospital, is exempted by a special, and the other, the Seamen's Mission, is held to be released from the tax by a special Act exempting the property of every company incoporated to improve the moral condition of seamen. Most of the institutions to which money were left was held liable for the reason that for some things, or for some patients, a charge is made which takes them out of the class of purely charitable companies. The Metropolitan Museum of Art and the Museum of Natural History were among the beneficiaries which the surrogate held liable to the tax, one of the reasons for their liability being the income derived from membership dues and admission fees.

his services in that line. Mr. Gibson was informed in February last by Count Von Arco Valley that the Einperor had conferred upon him the Order of the Grand Cross of the Prussian Royal Crown.

.... A very remarkable decision has recently been rendered by the Second Comptroller of the .Treasury, which is entirely new to the laws of all nations. The bounty due a sol dier was paid recently to an alleged widow, who represented the soldier to be dead. Afterward the soldier appeared and claimed the money. It is shown that he was not only not married to the woman but that he never knew her, her claim being pure fraud. The soldier's claim was reported for allowance by the Second Auditor, it being held that payment made upon the fraudulent claim is not a valid discharge of the government's obligations to the soldier. The action of the Auditor was overruled by Second Comptrolter Gilkeson, who holds that the payment to the alleged widow was in accordance with law and the evidence then in the case, and he' furken in its views on all open questions. It ther ruled that "hereafter in every case where a claim has been allowed and paid upon proof or evidence satisfactory to the accounting officers, the claim so paid shall be finally settled, and any and all claims for money, which have once been paid, shall be disallowed," conse-
