A Buddhist Gathering. The Buddhist congress attracts attention to this remarkable religion. The congress is to have the importance of the great ecumenical council convoked by Pius IX twenty years ago. Buddhist delegates are to come from all parts of the world, and intense is the interest manifested in Paris. Five hundred million people on this globe are Buddhists, and although Buddhism in Europe is confined to great minds, in France alone there are about 30,000 Buddhists. It is not generally known that Richard Wagner was a fervent Buddhist. But the European thinkers do not practice the doctrines of Buddhism. That is why the young Viennese student, Udo Halsmeyer, has caused such consternation in the church. He is ascetic, fasts, or eats only fruits and vegetables, envelops himself in a bempen bag, and already treats with indifference physical suffering. Continuing in this manner he would soon be the incarnation of Buddha, and the authorities talk of expulsion from the university for fear of his influence on the other students.

The practice of Buddhism cultivates a ixfh sense that in non-believers is always latent. By this sense one can foretell good or bad fortune, and the meditation that calls out this sense is always physical, psychological and physiological. Physically the body must obey the mind, psychologically all human organic forces must' be concentrated on the development of this sixth sense, intuition, and physiologically respiration must be regulated to control the expenditure of vital force. As soon as this sixth sense is acquired the Buddhists are capable of knowing nature's secrets and of producing phenomena that seem supernatural, but are-in reality the manifestation of forces very natural, but not yet understood .- Paris Cor. New York World.

American Newspaper Methods in Sweden. We have an ultra cheap newspaper here, the success of which is truly of the American sort." I say its success is American because the paper has grown up so quickly. The paper is called The Stockholm Nyheter (News). It is thoroughly radical politically, and advocates incessantly the abrogation of the monarchy and the state church.

The Treasure Ship. We are always building castles

Of the richest, grandest kind, Where we sway imagined vassels In the court room of the mind: And down the Arcadian pathways Of the mind are won't to roam, Where we'd stay in fact-not fancy, If our treasure ship came home.

And we find it very pleasant In an atmosphere of dreams-Quite forgetful of the present-To indulge Utopian themes; We would climb to high ambition, We would stand upon its dome, We would claim earth's recognition, If our treasure ship came home.

So, with hand and foot inactive, Dreamy-eyed and lazy-limbed. We can find life still attractive---While our lamps remain untrimmed.

And we calculate the pleasure in Conception's laden tome-We'll indu ge in beyond measure-When our treasure ship comes home.

)h, the dormant, selfish scheming Of the idler cannot last;

There will be a truce to dreaming When the present is the past; And there'll come a dull awaking When he finds that life has gone. And his treasure ship is breaking, O'er the sands he built her on. -C. G. Rogers.

Killed by a Bicycle. An inquest was held at Boughton, near Faversham, concerning the death of a man, name unknown, aged about 50 vears. One morning a cyclist, whose identity has not been discovered, in descending Beacon hill, knocked down the deceased and fractured his skull. The cyclist gave the man half a crown and proceeded, leaving no name or address. The deceased walked for three miles and then died by the roadside. It was stated that the cyclist descended the hill rapidly, ringing his bell, and that the deceased was in the center of the road, leaving room for the cyclist to pass. The jury and exonerated the rider of the bicycle from blame. The coroner intimated that in cases where bicyclists lost control of their machines, as they occasionally did when descending with their feet up, he should advise a verdict of manslaughter. -Pall Mall Gazette.
