Address THE CANADIAN QUEEN, Toronto, Cut. John Bull and His Gun.

Secretary Proctor has received a present of a new Enfield rifle from the English government as a sample of the style of arm now in use in the British service. It is handsomely incased in a polished wooden box, with silver plates and corners, and lined with blue velvet. It is of the latest magazine pattern, thirty caliber, and weighs about ten pounds. The action is exceedingly strong and positive, the breech mechanism being thoroughly automatic. The magazine is a sheet iron case half an inch thick and about four inches square, fitting to the under side of the lock.

A gate shuts it off at the will of the operator, so that the gun can be used either as magazine or a single firing arm. It is provided with a novelty in the way of a long range sight designed to cover distances from 1,800 to 3,500 yards, but the ordinary sight is not considered as fine as that in use on the American Springfield rifle. The cartridges are shaped somewhat after the design of the famous Lebel cartridge, the leaden ball being encased in a thin steel sheet for the purpose of preventing the distortion of the bullet.-Washington Star.

An Italian's Ingenuity.

An Italian on the river bank has solved the problem of giving his children an outing with the least possible exertion to himself. He places his three children in a baby carriage, to the handle of which a rope about twenty feet long is tied. The bank behind the house has a gentle decline, so that a brisk push from the father sends the carryall flying down the grade. When the water's edge is reached the vehicle's flight is checked by a cord. But the most remarkable part of the contrivance is the goat which draws the contrivance back up the inclined backyard. The animal is made to trot through a long hall from one end | ness I can do by many thousand of the house to the other. Thus the man can sit inside the rear outside door of the hallway, away from the sun's rays, steer the goat by a well directed kick, while at the same time the little ones are enjoying a delightful toboggan slide amid the refreshing breeze wafted across the stream.-Springfield Republican.

Bitten by a Moccasin.

John Courter, of Manatee, Fla., was bitten on the heel by a moccasin snake. He was walking past Howard & Kennedy's pond, and as he was stepping over some grass the snake struck him, and hung on so that he had to pull him loose. Courter felt pains shoot over him, and started for home, over a mile away. He became sick and was obliged to lie down, but he got up again and went home. When he got there his body was swollen, his throat nearly even with his chin, his eyes nearly shut, and he could hardly speak. Fortunately the boys had been instructed what to do. They gave him a dose of ammonia, saturated the wounds with it, and sent for Mr. Kennedy, Mr. Abel and other neighbors. They gave him all the whisky they could find with ammonia in it, and got up a reaction. Then they applied turpentine and ammonia until he was out of danger and able to get up.-Exchange.

Queer Place for a Tree.

"One of the most unique sights I have ever seen on my travels," said Arthur Thomas, of New York, "is the old court house in Greencastle, Ind. I was in the town the other day, and my attention was called to a full grown tree. Now, the curious thing about this tree was that it didn't grow on terra firma, but on the tower of the court house. The tree sprouted years ago from a crevice in the bricks of the tower, and it developed year after year, until now it is a foot or more in circumference at the trunk. It is one of the most curious tree growths I have seen anywhere. It will have to go soon, however, for the county is going to construct a new court house. It seems a pity that it cannot be preserved, for it is a fine specimen of erratic tree growth.-Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

A Dog That Devours Hard Cash. Have you ever gone across the inlet with a yachting party and seen Mr. J. D. Smith's shaggy haired dog? He is the most extraordinary shaggy haired dog that you will ever see.

He eats hard cash. "Billy, Billy; now then."

That is what you say, and you flip him a five cent piece, and he gulps it down like a morsel of meat. Of course everybody who goes over there in a sailing party flips him five cents for the fun of seeing him swallow it, and they swear to me that on Wednesday he ate $5.30, all nickels.—Atlantic City Letter.

An Instrument of Torture.

At a picnic of the Union choir at Deacon Curtis' farm, an old piano which stood in the parlor attracted much attention from its antiquity, having been manufactured in 1740-150 years ago. again)-I'll let my man wait, I guess It has six legs, with drawers in front, and until after the play. is the property of one of Mr. Curtis brothers, Mr. Frank Putnam. As it was played upon by several of the young ladies, peals of laughter greeted its dulcet (3) tones, and it was unanimously decided that even Mr. Charles Jenningsgood musician that he is-could hardly keep in tune with its variable harmony. —Marlboro (Mass.) Enterprise.

A single bale of cotton auctioned on the Board of Trade in Chicago Friday netted $2,034.75. The high price realized was due to the fact that the proceeds were to go to an orphan asylum. Each successful bidder, after capturing the bale, returned it to the auctioneer for another sale, the process being continued until the sum named had been reached.

An Impression. A cypress dark against the blue, That deepens up to such a hue As never painter dared and drew;

A marble shaft that stands alone Above a wreck of sculptured stone With gray-green aloes overgrown;

A hillside scored with hollow veins Through age-long wash of autumn rains. As purple as with vintage stains:

And rocks that while the hours run Show all the jewels, one by one, For pastime of the summer sun;

A crescent sail upon the sea, So calm and fair and ripple free,

You wonder storms can ever be; A shore with deep indented bays, And o'er the gleaming waterways A glimpse of islands in the haze;

A face bronzed dark to red and gold, B With mountain eyes that seem to hold The freshness of the world of old. A shepherd's crook, a coat of fleece,

A grazing flock: the sense of peace

And long, sweet silence - this is

In buying Hood's Sarsaparilla, for it is everywhere recognized as the standard building-up medicine and blood purifier. It has won its way to the front by its own intrinsic merit, and has the largest sale of any preparation of its kind. Any honest druggist will confirm this statement. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be in duced to buy anything else instead. Be sure to get Hood's.

Advice to Mothers.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the cnild from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remely for diarrhoa, whether arising from teething or other causes.
