The Norfolk Virginian says that it s announced that active operations on the Charleston, Wilmington and Norfolk Railroad will shortly commence. This is the new line Northern capitalists propose to construct between Norfolk and Charleston, S. C. The route has been surveyed the entire distance and rights-ofway have been obtained through much of the fine country to be traversed; most of the money for the new enterprise will be put up by Boston capital. After work has commenced it is thought the road can be completed and in operation in a year's time. The increase in cotton receipts alone with the building of such a line would at once make the road prominent among the trunk lines now coming into Wil mington.
