Assassimation by Lightning Clash.

ful storm was raging at Alpine, Tex, Samuel Taylor was seated at a table playing cards with three others. Suddenly there was a lightning flash, a lond report, and Taylor, gasping and bleeding, fell from his chair. The night operator uttered a cry of pain, and he, too, fell. It was found that Taylor was dead, he having received fifteen buckshot under the left arm. The operator was also bad- . Heart of doubt and brown of glo ly wounded. Five shots had entered the small of fiis back. A Mexican had also one of the bullets in his shoulder. The assassin fired from a window, and both barrels of his gan are supposed to have They are lovers, he and she!

Two years ago Taylor killed Passenger | But the dance is over now, Conductor Server at Vaientine, on the Southern Pacific. The killing created the wildest excitement among the railroad men, as Server was very popular among trainmen throughout the state. At the time of the killing Taylor's right eye was shot out. A Huge Fountain of Oil.

A forty quart shot was thrown into the Gibsen well at Wildwood recently with dire results. This well, owned by the Bridgewater Gas company, has recently changed into a gasser and was shot to open up the oil product. The object was attained, but the casing was broken by the concussion; and for twenty-four hours it was impossible to shut in the large volume of oil, shooting with such terrific force as to throw it out over ing 140 pounds. For fuller part the top of the fifty foot derrick. The ontput since the agitation is estimated at thirty-five barrels an hour, fifteen of this wonderful Discovery free which is a total loss. On approaching the well the oil descends in a shower, and every tree, bush and shrub within a radius of 100 yards is covered with a coating of oil. The greater part of the fluid, however, is thrown into the field, whence it runs in a small rivulet to the Painted Shirt Fronts.

The latest reliable fashion news from Paris notifies us that hand painted dress shirts are to be the exceptionally elegant thing for the coming season. These deliriously original devices of fashion are to be decorated in designs appropriate to the wearer's tastes or practices.

Thus the yachtsman in full dress will display upon his manly bosom a water color drawing of a regatta or the portrait of his favorite craft; the devotee of dogs will have his front elevation embellished with canine designs instead of diamond studs: the horseman will wear horse races or stable scenes on his starched linen, and in a similar style each individual hobby, fad or characteristic indulgence of the man of fashion may, at his pleasure, mirror itself to the world as a legitimate part of his outfit .- Philadelphia Record.

No Smallpox in Ireland.

Not a single death from smallpox was registered in Ireland last year. From this scourge, at all events, "the distressful country" appears to be gradually freeing itself. Over the-last ten years the average annual number of deaths was 130, but this average is due to the more serious state of things prevailing in the early stages of the decade. Since 1888 there has only been one year in which the number of deaths from smallpox was as high as fourteen. That was in 1887. In 1885 there were but four deaths from smallpox registered in Ireland; in 1886, two; in 1884 there was only one; in 1888 there were three, and, as above stated, in 1889 there was not one.-London News.

Danger from Electric Fans.

An accident has just occurred in Georgia which shows the necessity of the guard which is now generally fixed over the ventilating fans worked by electric motors. The manager of the engineering department of an electric light works had been superintending the putting in of a new exhaust fan, and was watching its first trial. As he was feeling the shaft to see if the journals were hot the suction drew his hand in, and in an instant it was out off between the wrist and the elbow. The fan was revolving at the rate of 1,000 revolutions a minute, and it is said that the arm was cut off as clean as if it had been done by a knife.-Detroit News.
