JOSH. T. JAMES, Editor & Prop'r
WILMINGTON, N. C.
SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 8, 1890.

Entered at the Postoffice at Wilmington, N. C., as second-class matter.

The French are again discussing the provisioning of Paris in case of war, and the Germans, in response, are considering the best means of preventing such provisioning. In the last war Paris had some 1,800,000 persons within her walls. Now this number would be about 3,000,000. In the siege 852,361 hundred weight of flour were used, although after December 15, 1870, the flour contents of the bread was only 25 per cent of the whole. The 25,000 oxen, 186,000 sheep and 9,000 swine in store lasted thirty-eight days, after which the food consisted mostly of 55,000 horses and great quantities of eggs, potatoes, preserves and fruits. The coal famine was one of the most painful features of the siege. The necessity of bringing together even the insufficient provisions quickly and at all hazards, cost the French Government and the city at least $30,000,000 more than would have been under ordinary circumstances.

Could all the wants and experienced inconveniences been obviated in case of another war? As matters stand at present French military authorities say they could not. For the carrying and distribution of bread and coal alone 54,300 cars would be necessary. At the time of a mobilization it would be impossible to find men enough to load and unload the cars, to say nothing of the original difficulty of getting the materials. Food from Russia must come through the Mediterranean, and could be cut off by the Italian and Austrian navies. America and England are the only remaining sources of supply. Were England so disposed she could stop both instantly. Were she neutral, the German ships could pass without difficulty through the channel and intercept importations. Only in the hardly supposititious case that England was an ally of France would the provisioning of the capital be possible, even if the sources flowed never so freely. These calculations of the Germans presuppose a considerable efficiency of the German navy, which they are striving to attain with all possible speed.

It must be extremely gratifying to ex-President Cleveland to read such of the good things that are saying about him in Democratic papers this fall as come under his notice. As a sample of the sort of matter referred to take this from a recent number of the Kansas City Star. Says the editor: "As a rule, ex-Presidents of the United States have been regarded as retired dignitaries. John Quincy Adams returned to the House of Representatives, but this was in line with an active political life which made him restless in his old age. Gen. Grant became the world's guest in token of his great military career. Rutherford B. Hayes lives in a quiet little Ohio town on the money he saved out of his salary as President, and occasionally speaks at a county fair or a soldiers' reunion. But Grover Cleveland, in the prime of life and with all the vigor and ability which enabled him to mount the ladder of political fame so rapidly, returned to the practice of his profession without ostentation and pursued the active life of a typical American. The example he has set is by no means the least of the benefits he has conferred upon his country."

The strength of the London police force, roughly speaking, is about 15,000 men, from which may be deducted 2,000 men who are employed around the dockyards and military stations beyond metropolitan police limits, or at special protection posts at public offices or buildings. The strength of the police force of New York in 1888 was about 3,400 of all ranks, supplemented by "special police," together with the power to call to their assistance, in time of special emergency, hundreds of detectives from Pinkerton's agency.

Wishes to say to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. Robert R. Bellamy, wholesale and retail druggists.

Advice to Mothers.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. July 6th and 7th.

Scrofula

is the most violent and most general of all diseases. Scarcely a family is entirely free from it, while thousands everywhere are its suffering slaves. Hood's Sarsaparilla has had remarkable success in curing every form of scrofula. The most severe and painful running sores, swellings in the neck or face, humor in the eyes, causing partial or total blindness, yield to the powerful effects of this medicine. It thoroughly removes every impurity from the blood.

Scrofula

"My little daughter's life was saved, as we believe, by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Before she was six months old she had 7 running scrofula sores. One physician advised the amputation of one of her fingers, to which she refused assent. When we began giving her Hood's Sarsaparilla, a marked improvement was noticed and by a continued use of it her recovery was complete. And she is now, being seven years old, strong and healthy."

Hood's Sarsaparilla

A new Shakespeare—the Shakespeare of EDWIN A. ABBEY—will be presented in HARPER'S MAGAZINE for 1890, with comments by ANDREW LANG. HARPER'S MAGAZINE has also made special arrangements with ALPHONSE DAUDET, the greatest of living French novelists, for the exclusive publication, in serial form, of a humorous story, to be entitled "The Colonists of Tarascon; the Last Adventures of the Famous Tartarin." The story will be translated by HENRY JAMES, and illustrated by ROSS and MYRAH.

W. D. HOWELLS will contribute a novelette in three parts, and LAPCADIO HEARN a novelette in two parts, entitled "Youna," handsomely illustrated.

In illustrated papers, touching subjects of current interest, and in its short stories, poems, and timely articles, the MAGAZINE will maintain its well-known standard.

"Hello! Tom. Glad to see you, old fellow. It's almost ten years since we were married down; let's have an experience meeting. How the wife?"

"Oh! she's so-so, same as usual—always being in some kind of a tiff."

"Well, we all want something more than that, don't you?"

"Yes; but I guess 't will be my money, standing for comfort and expenses; and now I'm 'mean' and she's just as saving and no down street, and she looked as happy as a pig in mud, and she's always 'merry' as a lark. I don't know how she manages it, she always laughs and says 'Oh! that's my secret!' But I think I've covered her 'secret.' When we married, we made one condition; she would have her Magazine and she was right! I wouldn't do without it myself for double the subscription price. We read the stories together, and she's always been of important events and scientific matters. I've made a list of the names of the subscribers, and she gets all her patterns for nothing, with the Magazine to keep her covered. Joe when he was in the Sanitarium Department. But can't tell you half."

"What wonderful Magazine is it?"

"I think she is; and we are economical, but she has to be. My wife that I married, and I told her it was an extravagance, she said, 'Well, my friend, that's where you made your mistake, and one you'd better rectify as soon as you can.' She's your 'right' lady, as you say on your account; she's bound to have a tea-set in time for our wedding, and she's got gold watch was the premium I got for getting up clubs—the biggest thing out of the Premium List is what you want, you've only to get the publisher and tell him what you want, whether it is a sack-hammer or a new carriage, and he'll make special terms for you, what you want, part cash. Better subscribe right off to the Mrs. Tom. Only $4.00 a year—will save fifty cents that in six months. Or send in direct to the publisher, W. Jennings Demorest, 15 East 14th Street, New York, for a specimen copy containing the Premium List."
