The annual meeting of the Ladies' Benevolent Society was held in the lecture room of the First Presbyterian Church yesterday morning.

Rev. Mr. Beaman, of Fifth Street M. E. Church, addressed the ladies, and it is to be regretted that so few were present to hear such an admirable discourse. Those who were there appreciated it fully and were again impressed with a sense of their duty to the poor. The annual report was then read by the President as follows:

"In submitting this report to the consideration of our friends, we would desire first to thank all who have aided us from time to time by contributions of money, provisions and wood. To Mrs. R. R. Bridgers our thanks are especially due for a regular monthly contribution of rice, coffee and sugar to the amount of $2. We mention this especially as anything given our society so regularly and systematically is of the greatest advantage. The interest in our society has diminished somewhat since the organizing of the circles of King's Daughters in our midst, but we feel confident this would not be the case if we understood each other's work, and we take this opportunity to invite representatives from the different circles to meet with us at our regular monthly meetings, that we may not conflict with each other in our work. There has been $34 received during the past year from the regular members.

"We have had donations amounting to $117, making $151 that we have disbursed for the benefit of the most needy among us. Provisions, shoes, and blankets have been supplied to those who would have suffered. We have distributed 450 loads of wood, given by the county. Repairs to the "Catharine Kennedy Home" amounting to $4, have been made. One ton of coal, $6.50, was furnished. The matron, Mrs. West, has been paid $28, making our expenses $36.50 for the old ladies' comfort.

"Our desire is to enlarge and improve the "Catharine Kennedy Home." We have on hand for this object $960, and our intention was to begin the work this fall, but on the advice of Col. Roger Moore and Mr. B. F. Hall we have decided to keep this amount at interest and make efforts to add to it, until we can improve the Home in such a manner that the whole community will be gratified and the inmates in every respect made more comfortable.

"Let us not be discouraged in our efforts. There is work before us, and with all that each new organization can do, there is always a part for a general city society to take in these matters, and remembering the example of our dear President, now entered into her rest, let us look to Him who has given us the golden rule to guide us in our duty to others and continue to the end our labors of love.

"We appeal to our community for aid to carry on our work. The winter weather reminds us of the needs of the suffering. Whatever may be committed to us for distribution we shall endeavor to use for the benefit of the most needy in our city."

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President—Mrs. A. A. Willard. Vice President—Mrs. A. Enpie. Secretary and Treasurer—Mrs. N. G. Daniel.

The meeting then adjourned.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the Albemarle & Raleigh R. R., held in this city on Wednesday, the following officers were elected: President—H. Walters. Vice President—B. E. Newcomer. Secretary and Treasurer—Jas. F. Post, Jr.

The box sheet for the Little Lord Fauntleroy entertainment at the Opera House to-morrow night is now open at Mr. Yates' and those who want good seats and may not have already provided themselves should not lose any time in deliberation. There will be a matinee to-morrow afternoon and a regular evening performance to-morrow night. The troupe played in Winston on Tuesday night and the Daily says of their appearance in that city:

Last night at Brown's Opera House was presented for the first time in our city that very pretty drama, Little Lord Fauntleroy. There was a very large audience that greeted the play. In fact, the largest we remember of seeing in the Opera House here upon a similar occasion.

The play was well rendered and seemed to give general satisfaction. In fact, all whom we heard express themselves about it were perfectly charmed. It hardly seemed possible that a child under twelve years of age could take the leading part in a play, and maintain the interest from beginning to end that does Little Lord Fauntleroy. Such a sweet, even temper, a nobility of character that it is hardly to be wondered at.

The contrast is sharp between the unfeeling old Earl of Dorincourt and this gentle buoyant child, an heir to nobility, such as wealth, power and prestige give, and yet he had beyond and above this a nobility of character that outweighed all that these external trappings confer. It was a very pretty play and much enjoyed.

The Great Discovery. A great deal of interest is being manifested here, as elsewhere, in Prof. Koch's discoveries. The medical world hails with delight any new methods of eliminating disease, therein affording a most satisfactory contrast to the reception with which the announcement of Jenner's discovery of the vaccine virus was received. Dr. Koch's researches, however, are not exactly on a similar line with those of Jenner. The latter found a preventive but the former has discovered a cure. In a casual conversation yesterday with Dr. Thos. F. Wood, of this city, he expressed to us his belief, from all that he has seen stated in regard to the matter, that Dr. Koch has discovered a genuine remedy for that dread disease, consumption, in its first stages. The testimony, so far, seems indisputable. There is nothing at all improbable about the assertions that have been made. They are sustained by good authority. Dr. Koch, Dr. Wood tells us, is a comparatively young man, of a not over-sanguine temperament, and one who is not disposed to give publication to anything that he had not thoroughly tested. A young German physician from Asheville, who was one of Dr. Koch's pupils, will leave immediately for Berlin and it is hoped that he will bring back a supply of the lymph with him.
