Excessive prudence was illustrated recently by a careful gentleman, who buying a pair of roller skates for his daughter also gave her a bottle of Salvation Oil for future emergencies.

Forecast.

For North Carolina, warmer and fair weather and fair on Thursday. Local forecasts, from 8 a. m. to-day for Wilmington and vicinity, fair weather and slight changes in temperature.

Confirmed.

The favorable impression produced on the first appearance of the agreeable liquid fruit remedy Syrup of Figs a few years ago has been more than confirmed by the pleasant experience of all who have used it, and the success of the proprietors and manufacturers, the California Fig Syrup Company.

Only a Slight Blaze.

There was an alarm of fire this a. m. from the corner of Ninth and Red Cross streets. The damages were very slight. An alarm was sent in from box 43 corner Red Cross and Sixth, but the alarm would not work. Only four taps could be given. Neither did the indicators in the engine houses record the number. The engines and trucks were out but did not get to the scene as they turned back at the announcement that the fire was all out.

Bishop Haid's Lecture.

At St. Thomas' Church last night Rt. Rev. Leo Haid delivered the first of the series of lectures to be delivered by him this week on the advent season. There was a large congregation present. The music was very fine and Bishop Haid's discourse was a powerful and masterly effort. The second of the series will be delivered to-night and it should be understood that the seats are free to all. Ushers will be in attendance to seat those who may desire to hear this learned prelate discourse of the lessons and duties and precepts which should be suggested at this beginning of the new church year.

The Most Wonderful Thing.

Have you ever heard a phonograph? If not then you have missed the most wonderful invention of the age. It is Edison's chief d'œuvre and will never be surpassed until some one succeeds in chaining the wind and riding safely in a balloon across the Atlantic ocean. Mr. C. I. Comfort, the electrician, is the agent here for the musical phonograph. They can be found at various places and there is a daily change of music. For a nickel you get a concert ready-made, just as you would order a suit of clothes, a hat or a handkerchief. Every sound comes up distinct and as clear as a bell and the huzzas and encores can be heard as distinctly as in life.

The Play Last Night.

There was a good audience at the Opera House last night to see the New York Theatre Co. in that charming little play, the Pearl of Savoy. The piece is an old-time favorite here and we must say that it was handsomely put on the stage. Each and every member of the troupe seemed far more at home in it than in the love-sick nonsense of the previous night's entertainment. They made some capital hits and scored a decided success.

"Man and Master"

is the play for to-night. We know nothing of it but it is said to be a good thing. It is the third night of the season, which is about half gone. Give them a good house to-night.

There's the Dinner Bell!

What a clattering and a clattering as the children answer the dinner bell and rush into the dining room. Oh! the gratification a good appetite affords as our noon day's meal is set before us. But this vacant chair, what does it mean? "Oh, that is Uncle Charley's seat. Guess he don't feel like eating, he's got dyspepsia, you know." "Dyspepsia! horrors! Deliver us from dyspepsia! What's the use of being plagued with such an ailment anyway? What's the use having a stomach so irritated and sore that even one bite of food gives it distress? Why not heal the soreness and allay the irritation and strengthen its muscular processes, by using Botanic Blood Balm. Will it cure? It certainly will. Many, many a former dyspeptic owes his enjoyment of life to B. B. Give it a trial.

S. J. Chandler, Richmond, Va., writes: "No one can afford to be without B. B. who wishes an appetite. I could scarcely eat a single biscuit for breakfast, but since taking B. B. I clean the whole table, so to speak."

LEAURELLE OIL.

Prevents tendency to wrinkles or ageing of the skin. Prevents withering of the skin or drying up of the flesh. Nature's wonder for preserving youth and freshness. $1.00, large bottles, at druggists.

Probably Fatally Burned.

William Walker, colored, who has been sick for a long time with consumption, was accidentally burned very severely late yesterday afternoon. About 5 o'clock he was found lying on the floor of his house, corner Eighth and Nixon streets, dreadfully burned and with his clothes on fire. It is thought that he dozed and fell into the fire. Dr. Wright was called in and has done all he can to relieve him but his injuries are probably fatal. At 1 o'clock to-day he was alive, however.

THE CAPITOL.

(Correspondence of the Review.)

That was a grand reply made by old Tom Benton in the U. S. Senate while the expunging resolution was under consideration, for which, indeed, he stood sponsor.

It will be recollected that Mr. Clay took occasion to remind the Senator from Missouri that the relations between Gen. Jackson and himself had not always been friendly, that he had "heard of controversies between them ending even in personal encounters" etc.

Mr. Benton, on rising to reply said, "It is true that Gen. Jackson and myself have not always been friends. It is true that we have quarrelled and fought. But, Mr. President, it was as brave men we differed, as brave men we fought, and as brave men we made friends."

I could not help thinking of this a day or two ago, as I saw the body of Gen. Cadmus Wilcox borne tenderly into St. Matthew's Church, on its way to that home whence no traveller returns, by Generals Parke, Casey and McPherson and Maj. Davis of the U. S. Army, men with whom he had, in common with his fellow countrymen, differed and fought. But, I thought, it was as brave men they had differed and fought, and, as brave men they had made friends.

Yes, the brave men of both armies have long ago made friends and are friends, whatever politicians may say to the contrary. Of course, I do not refer to the political swashbucklers who find great political profit in proclaiming to their people that the "rebellion" is still rampant. They will not abate one jot or tittle of their hate, so long as one vote, or one penny is to be made by holding it to it. But I do mean the hundreds of thousands of good and true men who fought the battles of the war, such as Gen. Philip S. Post, for instance, who represented the 10th Illinois district in the last Congress, is in the present and has been elected to the next. To him more than any other one man was due the defeat of Hood at Nashville. His conspicuous gallantry won him promotion on the field, from which he was borne desperately wounded. His conduct in public and in private life shows him to be as magnanimous in peace as he was courageous in war. And there are others like him. How many they were!

But, to return to the obsequies of Gen. Wilcox. The other pall-bearers were Generals Heath, Field, Robertson and Col. Harvey. "Late of the Confederate service," Senators Vance, Gibson and Butler, and Representatives Wheeler, Forney and Herbert. The remains were interred at Oak Hill Cemetery.

A few days ago I was passing along the street in Alexandria, Va., Washington street, I think it was, and in the church yard of Christ Church, known to every one as the church where Washington worshipped, I saw a grassy mound surmounted by an urn, in which fall flowers were still blooming. On the side next to the street was a marble slab and on it was carved:

"How sleep the brave who sink to rest,
With all their country's honors blest."
"Beneath this mound lie the remains of 34 Confederate soldiers who were disinterred from the Alexandria Soldiers' Cemetery (Federal) and re-interred in this ground on the 27th day of December, 1879, under the auspices of the Southern Memorial Association of Alexandria, Va."

They were from North Carolina, South Carolina, Florida, Tennessee, Virginia and a lieutenant and a private unknown. Those from North Carolina were W. T. White, Sergt. 3d N. C.; Gabriel Cox, 1st N. C.; Wesley W. Skipper, 30th N. C.; Anderson Brown, 3d N. C.; Samuel Chesny, 44th N. C. "These were prisoners of war who died in the Federal hospitals in this city. Resurgemus!"

The first snow storm of the season set in last night and the merry jingle of the sleigh bells is now heard on the streets. Alas! I am afraid that I am growing old, for I do not find the same music in them that I did in the days of "auld lang syne."

JACOBUS.
Washington, Dec. 8, '90.
If you suffer from catarrh why don't you take Hood's Sarsaparilla, the common sense remedy? It has cured many people.

SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR

SYMPTOMS OF LIVER DISEASE:

Loss of appetite; bad breath; bad taste in the mouth; tongue coated; pain under the shoulder-blade; in the back or side—often mistaken for rheumatism; sour stomach with flatulency and water-brash; indigestion; bowels lax and costive by turns; headache, with dull, heavy sensation; restlessness, with sensation of having left something undone which ought to have been done; fullness after eating; bad temper; blues; tired feeling; yellow appearance of skin and eyes; dizziness, etc.

Not all, but always some of these indicate want of action of the Liver. For
A Safe, Reliable Remedy that can do no harm and has never been known to fail to do good.

Take Simmons' Liver Regulator

—AN EFFECTUAL SPECIFIC FOR—
Malaria, Bowel Complaint, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Constipation, Biliousness, Kidney Affections, Jaundice, Mental Depression, Colic.

A PHYSICIAN'S OPINION.

"I have been practicing medicine for twenty years and have never been able to put up a vegetable compound that would, like Simmons' Liver Regulator, promptly and effectually move the Liver to action, and at the same time aid (instead of weakening) the digestive and assimilative powers of the system."
