FROM THE SATURDAY COURIER. SYMPATHY. Of all the tender ties divine, That link our bosoms and refine; Far dearest to the gentle soul, O SYMPATHY, thy sweet control, Deep in the lone and wintry dell, Pale mortals talk of thee, Where care, and cold, and hunger dwell, With pain and penury; And there thy tears forever flow, Responsive to the voice of wo.

FROM THE SATURDAY COURIER. SYMPATHY. The children appeared in the breakfast room. Mary was ready with her smile, and the boy was anxious for the notice of his father. In a short time Mr. F. returned. "We must sink, my love! he will not assist me. He upbraided me: I did not, I could not answer him a word. He spoke kindly of you and our little ones, but he cast us off forever!"
