Feb. 2nd, 1860. FEVER AND AGUE, from which mankind suffer over a large part of the globe, is the consequence of a diseased action in the system, induced by the poisonous miasm of vegetable decay. This exhalation is evolved by the action of solar heat on wet soil, and rises with the watery vapor from it While the sun is below the horizon this vapor lingers near the earth's surface, and the virus is taken with it through the lungs into the blood. There it acts as an irritating poison on the internal viscera and excreting organs of the body. The liver becomes torpid and fails to secrete not only this virus, but also the bile from the blood. Both the virus and the bile accumulate in the circulation, and produce violent constitutional disorder. The spleen, the kidneys, and the stomach sympathize with the liver, and become disordered also. Finally, the instinct Offers his services to Planters as Factor or Agent for the of our organism, as if in an attempt to expel the noxious infusion, concentrates the whole blood of the body in the internal excretories to force them to cast it out. The blood leaves Then the FEVER follows, in which the blood leaves the central organs and rushes to the surface, as if in another effort to expel the irritating poison through that other great excretory-the skin. In this also it fails, and the system abandons the attempt exhausted, and waits for the recovery of strength to repeat the hopeless effort another day. These are the fits or paroxysms of FEVER AND AGUE. Such constitutional disorder will of course undermine the health if it

We have labored to find, and have found, an antidote, AYER'S AGUE CURE, which neutralizes this malarious poison in the blood, and stimulates the liver to expel it from the body. As it should, so it does cure this afflicting disorder with perfect certainty. And it does more, or rather does what is of more service to those subject to this infection. If taken in season it expels it from the system as it is absorbed, and thus keeps those who use it free from its attacks; keeps the system in health although exposed to the disease. Consequently it not only cures, but protects from the great variety of affections which are induced by this malignant influence, such as Remittent Fever, Chill Fever, Dumb, or Masked Ague, Periodical Headache, or Billious Headache, Billious Fevers, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Blindness, Toothace, Earache, Catarrh Asthma Palpitations, Painful Affections of the Spleen, Hysterics. Col-Paralysis, and Painful Affections of the Stomach and Bowels, all of which, when arising from this cause, will be found to assume more or less the intermittent type. This "AGUE Cure" removes the cause of these derangements, and cures

This it accomplishes by stimulating the excretories to expel the virus from the system; and these organs by degrees become habited to do this their office of their own accord .-Hence arises what we term acclimatation. Time may accomplish the same end, but often life is not long enough, or is at once, and with safety. We have great reasons to believe | quisite fixtures. this is a surer as well as safer remedy for the whole class of liseases which are caused by the miasmatic infection, than any other which has been discovered; and it has still another important advantage to the public, which is, that it is cheap as well as good. THE FIRST SESSION OF THIS SCHOOL will commence on the 2nd Monday in December next, and continue 20 weeks. Magnolia is a village of recent growth, and is proverbial for health. It is situated on the Wilmington & Weldon Rail Road, about midway between Wilmington and Goldsboro', and contains a number of handsome and tastefully arranged residences, a large and well constructed Church, (M. E.,) and three good stores. As evidence of the liberality, enterprise, and intelligence of the citizens, they have erected a College building at a cost of six or seven thousand dollars. This building is located at a sufficient distance from the railroad and depot, to be out of reach of the noise and excitement produced by the passing of the trains. The Male and Female departments will be conducted separately, in different apartments, conveniently fitted both departments will be such as are best calculated to develope the minds of the pupils; and the instruction in all cases, will be thorough. > The most economical and nourishing food for a family in the winter, is white beans or white peas, the latter of which can be kept free from bugs by shelling or threshing them when ripe, and then immersing them in scald-It will make hard water soft, clean Paint, remove Grease, ing hot water for about one minute, which, while it de stroys the egg that produces the insect, does not injure the vitality of the pea. So says the Patent Office Report for 1849. Peas thus treated can be spread upon a sheet and dried by the heat of the sun, and one bushel of them will, I know by experience, go as far in a family as a barrel of flour.

> > food, as potatoes, turnips, or other roots, will give more milk than if fed on hay or corn, or anything else of a It would be to the advantage of farmers to confine their attention exclusively to the farms, and let all speculating business alone; for, if farming is worth following at all, it is certainly much better to attend to it well than to have the mind divided between it and some other object. It is best, moreover, for farmers to raise crops of every variety that their land will produce which are saleable in their vicinity; for by following this plan,

How to Grow Peaches Every Year. The following, by a correspondent of the Ohio Cultivator, is worth a trial by all lovers of the delicious fruit: Procure your trees grafted upon the wild-plum stock. The tree partakes of the nature of the plum, being hardy. and will never winter-kill; and putting out late in Spring, will never be injured by the frost; and it is a certain preventive against the working of the peach grub, while the natural life-time of the tree is beyond that of our own; so you may depend upon peaches every year, and for a long period of time, without the destructive and discouraging influences attending the growth of the common peach. They can be obtained at from fifty to seventy five cents per tree, and you had better pay five times the amount, than not obtain them, and be ceritain of peaches every year. Try it, and our word for it, you will be satisfied with the result .- Ex. Paper.

A GRAND VIRGINIA DISCOVERY. SOME FOUR MONTHS SINCE, our excellent townsman, NAPHTALE EZEKIEL, informed us that he had prepared a hair restorer with which he was experimenting upon his own head, whose top was entirely bald. We saw him two days since, and on the place so bald four months since, a fine crop of hair has sprung up with a vigorous growth. So convinced is Mr. EZEKIEL of the efficacy of his discover that he has named it " THE INFALLIBLE VIRGINIA HAIR RESTORER." Mr. E. is about going into an extensive manufacture of an article which is destined to prove of anxious interest to our bald pated friends .- From Richmond Enquirer. December 12th, 1859.
