

OUR WESTERN PAPERS by Friday's mail bring us very little additional information relative to the raid made on Morganton, in Burke county, on Monday last.

The Raleigh "Conservative" of the 30th ult. says: Gen. Vance received a telegram from Salisbury on Tuesday night, after our paper had gone to press, to the effect that the raid on Morganton had been successful.

There were about 200 boys at Camp Vance; low many of them were captured, if any, is not known. Our receipt of the news at Salisbury of the presence of the raiders at Morganton and Camp Vance, forced westward from Salisbury to meet the enemy.

Of course the enemy did not tarry long, and our forces were unable to come up with them, as the telegraph has already announced their departure through Watuga county.

We learn from the "Conservative" that the deposits in the Branch of the Bank of North Carolina at Morganton had been previously removed, and it is not probable the raiders made men out of the Bank, even if they did rob it.

It is a fact Tennessee, too, has been a terror to a few of the best of the Western North Carolina and East Tennessee for about two years. It was the fact that the "Black and White" and the "Warrior" were killed in an unsuccessful attempt to disorganize the "Black and White" for a long time, but from practical considerations has never been attempted to reach that point.

Death of Col. Hetherington. We regret to learn from the "State Journal" of the 30th inst., that Col. J. H. HETHERINGTON, commanding the 66th N. C. Troops, since the death of Col. Moore, died a few days ago in the hospital at Danville.

There were various rumors and reports on the streets yesterday, relative to military affairs on the Petersburg and Weldon Railroad. The telegraph may bring us something definite before we go to press.

By an arrival at New York on the 17th ult., St. Domingo City dates to the 31st of May have been received: The revolution was still progressing with savage hate.

The great Boston steamship expedition had at last effected a landing at Matanzas Bay, after some resistance, and a loss of about one hundred men killed and wounded. The Spaniards did not take any prisoners, nor is it known that any of the Dominicans were killed.

By letter arrivals from Nassau we have received the London Index of the 19th and 26th of May, and of the 2d of June. We make some extracts from the paper of the latter date.

We have to chronicle a second abortive attempt on the part of the Foreign Office to communicate with the Confederate Government. It will be remembered that the Fleet, having sailed on the 10th inst., the Commodore Crawford, Rear Admiral's General in Havana, was charged, as previously intimated, with the port of communication with the Confederate Government.

The news in this vicinity is sparse and uninteresting. The two hundred-pound Parrot gun captured at Plymouth has been moved to Richmond, and the rebels are building another ram in the Roanoke River.

Major General Edwin M. Stanton, Commissioner of North Carolina, and Major Edwin S. Jenney, Third New York Artillery, is announced in general orders as Provost Judge of this District.

The mortality among the negroes is still great—principally children. The diseases most prevalent are measles and pneumonia. A fine camp, in a healthy locality, is almost completed and partially occupied by the recruits.

For the Journal. Messrs. Fulton & Price—Gents: Many, we may not be wrong in saying a majority of the "Dependable" Battalion prefer that their chief officer be a citizen of this town—at least that he be well and favorably known among us.

The Yankee raid in Onslow county last Monday week, appears to have been quite a formidable undertaking. A gentleman from the neighborhood of Snead's Ferry informs us that two steamers and two transpore came up to New River inlet and sent up the river seven barges loaded with men, one of which landed at the point the others ascending the river as high up as Snead's Ferry.

What says the Battalion? M. "The 'Loc' of the Atlanta Register has been to the front." Hear him: Our object being to visit the mountain, we did not tarry long in the city, which one can scarcely recognize as the little town of this town—at least that he be well and favorably known among us.

It has been suggested, that if it is the wish of the Battalion, that their commander, the privilege will not be denied them.

Major McRae, the general Tax Collector in North Carolina, has kindly furnished us with the following statement of Tibbs collected in said State up to the 1st of June, 1864, of the crop of 1863:

Table with 2 columns: Crop and Amount. Sweet Potatoes, 34,410 bushels; Irish, 2,130; Corn, 613,409; Wheat, 163,409; Oats, 88,402; Rice, 2,919; Beans, 6,341 pounds; Buckwheat, 774 pounds; Hops, 39,151; Cotton, 14,608; Tobacco, 2,200; Hay, 2,200; Peas, 7,993; Potatoes, 3,320; Bacon, 2,504; Salt Pork, 84,143.

It is three miles to the top of Kenesaw, which looms up so plainly as you leave the city that you would hardly imagine it had the distance. Mounted upon a white horse, with "O. S." plainly visible on the left shoulder, we suppose stands for "caudal" or something else, we succeeded, after wading, plunging and slipping through the mud for a couple of miles, in reaching the mountain.

Thought it wouldn't do to stand still, and kept on up the mountain top. Hadn't gone far before another one of those things with "O. S." on its tail went crashing through the trees overhead, and we went down again.

Major Thos. D. Hoop, of the subsistence department, Raleigh, gives notice that he is prepared to sell, at cost, to any of the counties of this State, for the use of indigent families of Soldiers, a portion of the Bacon accumulated for that purpose.

Northern Papers.—We are indebted to late arrivals from Nassau for Northern papers dating from the 13th to the 18th of June. They contain but little news beyond what has already appeared in our telegraph columns.

The following is the Herald's situation article on the 18th. Our readers can judge how near it comes to telling the truth relative to the occupation of Petersburg by Grant's forces:

From the 10th District no returns have been made. No returns from the 9th except from 3 Counties. In the 8th Stokes and Rockingham make no returns. Portions of the 31 make no returns. Eight Counties of the 1st and two in 2d districts have made no returns.

In the two latter districts, where returns have not been made, the Counties are, or have been, in the hands of the enemy. Tobacco is not collected by the 11th Agent, though it appears that 2,469 pounds have been turned over to the Government.

Bacon for Soldiers Families. Major Thos. D. Hoop, of the subsistence department, Raleigh, gives notice that he is prepared to sell, at cost, to any of the counties of this State, for the use of indigent families of Soldiers, a portion of the Bacon accumulated for that purpose.

Northern Papers.—We are indebted to late arrivals from Nassau for Northern papers dating from the 13th to the 18th of June. They contain but little news beyond what has already appeared in our telegraph columns.

The following is the Herald's situation article on the 18th. Our readers can judge how near it comes to telling the truth relative to the occupation of Petersburg by Grant's forces:

The details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed, and the details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed.

The details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed, and the details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed.

The details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed, and the details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed.

The details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed, and the details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed.

The details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed, and the details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed.

The details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed, and the details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed.

The details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed, and the details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed.

The details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed, and the details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed.

The details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed, and the details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed.

The details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed, and the details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed.

The details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed, and the details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed.

The details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed, and the details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed.

The details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed, and the details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed.

The details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed, and the details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed.

The details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed, and the details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed.

The details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed, and the details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed.

The details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed, and the details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed.

The details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed, and the details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed.

The details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed, and the details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed.

The details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed, and the details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed.

The details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed, and the details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed.

The details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed, and the details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed.

The details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed, and the details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed.

The details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed, and the details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed.

The details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed, and the details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed.

The details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed, and the details of the late action, in which General Grant's army defeated Lee's army, in which the Confederates were routed.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

The cry of "Fort Pillow" used by the Yankees in the late fight with Forrest, remarks the Chattanooga Rebel, was doubtless intended to announce that no quarter was to be given, and that the Confederates were to be put to the sword.

BEAD AND MEAT.—We have seen a letter from an officer who has recently travelled, on official business pertaining to the quartermaster's department, almost over the entire State of Alabama, and also a large portion of Mississippi. He reports that the crop of wheat now being harvested is excellent, not injured by rust, and that the yield will be very great.

BEAD AND MEAT.—We have seen a letter from an officer who has recently travelled, on official business pertaining to the quartermaster's department, almost over the entire State of Alabama, and also a large portion of Mississippi. He reports that the crop of wheat now being harvested is excellent, not injured by rust, and that the yield will be very great.

BEAD AND MEAT.—We have seen a letter from an officer who has recently travelled, on official business pertaining to the quartermaster's department, almost over the entire State of Alabama, and also a large portion of Mississippi. He reports that the crop of wheat now being harvested is excellent, not injured by rust, and that the yield will be very great.

BEAD AND MEAT.—We have seen a letter from an officer who has recently travelled, on official business pertaining to the quartermaster's department, almost over the entire State of Alabama, and also a large portion of Mississippi. He reports that the crop of wheat now being harvested is excellent, not injured by rust, and that the yield will be very great.

BEAD AND MEAT.—We have seen a letter from an officer who has recently travelled, on official business pertaining to the quartermaster's department, almost over the entire State of Alabama, and also a large portion of Mississippi. He reports that the crop of wheat now being harvested is excellent, not injured by rust, and that the yield will be very great.

BEAD AND MEAT.—We have seen a letter from an officer who has recently travelled, on official business pertaining to the quartermaster's department, almost over the entire State of Alabama, and also a large portion of Mississippi. He reports that the crop of wheat now being harvested is excellent, not injured by rust, and that the yield will be very great.

BEAD AND MEAT.—We have seen a letter from an officer who has recently travelled, on official business pertaining to the quartermaster's department, almost over the entire State of Alabama, and also a large portion of Mississippi. He reports that the crop of wheat now being harvested is excellent, not injured by rust, and that the yield will be very great.

BEAD AND MEAT.—We have seen a letter from an officer who has recently travelled, on official business pertaining to the quartermaster's department, almost over the entire State of Alabama, and also a large portion of Mississippi. He reports that the crop of wheat now being harvested is excellent, not injured by rust, and that the yield will be very great.

BEAD AND MEAT.—We have seen a letter from an officer who has recently travelled, on official business pertaining to the quartermaster's department, almost over the entire State of Alabama, and also a large portion of Mississippi. He reports that the crop of wheat now being harvested is excellent, not injured by rust, and that the yield will be very great.

BEAD AND MEAT.—We have seen a letter from an officer who has recently travelled, on official business pertaining to the quartermaster's department, almost over the entire State of Alabama, and also a large portion of Mississippi. He reports that the crop of wheat now being harvested is excellent, not injured by rust, and that the yield will be very great.

BEAD AND MEAT.—We have seen a letter from an officer who has recently travelled, on official business pertaining to the quartermaster's department, almost over the entire State of Alabama, and also a large portion of Mississippi. He reports that the crop of wheat now being harvested is excellent, not injured by rust, and that the yield will be very great.

BEAD AND MEAT.—We have seen a letter from an officer who has recently travelled, on official business pertaining to the quartermaster's department, almost over the entire State of Alabama, and also a large portion of Mississippi. He reports that the crop of wheat now being harvested is excellent, not injured by rust, and that the yield will be very great.

BEAD AND MEAT.—We have seen a letter from an officer who has recently travelled, on official business pertaining to the quartermaster's department, almost over the entire State of Alabama, and also a large portion of Mississippi. He reports that the crop of wheat now being harvested is excellent, not injured by rust, and that the yield will be very great.

BEAD AND MEAT.—We have seen a letter from an officer who has recently travelled, on official business pertaining to the quartermaster's department, almost over the entire State of Alabama, and also a large portion of Mississippi. He reports that the crop of wheat now being harvested is excellent, not injured by rust, and that the yield will be very great.

BEAD AND MEAT.—We have seen a letter from an officer who has recently travelled, on official business pertaining to the quartermaster's department, almost over the entire State of Alabama, and also a large portion of Mississippi. He reports that the crop of wheat now being harvested is excellent, not injured by rust, and that the yield will be very great.

BEAD AND MEAT.—We have seen a letter from an officer who has recently travelled, on official business pertaining to the quartermaster's department, almost over the entire State of Alabama, and also a large portion of Mississippi. He reports that the crop of wheat now being harvested is excellent, not injured by rust, and that the yield will be very great.

BEAD AND MEAT.—We have seen a letter from an officer who has recently travelled, on official business pertaining to the quartermaster's department, almost over the entire State of Alabama, and also a large portion of Mississippi. He reports that the crop of wheat now being harvested is excellent, not injured by rust, and that the yield will be very great.

BEAD AND MEAT.—We have seen a letter from an officer who has recently travelled, on official business pertaining to the quartermaster's department, almost over the entire State of Alabama, and also a large portion of Mississippi. He reports that the crop of wheat now being harvested is excellent, not injured by rust, and that the yield will be very great.

BEAD AND MEAT.—We have seen a letter from an officer who has recently travelled, on official business pertaining to the quartermaster's department, almost over the entire State of Alabama, and also a large portion of Mississippi. He reports that the crop of wheat now being harvested is excellent, not injured by rust, and that the yield will be very great.

BEAD AND MEAT.—We have seen a letter from an officer who has recently travelled, on official business pertaining to the quartermaster's department, almost over the entire State of Alabama, and also a large portion of Mississippi. He reports that the crop of wheat now being harvested is excellent, not injured by rust, and that the yield will be very great.

BEAD AND MEAT.—We have seen a letter from an officer who has recently travelled, on official business pertaining to the quartermaster's department, almost over the entire State of Alabama, and also a large portion of Mississippi. He reports that the crop of wheat now being harvested is excellent, not injured by rust, and that the