Agent at Goldsboro.—Mr. B. V. L. HUTTON is our authorized agent at Goldsboro.

TO ADVERTISERS.

We respectfully call the attention of the business public to the fact that our advertising rates are lower than those of any other daily newspaper in North Carolina.

This, added to our very large circulation, makes the STAR a most valuable medium of advertising.

SUBSCRIPTION MONEY.—A large number of our subscribers having expressed a preference to pay for the STAR for periods varying from five weeks to six months, we have concluded to abandon our plan of weekly payments to the carriers, and employ an agent to make collections.

As our plans are now arranged, the carriers are not authorized to receive any money for the STAR; and, to meet with prompt attention, all orders should be sent directly to the office, No. 3 South Water street.

THE STAR BOOK BINDERY.—This complete establishment is now in successful operation, and is daily turning out the handsomest specimens of work. Mr. T. H. Tillinghast, its manager, is unsurpassed as a skillful workman, and will guarantee satisfaction to all its patrons.

Drawbacks.—We are prepared to receive orders for the new Drawback Forms to go into effect Oct. 1st.

NORTH CAROLINA NEWS.

The Superior Court of Wake is in session. The petit juries are made up without distinction of color.

The first frost of the season fell in Raleigh on Monday night—the earliest within the memory of the "oldest inhabitant."

Registration in sixty-four counties of this State is reported to foot up as follows: Whites 60,280; blacks 52,208. The returns yet to be received will, it is thought, double the above majority in favor of the whites.

Gen. Clingman, while riding in a hack in New York a few days since, was struck in the eye by the driver's whip, and it is expected that the accident will result in the total loss of the wounded member.

A freedman by the name of Saunders Richardson was brutally murdered in Johnston county on Monday night.

The new town of Selma, between Goldsboro and Raleigh is growing rapidly, and bids fair to become soon a town of importance.

The ninth annual fair of the Central Agricultural Society of Granville, Warren and Franklin, will be held at Henderson on the 16th, 17th and 18th inst.

A Republican Convention will be held at Goldsboro on Thursday, October 10th, for the purpose of nominating delegates to the Constitutional Convention—so-called.

A sermon in memory of the late Rev. Dr. Hawks was preached by the Rev. Wm. F. Morgan, rector of St. Thomas Church, in the Chapel of our Holy Saviour, in New York, on Sunday morning, the occasion being the anniversary of Dr. Hawks' funeral.

A rousing Conservative Convention was held in Goldsboro on Tuesday, every precinct in the County being fully represented. Dr. Adam C. Davis presided, with E. A. Wright and J. B. Kennedy as Secretaries.

General James H. Lane has associated himself with a Richmond gentleman, and the two have opened a male school in that place.

The Wilson Carolinian learns from a private letter that Jacob Inge and D. W. Williams, whites, and David Hawkins, negro, are candidates for the Constitutional Convention, from the county of Nash.

Since the election the municipal imbroglio in Nashville appears to have become even more complicated than ever. Application for an injunction to restrain the new officers from being inducted into office has been made by the authorities now in possession, and it is believed that the old officers will find themselves bayoneted out if they do not vacate soon of their own accord.

The President stated to a friend yesterday that he would resist any effort of Congress to remove him during his trial on articles of impeachment.

A negro has been appointed on the Capitol police force at Washington.

THE CITY.

Single copies of THE EVENING STAR may be had of Mr. T. M. Harris, at his news stand, on Front Street, every afternoon.

SPECIAL MAGISTRATE'S COURT, JUDGE J. J. CONOLEY PRESIDING.—Mr. Kenan was arraigned for assault and battery on Mr. Horan. Mr. Horan gave to the Court a rebash of the same evidence he deposed before the Mayor on Tuesday. Kenan was put under bond of $200, and Horan ordered, under forfeit of $50, to make his recognizance as witness before the County Court of New Hanover on first Monday in October.

Henry Baker, colored, the so-called witch and conjurer, was charged with threatening to kill S. Hays, colored. Maj. Stedman appeared for Baker. The evidence went to show that Henry shook his fist in Simon's face, and said, "I have a mind to smash you." Maj. S. cited case of Supreme Court before Judge Pearson and argued that the offer was explained by a declaration showing it was not the intention of Henry to strike. The court discharged the defendant upon payment of his jail fee.

There were two cases of ejectment to be tried, J. J. Cassidy vs. J. McDermott, and Alex. Adrian vs. R. Litzen. We did not remain to learn the decision of the court.

WELL RECEIVED.—The announcement in our paper of yesterday that Gen. Canby had expressed his intention of modifying the order of Gen. Sickles closing bar-rooms that had no beds in them, was greeted with manifestations of delight, both by those whose business has been interrupted since the promulgation of the Sickles order, and by those whose pecuniary embarrassments have been such as to utterly prevent them buying a gallon of "spirits" at one dash.

Old men became suddenly young in the exuberance of their joy, while young men became old in the ability they displayed of "taking on" a grown man's portion of the spiritual, on the strength of the joyful news.

Should Gen. Canby's modification of the order be as liberal as some anticipate, it is predicted that the price of drinks will decline to 10 cents—and then everybody can make up all deficiencies of the past.

We ask the attention of our readers to the advertisement of the Roanoke Tobacco Company, at Danville, Va., to be found in our columns to-day. This company manufactures the finest smoking tobacco in the country.

In all the cities of the South; as far North as Boston; in California, and even across the waters, it is considered the Queen of Southern brands. Col. Kane, a veteran of the lost cause, is President of this company, and is fitted by nature as the very man for the position—an old smoker and connoisseur of the weed, a gentleman of the highest culture, and of a taste as nice and delicate as a woman's, he stakes his reputation as a manufacturer, on the choice quality of the Virginia leaf.

It is worthy of remark that this Factory employs wounded Confederates; and many daughters of our gallant dead derive their support from within its walls. We commend this manufactory most heartily to our Southern friends, observing that no devotee of the meerschaum, after once trying its choice brands, considers his larder complete without a good supply in his house.

Have nerve man, or the busy world will trample you under its hoof. On with its votaries after the worshipped dollar. Be not a woman in this stern and rough drama. Strut the stage a full-grown man; dare with the boldest; run with the swiftest, and lift your head with the highest. If a straw lies in your way, step over it; if a tall rock juts before you, climb over it; if a mountain towers in your front, cut through it. Stand still, if you like, and sigh like a bellows over the "tightness of the times;" but you will die in want, without money enough to bury you, and the only requiem the world will sing is, "Rattle his bones, O'er the stones, He's naught but a pauper Whom nobody owns."

CORRECT ACCOUNTANT.—There is a book-keeper in this city whose last balance-sheet shows, for the past three months, the enormous sum of $1,673,000 as the gross amount of receipts, expenditures, &c., of the house by whom he is employed. This shows an immense business; but the point we wish to make is this: That the book-keeper referred to is but nineteen years of age, and that during the three months for which his balance-sheet is drawn, his books are absolutely correct—even to the smallest fraction of a cent. We would give the name of this young man; but we know his proverbial modesty shrinks from any public mention of his name.

A HANDSOME STOCK.—We peeped into the stores of Mr. John Dawson, a day or two since, and were glad to see that his stock of Dry Goods and Hardware was large and complete. Mr. Dawson is one of the oldest and most successful merchants of Wilmington, having commenced business here when our now growing city was, comparatively, but a village. In both departments of his business he has the most attentive and obliging clerks, who are always ready to wait on their friends.

ST. MAUR.—This Magician and Ventriloquist leaves to-morrow evening for Fayetteville. His merits entitle him to a good audience wherever he goes. He visits Newbern after he leaves Fayetteville. Look out for him, friends!

CORRESPONDENTS.—We solicit correspondence from those of our friends who have news of any kind or character to give us. Write about the crops, or anything you feel an interest in.

ST. JOHN'S SCHOOL.—The first session of this institution will commence on Monday, Oct. 7th, and will embrace a period of nine months.

We cordially recommend this school to our people. No institution of learning has ever been established here that promised more satisfactory results. The course of instruction will embrace the rudiments of a solid English education, the elements of the Latin and Greek tongues, and of the Mathematics. Vocal music will form an important part of the general training of the School, and the Bible and Book of Common Prayer will also enter into the course of instruction.

We predict for this institution a most extended sphere of usefulness, and bespeak for it a hearty support.

SHIPPING.—The large number of vessels that have recently thronged our wharves are, gradually, leaving us. And although we have not been so prompt to load them as heretofore, we observe that those which daily pass our office have, generally, full cargoes.

It is true, the rates of freight have not been so high as formerly; but, all things considered, we think the owners of vessels have as little to complain of here as at any Southern port. We must all expect to, sometimes, meet with disappointments in business, as well as in other relations of life.

MILLINERY.—The house on Front street, formerly occupied by D. A. Smith, as a Furniture furnishing stand, is now being refitted in a handsome manner, and will be opened on the morrow under the management of Mrs. E. A. Lumsden, Milliner, who has moved from over the Drug store of Mr. E. Willis. We are informed that Mrs. L. will give a "Grand Opening" on Monday next. All good husbands and parents had as well commence untying the strings of their pocket books.

EDUCATIONAL.—The English and Classical School of Mrs. Laura Rothwell, Professor Sternberg and the Misses Rothwell is advertised in this issue. Mrs. Rothwell and her accomplished daughters are not strangers to our people; but as Professor Sternberg has recently located in our city, we take occasion to recommend him as a most capable and efficient teacher. Independent of our own previous acquaintance with him, he brings recommendations, from the first scholars of North Carolina, of such a character as to place his merits as a teacher and gentleman beyond all doubt.

ADVERTISEMENTS.—We refer the reader to our advertising columns again to-day. It is a great mistake in a newspaper reader to overlook the advertisements. They are frequently possessed of very great interest. They show what is going on, from day to day, amongst the business men of a city, and no man can keep posted who neglects the advertising columns of his paper.

In consequence of the sickness of our carrier on Division No. 3, embracing that part of the city between the centre of Market and the centre of Princess streets, we are compelled to substitute an inexperienced one who may not be able to deliver all the papers properly.—We hope our patrons will exercise patience until the regular carrier is sufficiently recovered to resume his duties.

DEER HUNTING.—Our cotemporary of the Roanoke News talks big about successful deer hunting in his section. We write this to inquire of our friends why they don't send us a quarter. When they do that, we'll begin to believe their deer stories. For a good ham, we'll send the News men some New River oysters. Do they take?

No arrests were made last night. Everything is distressingly quiet. It's as hard a matter to "skewer" up a local as it is to "call stones from the vasty deep." We like to see our people in a good humor with all mankind, but we do wish something would turn up that would be of interest to the public and of no real injury to any man.

We earnestly hope that our friends up the country will continue their efforts to sustain us in our new enterprise. We have stood by each other in darker days than these. Make up your clubs for the STAR, and never let a mail reach us without bringing some of your names for our list.

REMOVALS.—The recent removals of some of our subscribers has necessitated a change in the delivery of their papers. If there are any who have not yet arranged this matter, they will please notify us at once.

WILMINGTON INSTITUTE,

FOR GIRLS AND BOYS.

L. MEGINNEY, Principal. THE EIGHTEENTH ANNUAL SESSION of this School will commence on Thursday, October 2d, 1867, and close the last week in June, 1868.

Further particulars in the following publication. To the Citizens of Wilmington: It is the opinion of many that the price of Tuition is very high in Wilmington. It is certainly a fact that many of our people cannot afford to pay the prices charged for the education of their children. With deference to these views, but especially to meet the circumstances of many, who are forced to keep their children out of school, I have determined to reduce the price of Tuition.

In accordance with the above, I place the price of Tuition for 9 months at $40. One-half payable by the middle of November; the balance by the middle of April, 1868. Wanted: A teacher of French and Drawing. L. MEGINNEY, Principal. oct 2-9-3t
