ANTICIPATED NEGRO INSURRECTION! STARTLING INFORMATION. A DEVELISH PLOT DISCOVERED.

We clip the following article from the Lynchburg News. It shows conclusively that mischief is brewing: We are no sensationists, but we cannot shut our eyes to the alarming fact that the negroes mean mischief. On Saturday a negro of Conservative principles, named Bernard Brooks, a magistrate of Campbell county, that Jacob Jones and Jacob Johnson, two negro radicals, living in the county, near McAllister's Shop, were preparing to kill him, and asked for a warrant for their arrest.

Among the witnesses examined was Mrs. Dr. McAllister, who stated that negroes, to the number of fifty or more, had been holding frequent meetings on her husband's plantation, seven miles below the city on the Richmond road, and that she finally had her suspicions aroused to such a pitch that she determined to see what was going on.

The negroes under arrest are the lowest and most ignorant of their class, and are just such creatures as can be relied on to do the murderous work, which the teachings of the white scoundrels in our midst have prepared them for, and are urging them to. These diabolical men, with white skins but black hearts, will yet be caught, and then for them—a grape vine and the nearest tree.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12. From the members of Congress who have been here recently, and others now in the city, it appears that there is strong probability that the tax on cotton will be repealed shortly after Congress convenes.

From the same source it is learned that there is also powerful influence in favor of a general funding scheme covering the whole national debt, thus extending the time of payment of our liabilities, and in the meantime providing for the gradual liquidation by a judicious system of taxation.

The proposed political jubilee over the late State elections will be held here on Wednesday evening, 13th inst., and will include a grand complimentary serenade to the President. The serenade will be directly under the auspices of the Conservative Army and Navy Union, which has appointed Col. James A. Tait field officer for the occasion.

Major General Howard is accompanied on his tour of inspection through the South by Brigadier General Sewell. He will visit the State of Kansas in order to ascertain the prospect of that State for employment for idle freedmen.

One of the objects of his tour through the South is to learn, from personal inspection, the exact condition of affairs, and to observe the workings of the freedmen's bureau agents in the various Districts. It is thought that General Howard will be absent until January.

Professor Edward Warren, on Wednesday last, at Washington University, disarticulated the bones of the shoulder joint and removed the head of the principle bone of the arm, preserving the limb itself entire. The patient, a lady of East Baltimore, had suffered for many years from the effects of dislocation, which rendered her crippled and caused continual agony.

The operation, which was a difficult one, was, it is said, most skillfully and scientifically performed, and the patient is doing well.—Balt. Sun.

Prof. Warren, who is a native of North Carolina, is equalled by few in professional skill as far as the requirements of a refined and accomplished gentleman.

A Washington correspondent of the New York Tribune says: With a view to checkmate the democrats of the Ohio Legislature, who it is stated, propose to re-elect that State so as to secure in future a majority of the Ohio delegation in Congress, Mr. Ashley, of Ohio, is preparing a bill to be presented at the next session of Congress, enacting that no State shall be admitted except in the regular way, and at the term at present provided by statute, which is at the end of every ten years.

A movement has been developed in Tennessee for the reorganization of the Democratic party. Its prominent Governor Henry S. Foote, on Monday, called to many of the old members of the party to meet at Nashville.

Governor Brownlow, it is understood, will soon publish a letter denying the right of the United States government to take of the Tennessee railroads for anti-slavery purposes.

THE STORM LASTED ABOUT FIFTEEN HOURS, and appeared to grow out of a calm, and a wind which changed round to the east at about 11 o'clock in the morning, from which time, for four mortal hours, there was a scene which it would be vain to attempt to describe. Several districts in the town (St. Thomas) were nearly destroyed. Large trees were torn up by their roots and swept away. Houses were blown off by their foundations and dashed to pieces against the earth. Many of the steamers were hurled together, and instantly breaking to pieces, and were sinking. Some fifty or sixty people of different sizes were blown off the deck, and dazed and mangled. In fact, the entire crew of a vessel was blown together. Thousands of residents of the island are wandering about homeless and penniless, besides the large number who instantly perished. The amount of suffering, confusion and destruction, beyond description. There is no attempt at a full description of the various scenes of destruction or tracing any kind of business. Every one is paralyzed with terror at the awful phenomena, or mourning the loss of friends or those of their friends and relations. On the morning of the 9th of the old steamer Conway was to sail, but their being indications of a heavy gale, the passengers prevailed upon the captain to transfer them to the Rhone, a new and excellent steamer owned by the same company. Both vessels then put to sea, and were still within sight of land when the cyclone came on.

The Rhone was dashed upon Peter's Island, her boiler burst, and of except twelve or fifteen souls perished. Meanwhile, the condemned Conway had proceeded as far as Tortola Islands, upon the shores of which she was thrown, but all on board were saved. The steamer Columbian reached the port at eleven o'clock in the morning, and went down at two in the afternoon. Several vessels arriving during the following night also were ashore, as the lighthouse had been shattered by the storm of the previous day, and all guides for the mariner swept away. The cargo of the Columbian was valued at from one to two millions of dollars.

All the wharves of the town are one mass of ruins, the fort and barracks are gone, the lighthouse destroyed. About three persons were buried under the ruins. Quite a large number of bodies have been picked up along the harbor. The loss of both ashore and among the shipping is equally large.

President Johnson and the Finance Question. A Washington dispatch to the New York Evening Post says: It is understood that a large portion of the President's forthcoming message will be devoted to the consideration of the national finances. In conversation with gentlemen a few evenings since Mr. Johnson said he regarded the financial question as the most important now before the country. He has no sympathy with the views recently set forth either by Butler or Pendleton on this subject, but agrees with the opinions of Secretary McCulloch, and believes in a contraction of the currency and a speedy return to specie payments.

Importance of White Men. A meeting was held on Monday night to take the initiatory steps to canvass every district in the county and procure names for the formation of a society of companies to forward as speedily as possible the above scheme. The colored people have drawn the line separating themselves from the white men; they will now see that the longest unity the new order of things. The scheme will be pushed forward with energy, and by Spring we may have 1,000 or 1,500 white laborers and voters in the county. Then let the colored masses who were their friends and who are leaving the Gazette.

Is Dr. Livingstone Alive? Whether Dr. Livingstone is alive or dead is not yet satisfactorily settled. One more hope is in the ascendant. The Cape of Good Hope mail, recently arrived from England, brings a letter, in which Mr. J. S. Moffitt, a missionary, expresses a strong hope that his distinguished relative, Dr. Livingstone, is still alive. A report says Mr. Moffitt has been received at Zanzibar, of Livingstone's passage through a district "more remote than the place where he was said to have been killed." He thinks that the Malay who returned and reported Dr. Livingstone killed had merely deserted him.

Tornado in the West. A tornado was reported at Louisville, Nov. 10. The tornado of that evening was especially severe at Franklin, Ky., and Green-castle, Ind. In the former place the Baptist church, large tobacco factory and five other buildings were blown down. In Green-castle the Baptist church was blown down, the Methodist church was wrecked and several other buildings injured. The storm was very severe all along the Ohio river. The steamer Beulah, the bark near Sunflower bar, and the Violent at Nashville.
