Suicide of Prof. Anderson--He Kills his Little Boy.
A telegram from Cincinnati states that Prof. Anderson, the well-known Prestidigitator, killed his little boy last evening and then committed suicide by shooting himself.
We are without full particulars, but from all we can gather it is a case of domestic trouble. Anderson's wife left Cincinnati in company with a man named Norris, who has for some time been with Anderson as a supernumerary. When they arrived here at 11 o'clock to-day, a despatch was in waiting for Mrs.
Anderson, notifying her of the tragedy, and also that her mother was lying at the point of death.
--Mobile (Pa.) Republican.

[From the Raleigh Sentinel.] Holden's Hypocrisy.

We learn that the Standard has been publishing, for several weeks, Gov. Vance's proclamation, in 1864, which he issued for the purpose of discouraging desertion from the Confederate armies, and in which he pledged himself to use every effort to shield every such deserter from the penalties of military law, who would at once return to his Company. The Standard accompanies this proclamation with sensational headings, infamously charging upon Gov. Vance the purpose of shooting Union men, with other shameless accusations. This article, we learn, has been placarded all over the country.

No other living man, except Holden, could be guilty of the hypocorisy and meanness necessary thus to characterize an official document, and thus to assail a public man, for what he (HOLDEN) had himself publicly endorsed and eulogised.
Let it be known, that this same man, HOLDEN, on the day that he published Gov. Vance's proclamation in the Standard, Aug. 31st, 1864, accompanied it with the following strong editorial endorsement, and now makes use of the same proclamation to slander and vilify Gov. Vance. Shame! shame!-- Read what this man Holden said of the proclamation, on the day that he published it:

"PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR.
--It will be seen by the proclamation of Gov. Vance, in our paper to-day, that that functionary, responding to the late appeal of Gen.
Lee to deserters, and to the general public wish expressed in the newspapers of the State, has issued an urgent call to deserters and absentees from the army to return to their posts, and has enjoined it as a duty on the entire body of the militia to exercise the utmost vigilance in ridding the State of deserters.-- WE TRUST THIS CALL WILL BE HEED-ED. We think it more than probable that a majority of the deserters lurking in this State are from other States, who have made North Carolina a sort of half-way house between Virginia and their homes; and it is due to the character of the State, to the Confederate service, and to many of our citizens, who have been injured by these deserters from other States, as well as from our own State, that they SHOULD BE BANISHED from our midst and returned to their duty. Let those of our citizens who belong to the militia or home guard, and who have been thus far exempted from active service in the Confederate army in consideration of the important duties they are expected to perform at home, at once to respond to the order of the Governor, and execute it faithfully, and the evil complained of will soon cease to exist."--W.
W. HOLDEN, August 31st, 1864.

The Election in New Hampshire.
The Portsmouth (New Hampshire) States and Union, of the 13th of March, says:
"We are beaten, not by the majority of actual legal voters, but by an organized system of fraud and rascality, having no parallel short of the infernal suffrage system forced upon the South by Federal bayonets. Democrats by thousands have been wantonly disfranchised, and the majority against us is made up of fraudulent counts and the importation of reckless gangs of Hessian interlopers to vote down the free people of our State. By these outscourings of creation and the most unscrupulous use of money have we been beaten. The oldest living man never saw so much corruption before. The Rump Congress and the Federal office-holders have bled profusely to the tune of thousands on thousands of dollars to bribe poor, ignorant, stupid voters to support the candidates of the party who are making them slaves for life."

Arkansas Shooting Affair.
MEMPHIS, March 20.
At Helena, Arkansas, yesterday, Bart Turner, sheriff, attempted to arrest a negro who had recently killed three negroes in an adjoining county. The negro drew a revolver and shot Turner through the body, knocking him off his mule, which the negro mounted and fled to the hills, where he was pursued by a posse. On their attempt to arrest him he fired, wounding Wm. Sebastian. The negro was held at bay until a squad of soldiers arrived, who fired upon him, wounding him severely. He was captured and carried to Helena. None of the wounded were dead at the last account.

"Thrice the Brindle Cat hath Mewed."

The precise signification of the mysterious signs of the K. K. K. we do not pretend to fathom, but it is certain that the Radicals at Washington from one cause or another are in a high degree of panic. The Good Book well says that "the wicked flee when no man pursueth," and a high degree of assumed "righteousness, humanity, and justice" does not appear to keep off these extraordinary perturbations.
The slightest circumstance agitates the nerves of these brave and manly patriots. The other day some packages of nitro-glycerine "disappeared," and forthwith the House of Representatives prepares its ascension robes. Hardly had this alarm subsided when the rumor came that Mosby had bought some old saddles, and forthwith Mr. Secretary Stanton and Gen. Grant order up four companies of artillery to repel the apprehended attack.

It is a comfort to reflect that the destinies of the country are in such brave and steady hands. Our latest accounts from Mosby represented him as with a volume of Burn's Justice, laying down the law to some village magistrate.
All these precautions of Mr.
Stanton are wise and judicious.-- Mosby will think better of it when he learns the ample preparation made to expel him. But this is only half the trouble.

The mails teem with mysterious orders of the mysterious order of K.
K. K. We cannot say that we admire this style of literature. They use words of awful import, such as "Den of Skulls," "The Supreme Cyclops," "Wolf Hole," and the "Great Past Grand Giant." That the first refers to some of the State elections where the Radicals have been slaughtered, is more than probable. The Supreme Cyclops must mean the Supreme Court, justice always having a single eye. "Wolf Hole" must mean Mr. Stevens' Reconstruction Committee room, and the "Great Past Grand Giant" is an audacious but literal description of Gen. Grant. Still these orders are portentous, and we do not wonder that the military commander should report the order certainly does not mean peace. We hope the clan will not recognize any truth in the Radical assertion that the war is not over, and will not be over until Congress so declares.
Still, there is a wonderful attraction in mystery. The loyal leagues gathered every vagabond darkey from the Potomac to the Rio Grande, and hold most of them to day. And no matter how many hard names are given by Brownlow & Co. to the K. K. K., we believe if they will only make their headquarters in this city, half the Radical members of Congress will be begging for admission.

Desperate Duel.
A desperate duel took place about 5 o'clock on Friday afternoon between two gentlemen, one Mr.
N., of French origin, connected with the financial department of one of our theatres, and the other, Mr. B., a creole, of this city. The challenging party was the theatre gentleman, and Mr. B. selected the French navy broadsword as the weapon, which were sharpened to a very keen edge. The combat took place back of the Orleans ballroom, in the new hall, erected on a portion of the site formerly occupied by the burnt-up Orleans theatre.

The parties were seconded by experts like themselves in the art of self-defence, and it is probably owing to this fact that the duel did not end fatally. The combat lasted a few minutes, and concluded by Mr. B. cutting Mr. N. deeply but not dangerously, directly over the right temple, Mr. B. at the same time receiving a serious wound in the left wrist in his successful endeavor to ward off a deadly blow of his adversary, aimed at his abdomen. The combat was then arrested, and the wounded parties received the attention of their physicians.

Mr. B.'s wound is said to be of a severe character, and it is feared that the main artery of his injured arm has been severed. The floor on which this desperate duel took place was literally covered with blood, which flowed in great profusion from the wounds of both combatants. The cause of the duel was of a personal character, and for a wonder no lady was connected with the affair.--New Orleans Picayune,
