AP Post Office Meney Orders may be obtained in all the cities, and in many of the large towns. We consider them perfectly safe, and the best means of remitting fifty dollars or less.

As Registered Letters, under the new system, which went into effect June 1st, are a very safe means of sending small sums of mo-ney where P. O. Money Orders cannot be easi-ly obtained. Observe, the Registry fee, as well as postage, must be paid in stamps at the office where the latter is mailed, or it will be liable to be sent to the Dead Letter Office. Buy and offic the domen both for worders and easily and affix the slamps both for postage and registry, put in the money and seel the letter in the presence of the post-master and take his receipt for it. Letters sent in this way to us are at our risk.

THE COLORED PEOPLE.

We learn that our suggestion to the colored people to organize a Building Association meets with much favor at their hands. We are gratified to hear it. There is no plan by which they can so certainly and so cheaply supply themselves with houses; or, if they do not all wish to own houses, they can use the Association as a Savings Bank and accumulate a handsome sum from small monthly deposits, in the course of five or six years.

We would advise the colored people, however, in case they determine to engage. in the enterprise, not to be too hasty in organization. Let them spend several weeks in soliciting stock subscriptions; and by the time they have secured the amount desired the "Wilmington" Association will have been organized and placed in successful operation, when they can gather all the practical information need-

These Building Associations are productive of immense advaltage to communities. They not only furnish houses to their members on terms so liberal as to seem almost incredible, and offer to depositors the best Savings Banks in the world; but they give employment to saw mills and mechanics and laborers to such an extent that every branch of industry and capital meeives its proportionate share of the benefits. Economy and thrift should be sedulously cultivated by the colored race. They are now dependent entirely on their own exertions for a livelihood. An when old age comes on they will need a fund to protect them from want. A monthly deposit of five dollars in a Building Association, for a period of five or six years; accumulates so rapidly that it yields one thousand dollars at the expiration of that period. If the colored people can find a better in. vestment than this they will be fortunate

Marcy, Inspector General, U. S. Army, has recently written a letter to the Commissioners for visiting the Indians, giving his views in reference to the wiscat policy that can be pursued at the present time in reference to the wild tribes inhabiting the unsettled portions of the United States. Colonel Marcy, during his thirtyen years of service in the U. S. Army, has acquired an extensive acquaintance with the peculiarities of the Indian character, and his opinion is entitled to great espect, After citing numerous facts bearing upon the intercourse between the whites and the Indians, Colonel Marcy concluded by stating that the system of Indian affairs recent inaugurated by the Government, will, if carried out and perpetusted in the same benevolent spirit in which it was conceived, result in more lasting benefits to the red men than any-

LEONORA CASALONI; OR, THE MARRIAGE SECRET. By T. Adolphus Trollope. T. B. Peterson & Brothers, 306 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia.

We have received from the publishers, through Mr. P. Heinsberger, a copy of the above work. As we have not yet had time to read it, we append a notice from the pen of R. Shelton Mackenzie, literary editor of the Philadelphia Press :

"T. Adolphus Trollope, who may be termed the Italian as his brother is the English novelist, was almost unknown in this country until H. T. Tuckerman, a very competent critic, and perfectly fa-miliar with the people and scenery of Italy, drew attention to his works in a very appreciative article in the Atlantic Monthly. The bint was taken by T. B. Peterson & Brothers, of Philadelphia, who are now publishing a complete Library Edition of his works of fiction. In this series have already appeared 'Gemma,' a Florentine story of love and jealousy; Marietta,' in which life in Tuscany is charmingly depicted; and 'Beppo, the Conscript,' which gives the best view of rural society yet produced by any foreign-er. A fourth of these novels, entitled Leonora Casaloni,' is now ready, and those who have been delighted, as we have, with 'Gemma,' ' Marietta,' and 'Beppo,' will be glad to have another Italian novel by the same author. The pictures of life in Italy, as drawn by Trollope, are as charming as they are true. In the present work, the description of the basi-lica of St. John of Lateran, at Rome, of the hills on the sea-coast where Leonora lived, and of the wild passes of the Appe-nines through which Cesare traveled, are among the most vivid things of their kind nction. The character of Gobbo uite an original one, and the poor fellow trangely enlists our sympathies. The interest turns upon the marriage-secret of a great Roman family, which is adroitly kept in mystery until the concluding pages. This is a story of striking merit-produced by the maturity of its gifted author's mind. The volume is handsomely printed. Price $1.75 in cloth; or $1.50 in paper cover. All the other novels of Mr. Trollope will be published, in due succession, in Messrs. Petersons' series." Freights, on the Pacific Railroad. are very high, and the rates are even aserted to be extortionate. Thus, a cargo consisting of 83.000 pounds of Utah hides was recently sent from Ogden to Chicago, ad the charges were as follows : From Orden to Omaha, a distance of 1082 miles, $1957, and from Omaha to Chicago, 490 miles, $368 making, for 1522 miles, 2820. Reducing this freight bill to the charges per ton per mile, it will 'be seen that on the road from Omaha to Chicago rates were 41 cents, and from Ogden to Omaha, 111 cents per mile for a ton of 2000 pounds. It is contended that both of these charges are unreasonable, and that one cent and a half a ton, of two thousand pounds, would be amply suffi-

Reverdy Johnson's letters to Mr. Seward on the Alabama claims, for the purpose of showing that in February last Mr. Johnson agreed with Mr. Sumner on the ques-tion of the recognition of the Confederates as belligerents as connected with the set-tlement of the Alabama claims. Mr. Johnson has uncarthed the entire letter,

In that letter he points out to Mr. Seward the absurdity of holding Great Britain to account for damages because she recognized the Confederates as belligerents, W. 712 TO TA TIONS SHIT It is ascertained from the best sources of information that the administration will not take action looking to a recogni tion of the Cuban insurgents. First, it is questionable how far the Executive may go in that direction with-out authority from or co-operation of Congress; next, there is a delicate question about committing our government to propositions that are involved in the controversy with the British government when the latter government may have been premature in conceding belfigerent rights to the Confederates ; finally, it is ascertained that the administration finds the most acceptable solution of the difficulty in a proposition to the Spanish government for the purchase of Cuba, and to that end our minister, General Sickles, is instructed to proceed, at the earliest racticable moment after his arrival in Madrid, to negotiate a treaty for the purchase of the island of Cuba. The income to the Spanish government from Cuba is between thirty and forty millions, but it is certain that the expenses of warfare with the Cubans will exceed that amount per anuum. It is therefore argued that the Spanish government will be disposed to get rid of Cuba on more reasonable terms than ever heretofore suggested, and that our administration shold take advantage of the opporrunity thus presented, and by purchase on teasonable terms avoid a possible collision or unpleasant controversy with Spain, and at the same time steer clear of the probable complications of international law involved in the Alabama claims controversy with England so far as by analogy these questions may be applicable to the recognition of belligerent rights of Cuban insurgents. - -DATA.

In a recent interview, with a reporter, ex President Johnson said that he often puts his hands to his head and wonders if he is saue."

A blind horse wandered into White river, at Indianapolis, and, getting beyond his depth, swam around in a circle to find his way out. His distress attracted another horse not far away from the bank, who first went to the water's edge, and tried to direct the blind horse by neighing. Failing in this he took to the water and swam out to his relief, and after swimming around him for nearly a quarter of an hour he finally got the blind horse to understand in what direction the land lay, and the two horses came, to the shore side by side, amid the cheers of upwards of one hundred persons who had become spectators.

The Imparcial, one of the leading Spanish journals, makes a strange statement. It says that agents of the Government have been sent about to the newspaper offices to tamper with the press. with a view to obtaining its advocacy for the sale of Cuba to the United States. The Spanish cause in Cuba is by no means hopeless, but the cost of carrying on the present desultory war at such a distance is too burdensome to be longer endured The Spanish Government think they may as well have a good, round sum for their fine possession, and they have, according to the indignant Imparcial, invited the press to get up an agitation on the sub-

GOOD FOR CUMBERLAND.

We published yesterday a brief sum mary of the proceedings of a meeting held at Fayetteville, on the 26th ult., for the purpose of taking the initiatory steps in the re-organization of the Cumberland County Agricultural Society. The mect-ing was a success, even going so far as to advise the holding of an Agricultural Fair at Fayetteville during the coming Fall

We are highly gratified at this evidence of renewed life and sigor in the good people of Cumberland. No county can produce better or more intelligent farmers; and we look forward to even a better system of agriculture than has ever been known there before, or dealers The Agricultural Fairs hold at Favetteville previous to the war were among the most successful in the State. We often think of the Fair of 1859 where the skill of the Cumberland farmers was strikingly and practically illustrated. And, by the way, that Fair is always associated in our mind with the name and form of W. W. Holden, who delivered the address, and whom we saw for the first time. He was then a secession Democrat, and we had no love for him or his politics. We have still less now. But we are digressing. And we must do the Governor the justice to say that, although his delivery was wretched, the subject matter of his address was such as to convince his hearers that his energies had not been devoted We beg our Cumberland friends to push on the good work. Reorganize your Agricultural Society. Hold your Fair next Fall, " There is life in the old land yet." and we want to see you prove it to the world. And when you hold the Fair don't forget the poultry department. We are coming up with our Stonefence Games, our Black Spanish, our Brahma Pootras, and our Houdans, just to show you what we are doing in that line. The discussion of the next Presidency is becoming general with the leading journals of the country. Chase and Hancock are mentioned on the Conservative, and Colfax and Grant on the Radical

RUMORS OF WAR. -Rumors are prevalent abroad that France will soon be convulsed with internal war. This report has arisen through the fact that the railroad carriage factories in France have recently received orders to supply 60,000 wooden each provided with four strong seats, cords, so that they can be suspended from the roofs of freight cars. It is inferred that these seats are intended to facilitate the hasty transportation of large bodies of troops to different parts of France.

WASHINGTON.

Special Dispatch to the Baltimore Sun. Confirmation of the Beports from Lopez in Paraguay-Position of the Government on the Cuban Question-Gen. Sickles's Instructions to Purchase Cuba--Revenue Stamp Commission--Appointment of a Supervisor--The Public Debt.

WASHINGTON, July 1. The public debt statement published to-day shows an extraordinary and unexpected decrease of the debt. The estimate sent by your correspondent a few evenings since was based upon official records, and estimates of treasury officials; but much to the surprise of the Secretary of the Treasury, about five millions of receipts many years as the great champion of the democracy of the United States, and as having fought many a battle and won many a victory in behalf of constitutional freedom. Mr. Johnson then climbed over a rail and took his stand near the reporters' table on the balcony.

He was again greeted with applause, add said : It was not his purpose to make a speech, but merely to tender his thanks, his heartfelt thanks, for this cordial wel-come on his return to Washington. It was not necessary for him, on this oceasion to recapitulate or rehearse the argu ments he heretofore made in behalf of the people and in behalf of those great principles which should be maintained and preserved by those calling themielves free, patriotic and intelligent. In taking the stand he did, he believed he was doing his duty. [Applause.] He had tried to act on principles and vindication and in vindication of principles. He had collected facts and arguments, which, in times gone by, were considered unanswerable and irresistible. They had been presented for the consideration of Congress and the country, but it appeared they did not avail much during the time he had presented them. However, in his politics, as in his religion, when his facts gave out and his reasons failed him he drew pretty largely on his faith, and his faith was yet strong and unbroken. The time would come, and that ere long, when the American people will be aroused to the importance and high sense of preserving the great principles which have been overslaughed and trampled under foot so long. He would say let us have faith. He believed a gleam of the morning of redemp-tion could now be seen. He thought the time was coming when the constitution of our fathers would be restored.

It was not necessary for him to call the attention of this intelligent audience to the struggles and contest transpiring within the last four years. It was not necessary for him to point their attention to the indicial department of the govern-ment to show that under the domination of an usurping Congress that even the judiciary of the country was made to quail and shrink before it. [Applause.] It was not necessary to turn attention to the other end of the avenue, [cries of

"bear," "hear,"] nor was it necessary to do more than to point to the tyrannical body called Congress, which attempted to absorb every single power of the President. He had called them tyrants standing
