The following is a synopsis of the weather reports for the past 24 hours:

The barometer has risen upon the Atlantic coast, but only to fall rapidly, since this morning. There has been a very general but irregular diminution of pressure west of the Alleghanies, a decided fall with heavy rain on the Gulf and a heavy fall with threatening weather at the Rocky Mountain stations. The winds are everywhere light or fresh, and no serious disturbance is anywhere indicated. Threatendisturbance is anywhere indicated. Threatening clouds very generally prevail north of the Ohio Valley, and the same with occasional rains on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts.

It is probable that cloudy weather will prevail on Sunday in the Gulf and central States, and that an area of diminishing pressure will be developed in Ohio to-night. Fresh winds and cloudy weather are indicated for the Ap-

A shooting scrape occurred at the " Wilmington Garden 2 about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, which came near resulting serioulsy A. P. Bridgman, formerly on the police force, and a man by the name of James Gough, who formerly resided here, but had been North for sometime past and only returned to the city Friday evening, casually met at the place mentioned, when some words passed between them, but the dispute was of such a trifling nature that no apprehension was felt that it would lead to a personal collision. Pretty soon Bridgman went off and Gough walked out in the garden where Col. Klein, was setting out some plants, where he stopped and entered into a conversation with him. In the meantime Bridgman returned, and before either of the parties were aware of his proximity, had approached within a few feat of Gough, when he suddenly drew a revolver and fired upon him. Col. Klein instantly sprang - It is understood that Rt. Rev. Bishop forward to seize Bridgman, asking him Gibbons will deliver the panegyric of Ireland's as he did so what he was doing, to which B. great salut in St. Patrick's church, Baltimore, replied that he "intended to kill the d-d s-n of a b-h." Gone South.

Mr. John C. James, formerly Local Editor of the Journal, of this city, which position he filled with signal ability, and who subsequently became connected with the Wilmington N. C. Life Insurance Company as one of its most active and energetic Agents, took his departure for Louisiana a few days since, where he intends to embark in the business of cotton raising. While we regret our friend's departure from among us, we at the same time wish that his brightest anticipations may be abandanth realized. By the way, at the close of his first year's experience we shall look for a work from his ready pen entitled "What I Know about Farming."

Important Arrest.

Col. Andrew Jackson Joues was arrested in this city yesterday by the Sheriff of Cumberland county, on a bench warrent issued by Chief Justice Pearson, on the charge of the non-delivery of certain bonds of the Western Railroad which he has in his possession. The Sheriff embarked with his prisoner on the 2 o'clock boat for Fayetteville yesterday, from whence, we presume, he will be taken to Raleigh at an early day. The warrant was issued on the affidavit of L. C. Jones, Esq. President of the Western Railroad. Ross, of this city, knowing that Mr. Piver

The news of the arrest created considerable excitement on the streets.

We learn that there was a large attendance of ladies and children at the skating assembly at Masonic Hall yesterday afternoon, many new devotees of the art appearing for the first time upon the floor. A new interest seems to be awakening in this healthful and exhilarating accomplishment and Wilmington actually bids fair to become a city of skaters. It will be remembered that another assembly, for ladies exclusively, comes off at Masonic Hall tomorrow afternoon.

For the Penitentiary.

Sheriff McMillan, of Robeson county, arrived in this city yesterday, with five convicts from the late Superior Court in that county, en route for the Penitentiary. They were to leave for their destination this morning. The following are their names: Shoemaker John, highway robbery, 10 years; Martin Locklear, horse stealing, 5 years; James McKinnon, forcible entrance to kill, 3 years; Nimrod Mc-Lean, burglary, 8 years; Amos Williams, larceny, 2 years.

Arrested and Bound Over.

Obed Scott, charged with larceny, and Thos Croom, charged with assault and battery, were arrested by Constable Horrell, of Lincoln Township, on Friday night, on a capital from the Superior Court. They gave bond in the sum of $100 each for their appearance at the next term of the Superior Court.

RIVER AND MARINE NEWS.

Harbor and River Improvements. At a meeting of the Camber of Commerce, held on Friday evening last, the following letter from the Chairman of the Committee on the Cape Fear Harbor and River Improvements, was laid before that body: WILMINGTON, N. C., 6th March, 1871. To WM. W. HARRISS, Esq.,

President Chamber of Commerce.

Sin:—Availing myself of an invitation from Major Griswold to visit the public works under his charge at New Inlet, for the improvement of Cape Fear Bar, and Harbor, I accompanied him and his assistant, Mr. Benton, down the river to-day.

The weather being sultable we had a fine opportunity of surveying the althation, both during the ebb and flood tides. Presuming it would interest you and the Chamber to knew beg leave to report my observations.

At the commencement, the line of stone work, put down some years since, between Zeke's Island and the belt of beach connecting Zeke's Island and the belt of beach connecting with Smith's Island, is distinctly traceable at low tide, running in a line, North West and South East. The task of renewing this work, and preparing it to resist storm and flood, is comparatively trifling.

At the Northern end of this line of stone work, a breach has been made about six hundred feet wide, and about ten feet depth of water in the deepest part of it, wearing away a considerable portion of Zeke's Island.

Around the Southern end of this old stone work, being in the bend, or angle formed by work, being in the bend, or angle formed by these works, and the line of beach, another, and most formidable passage was made, about or near six hundred feet wide and thirty-seven feet deep. To the westward, and southwest from this point, stretches out an immense sheet of water, known as Buzzard Bay, the water of which, being acted upon by the downward course of the river water on the western shore, produces a most violent counter current through this passage to the ocean level. Hence the great depth of water it has attained. The Engineer in charge has not been slow in perceiving the formidable character of this ene-my, or the importance of closing these passages to Zeke's Island, thereby forcing this vast volume of water through its natural outlet at the mouth of the river; neither has he been slow in his operations. He very wisely determined to commence operations upon the northern point of the beach, by sinking cribs of heavy timber, twen-ty by thirty feet, filled with stone, across the inlet, in line with the old works. About four hundred and seventy lineal feet of cribs have been placed in position, three hundred and eighty feet of which has been covered with the finishing superstructure, while ninety feet are now ready to receive the same. Two more cribs are now ready to be placed in position during this week. Thus far the work has been attended with eminent success; the agitation of the vater in its obstruction has had the effect of depositing the sand against the works as far and as fast as finished, almost to the top of the superstructure, where thirty-seven feet of water existed but a few days since. I also find sand shoals, some of them bare at low tide, forming in all directions, inside and out, where ten to twenty feet of water existed but a short time ago; the ocean line of beach, far away to the southward, is rapidly widening and filling; or is this all. I am informed, that since the commencement of this work, a considerable change has been effected in the current and channels of the bars and river, and that the Rip near Fort Caswell is perceptibly wearing away. Thus farf the work appears a flattering success, much of which may be attributed to the practical good sense and judiclous management of the engineer in charge, and of the prompt, energetic co-operation of Mr. Cunningham, superintendant of the work. In such hands I feel every confidence in the final and complete realization of our anticipation, provided they are properly sustained by the Congress of the United States. This accomplishment will cheer the drooping spirits of the merchants and traders of the city of Wilmington, as well as the citizens of provide for the registration of the satisthe State at large, by estoring to the State her long lost harbor, one inferior to none upon the Southern Atlantic coast, and altogether worthy of her, and by the establishment of an Em-porium within her own borders which will emancipate her from the commercial vassalage to neighboring States under which she has groaned for ninety long years. Closing the old, or principal Inlet, 1 regard as of minor importance comparatively, nature seeming disposed to close it any how, but requires some effort on our part to assist her. am of opinion, that it may be closed in less time, and with less cost than is generally ann

The Major informs me that he contemplates some experiments looking to the collection of drifts and upon the low flat beach to the south, and if successful, and he shall be authorized to do so, will inaugurate a system of cultivating grass, shrubbery and trees upon the beach with the view of holding the sand, and strengthening the beach against incursions of wind or water. All of which is respectfully submitted.

Tender lungs are not more easily affected by these vicissitudes than feeble stomachs. If there is a tendency in the system to indigestion, biliousness, or bowel complaints, the variable weather of early spring is almost sure to develope one or other of these ailments. Intermittent fevers are also more prevalent in the spring months than at any other season except autumn. In view of these facts, this seems to be a proper time to invite especial attention to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a medicine, which for a long series of years, has proved superior to all others as a remedy for the above named disorders, and as protection against the miasma which frequently produces, and always aggravates them. It was formerly the practice to give violent cathartics as "spring medicines," nor is the custom yet entirely obsolete. Nothing, however, can be more ill-judged and unphilosophical. The chilling moisture with which the air is loaded at the breaking up of winter, presses heavily upon the vital forces of the body, and reinforcement, not depletion, is what it requires. The Bitters is a genial and excellent tonic, a moderate alterative, and just enough of an aperient to regulate, without convulsing, the bowels. It is, therefore, a specific peculiarly adapted to the present
