This is Holy Week, and the services to-day, Thursday, Good Friday and Holy Saturday will be characterized by the greatest solemnity and the absence of all ornaments for the altars, and in the Episcopal churches on Friday the chancel will be draped in black. The pictures and ornaments in the Catholic churches are covered, and no instrumental music is allowed from the high mass on Holy Thursday until the same hour on Saturday. On Holy Thursday the "Gloria in Excelsis," which has been omitted during Lent, will be sung, and at the same time all the church bells will be rung in honor of the Institution of the Blessed Sacrament, and then remain silent until Saturday at the same hour. On Wednesday evening the office of the Tenebræ will begin, and be contiqued Thursday and Friday evenings. On Thursday evening, immediately after the services in commemoration of the passion and death of the Saviour, the sacrament is carried lu procession from the main aftar to the repository or temporary altar, when it is placed in a tabernacle and remains surrounded by lighted candles and other ornaments and flowers until Saturday, when it is conveyed back to the main altar. Narrow Escape.

Persons should be very particular how they discharge firearms in the heart of the city. even if it be on their own premises. We were informed of a very striking illustration of the danger of such a practice yesterday. A lady had been sitting in her room in the second story of her residence, on Monday afternoon, in company with a friend, but from some when a sudden and startling noise up stairs attracted their attention and upon returning to the room they had just left it was found that a pistol had been discharged in an adjoining lot, the balls from which had crashed through the window glass just in range of where the lady of the house had been sitting but a few minutes before. Two pistol balls were subsequently found in the room.

An Applicant for the "Contract." On Morday night the Board of Aldermen appointed a committee, consisting of Aldermen Barry, Chadbourn and Kellogg, to make a contract with some one of the Justices of the Peace of this township to try violations of the city ordinances, provided the expenses of such contract do not exceed $2,500. Yesterday, we learn, W. H. Merrick, one of our colored Justices, sent in his application to the committee, offering to take the "contract" for $1,200 per annum. We do not know what effect the cheapness of the offer may have upon the committee, but we think it likely that a bargain will not be struck with the "Chief Justice" just yet.

Two Sessions a Day.

A friend proposes the revival of the old Wilmington custom of two sessions per day in our schools. He thinks to only have one session is confining the children too closely unless a long recess is given, and if the recess is given in cases where the school takes in at nine and closes at one o'clock, a sufficient time is not devoted to the instruction of the children, especially where the attendance of pupils is large; and, besides this, the children are roaming about the streets during the afternoon, forming, perhaps, not only bad habits, but wicked associates.

Memorial Day

Memorial day is rapidly approaching and friend properly asks the question if a sufficien sum, at twenty-five or fifty cents each, could not be raised to purchase a suitable monument (two sides of which to be especially devoted to the memory of our fallen chieftains, Robert E. Lee an dT. J. Jackson,) to be erected on that day. The subscription price is placed so low that old and young, rich and poor, can be alike interested in so great a work. The suggestion is a good one and is thus published that the Ladies' Memorial Association may act upon i if they deem proper.

A Suggestion.

A friend suggests that some of our benevolent institutions procure the services of Rev. Whiteford Smith to deliver a lecture in our city on the subject of "Wilmington of Other Days." We have no doubt but that such a lecture would be well patronized, especially by our older citizens, who have so often been carried away by the Doctor's elequence in his earlier life, when Pastor of the Methodist Church of this city.

The co-operative stores have been so successful in lowering the prices for family supplies to their Stockholders that a gentleman proposes the organization of a stock company, or a store of the kind, for the disposal of fresh meats, poultry. &c. A good idea.

Cape Fear Buiding Association. At the regular monthly meeting of the Cape Fear Building Association, held last evening, 32 shares of stock were redeemed as follows: Aldermen Sampson, Chadbourn and Howe, Five shares at $37; five at $36; twenty at $35 50, and two at $34, an average of $35 75 per
