FIREMAN'S RECEPTION. WILMINGTON MOOK AND LADDER COMPANY, NO. 1.

AORNING STAT

WILMINGTON, N. C., THURSDAY, APRIL 13. 1871.

Procession, Speeches, Collation, &c.

The reception ceremonies incident to the arrival of the New Truck of Wilmington Hook and Ladder Co. No. 1, took place yesterday. The day was a lovely one for the purpose, not a cloud obscuring the sky, while the genial showers which had descended the evening previous had laid the dust sufficiently to make the march of the procession pleasant and agreeable.

The two steam fire engine companies assembled on Fourth Street about half-past 2 o'clock and formed in procession, when they proceeded down Fourth to Dock and down Dock past the Hall of the Hook and Ladder Company, where three cheers were given. The procession was then joined by the Wilmington Hook and Ladder Company, with their new and beautiful Truck, and the procession continued its march, turning down Third Street and proceeding to the residence of Hon. A. M. Waddell, from the plazza of which the reception addresses were to be made. The Steam Fire Engine "A. Adrian" and the Steam Fire Engine "Jno. T. Rankin," together with their Reels, were both handsomely decorated with wreaths, and festoons of flowers and evergreens, and presented a splendid appearance. The magnificent Truck of the Hook and Ladder Company was also decorated in like manner and looked very beautiful.

THE SPEECHES.

As soon as the different companies had arranged themselves in order, Mr. R. H. Cowan, Jr., Chairman of the Committee of Arrangements, introduced Mr. J. L. Madden, representative of the two Steam Fire Engine Com-

Mr. Madden said :

Gentlemen of the Hook and Ladder Company :

A joint committee from the Wilmington Steam Fire Engine Company and the Howard Relief Steam Fire Engine Company have advice; you have alded us by your subscrip-tions most liberally as individuals and bounti-fully as corporations. For all of this we are very grateful. Not content with this, in tendering us this reception your committee insisted upon giving us a handsome collation. This, gentlemen, in very justice to yourselves we could not accept; we had to decline. We declined it in the same spirit that it was tendered, knowing that our Brother Firemen would understand our reasons, and would honor and appreciate

You have seen fit, Mr. Speaker, to allude to the services rendered by my Company with our "old village Truck," in days gone by. I agree with you, sir, they did their duty, did it nobly; but where they were we always found the old Howard boys; where we pulled, they squirted; and in later days, after the organization of Steam Engine Company No. 1, where the fire-fiend was doing the most damage, there you would find the trio; brothers, all working for the general good, all together, and always successfully. You are right in saying, with the organiza-tion of the Steam Engine Company Rankin, a new ers dawned upon our Fire Department. To our younger brothers the credit is due of infusing and stimulating our fire organizations to new life. With an energy and enterptise char eteristic of them, they surmounted every difficulty, and at a time when the most san guine could hardly hope for success they pro-vided themselves with an Engine which is an ornament to the city, a pride to the Department, and an honor to themselves. And here my friends, with the same generous spirit which I as ever characterized them, they again did honor to our Company by naming her the John T. Rankin, after one of our members who had been very seriously injured while nobly doing his duty.

It was not long after the arrival of the John T. Rankin before our energetic friends of the Howard Relief Company saw that their hand-some hand-engine would not do; that with all their endeavors the old hand brake could not compete with the steam fire engine; and with a spirit and determination rarely equalled, never excelled, did they go to work at once for the procurement of a steam engine under diffi-culties that would have appalled the bravest; and with stout he irts and a will that does honor to them, they overcame every difficulty, and to-day they exhibit the result of their la-ber in a machine that, in point of beauty and finish, cannot be surpassed, and bearing a name, the A. Adrian, which we all honor. After the purchase of the two Steam Engines by their respective companies, the Hook and Ladder Company-the oldest, Pioneer Company of the department-still had their old truck. It was a source of mortification

A North Carolinian's Opinion of Texas.

The following letter from a gentleman who formerly resided in this county, but is now a resident of the "Lone Star" State, will be interesting to our people generally, but more especially to the friends of those who have lately emigrated to that region from this immediate section. It will be seen that, from present indications, we did not fall far short of the mark when we predicted that those who left North Carolina for the purpose of bettering their condition in Texas would soon realize the truth that "there is no place like home." We have always thought, and time but strengthens our convictions, that there is not a more desirable locality in all God's heritage, if it could be rightly appreciated, than the "Good Old North State." But here is the letter. Head and "inwardly digest":

AUSTIN COUNTY, TEXAS, } March 27, 1871.

Editor Morning Star

A North Carolinian desires to, address you and through you the farmers of North Carollna. I wish to give you some account of this country, which is a pleasant one in the main, but I think it has been overrated. Many who were induced to come out by the representations of a certain party by the name of Lee, who operated at Wilmington, are dissatistied, and think that the promises made them have not been fulfilled

Texas is the dryest, the wetest, the hardest, the softest, the highest, the lowest, the richest and the poorest land you ever saw. It has the most stock and the least team, the most calile and the least beef, milk and butter of all countries imaginable. Beef bones are as common as oyster shells in North Carolina. Cotton grows luxuriantly here. Six bales to the hand are produced, and from twenty-five to seventy-five bushels of corn to the acre. Lands sell at from one to five dollars per acre. Texas is a good country, but not better than North Carolina. Provisions are high in price, and the market for almost everything else is poor. Wood and rall timber is scarce and rails bring $10 per bundred, going and to you their congratulations and welcome on the arrival of your new Truck. If, however, words fail me to express the entire sentiments of the two Companies that I have the honor to represent, I trust, gentlemen, you will not attribute my failure to any fault of theirs.

Allow me, then, to announce to yes, that no joy can exceed that which animates the hearts of your brother firemen, at beholding this splended acquisition to the Fire Department. Brother firemen of the Hook and Ladder Company, you have cause to rejoice also, now that pany, you have cause to rejoice also, now that your efforts have been crowned with success. This new and besatiful Track is a credit to you and to the city. A new house also is something for you to be proud of, and we, your brothers, have assembled hers to rejoice with you, and to prove by our presence that the John T. Rankin and A. Adrian are your faithful allies. It might be said that the Hook and Ladder Company have no rival to contend with, and, to a careless observer, such would seem to be the case. But, gentlemen, allow me to tell you, you have a rival-your past glo rious deeds stand out in bold relief as judges of your future actions. The old village Truck, the rumbling of whose wheels, in times past, awoke the echoes of our city, is now set aside, and a more useful machine takes its place. But the old associations connected with it must not be set aside ; they should be treasured up as incentives to greater deeds in the future.

In times gone by, when our city was visited by fires in rapid succession, and war had deso-lated our land; when the torch of the incendiary was nightly applied to the dwellings of our citizens, and the devouring element had laid waste the fairest portions of our city-it was then that the Hook and Ladder Company, with its old village Truck, had, written the brightest page of its history.

Times have changed; old customs have to give way to new; progress is the order of the

From the moment the shrill whistle of the John T. Rankin was first heard in our city, from that happy day our efficiency as firemen takes its date. The next great step in the onward march of steady progress, was the arrival of the A. Adrian. With the possession of these two Steam Engines, our fire department was almost complete. But there was something lacking, and the Hook and Ladder Comdid they go to work with a determination not to be foiled in their purpose. They have, in a yery short time, succeeded in presenting to the gaze of their admiring fellow citizeus, this beautiful appendage to the fire department. Well Indeed does it harmonize with our general equipments. Our battery is now complete; we are ready to attack the enemy wherever he lares to show himself.

To the Hook and Ladder Company belongs the post of honor. You will be our advance guard; you will scale the breastworks of the enemy, tear down his tents, and expose him in front and rear to a merciless bombardment from the solid shot of the John T. Rankin and A. Adrian. With all these appliances we'are masters of the situation. While a generous rivalry will always stimulate us to exertion. yet I trust nothing in the future will occur to mar the harmony of our actions. When the smoke of each successive battle shall clear away and the enemy shall nowhere be found, North Carolina is exempt. The lands in the vicinity of Rocky Point, tifteen miles north of Wilmington, are as good as Texas can afford,

P oud, indeed, is the position of the Hook and Ladder Company; sublime is the hazard that stares each member in the face. Yours is the noble task of rescuing from the devouring fiames the sleeping babe and the frantic moth-er; no ery of distress shall appeal to you in vain. You will be in the future what you have been in the past-the pride of our city, and alto us. We saw all that was necessary to perfeet the fire organization of the city was a new truck, with all the latest improvements for our Company. We determined to follow the good example set us by our younger brothers, and as they let no obstacle interfere to prevent their success, we determined nothing should thwart us; that's new machine we would have. and to day it is before you,

l congratulate you, gentlemen, upon our fire organization-the finest volunteer organization in the South, complete in every respect -good machines, good companies and a harmony and brotherly feeling which I extol, and, God knows, pray may continue.

Let us still strive to improve our organization-use every exertion to excell each other in organization, equipment and fire servicekeep up the generous rivalry now existing be-tween the two Steam Engine Companies; and, though the Hook and Ladder Company can hardly be considered a rival, we have made up our minds that we will be dangerous allies. We accept the challenge, take up the gauntlet, and are determined, come what may, to secure the post of honor, and, when the fire alarm is sounded, if we can't squirt, you will find us battling with the enemy when you arrive and we will see which Company throws the first stream, and when you get your battery in posi-tion you will find us in the rifle pits skirmishwith the enemy, determined to conquer or prove ourselves the forlorn hope of the fire brigade.

I feel that I would be recreant to the trust confided in me to day, were I to fail to express the gratitude of the white firemen of Wilmington to Mayor Martin for the deep interest he has exhibited in every measure undertaken for the perfection of our organization, and our thanks for the aid so liberally extended to us; and especially is my Company under obliga-tions to the Mayor and Board of Aldermen for the appropriation which has enabled us to build our New Truck House. We are also indebted to the Chief Engineer of the Fire Department and City Marshal Canaday for services rendered us, as well as to the agent of the Lorillard Steamship Line for generous favors. And now, Mr. Speaker, in conclusion, allow me again to return the grateful thanks of my Company, to yourself and our brother firemen for this magnificent reception, and to assure you, sir, when we review in after years our Fireman's life, to this day will we revert as the brightest page in our Company's history. And should we not sir? With fair women gracing our reception with their presence, stimulating us in the path of daty and bidding us God speed in our noble undertaking; with our ranks full, a handsome truck, new house. and the good will and opinion of those whose good opinion we value most-our Brother Firemen-I say, sir, should it not he the green spot in our company's existence?

Col. Moore's response to the address of welcome was received with hearty demonstrations of app'ause. PROCESSION.

The procession was then re formed, under the direction of B. H. Cowan, Jr., Chief Marshal, assi ted by Mesars. A. Adrian and Preston Cumming,-Capt J. L. Boatwright, who was originally appointed Chief Marshal, being sick,-and, headed by a band of music, marched through several of the principal streets, attracting much attention. At half-past 5 o'clock the processi in broke ranks in front of the Truck house of the Hook and Ladder Company, in the beautiful and commodious Hall of which a SPLENDID COLLATION had been prepared at the instance of the mbers of the Hook and Ladder Company, and to which the different companies and invited guests proceeded to do ample justice. Then for a brief season toasts were drank, speeches made and "all went merry as a marriage bell," until the time came to disperse, when all left fully impressed with the idea that they would not soon forget the pleasure experienced on this most joyous occasion.
