Hon. Z. B. Vance.

An extra from the office of the Pee Dee Herald published at Wadesboro', just at hand, informs us that the disabilities of Senator-elect Vance have been removed, and that he has gone on to Washington to take his seat. This information our cotemporary derived from a gentleman just arrived in Wadesboro' from Charlotte. It is rather singular that the telegraph made no mention of this fact.

Coroner Hewlett summoned a jury yesterday and held an inquest over the body of Jerry Townsend, the colored man who died on Tuesday morning from an accident at the depot of the Wilmington, Charlotte and Rutherford Railroad. Verdict-that deceased came to his death accidentally by being caught between two Railroad cars.

Fair and Festival To-Night.

We would remind our reade s that the Fair and Festival, to be held under the auspices of a few young ladies of the First Presbyterian Church, will come off at the City Hall this evening. This is the first entertainment of tors. the kind we have had thus far this sesson and we hope it will be liberally patronized. We are assured that those who are found of indulging in the luxuries of life can do so on this occasion and at the same time : et the Odd Fellowship.

The R. W. Grand Lodge of the United States has decreed that the 26th of the present month shall be set apart and observed by the members of the I O. O. F. throughout the country as a day of general thanksgiving, in grateful recognition and acknowledgment of the goodness of God in the preservation and prosperity of the Order.

This same day, it will be remembered, is to be the occasion of the ceremony of laying the corner stone of the new Odd Fellows' Hall now in process of erection in this city.

The Barber's Pole.

Hundreds of people there are who do not understand why the barber uses the red-striped pole. It originated from the fact that, some centuries ago, it was customary for barbers to bleed people, and the pole, with alternate winding strip s of white and red, represented the bandage of the phiebotomized victim. In the course of time the apo'hecary excelled the barber as a blood letter; but the old sign of the craft was retained by the latter after the function which gave it significance had ceased. It may be added parenthetically, that they (the barbers) still do a little blood letting occasionally

Steamer to the Seashore.

The Secretary gives notice in this issue that a meeting of the present Stockholders of the Wilmington and Smithville Steamboat Company, as at present organized, together with all new subscribers and friends of the enterprise, will be held at the Commercial Exchange, this evening, at 8 o'clock, to complete the organization and elect a new Board of Directors. This is an enterprise in which we should ali feel deeply interested, as proper facilities for reaching the seashore and inhaling its refreshing breezes during the hat summer months has long been held as one of the great desider atums of our city.

Baldwin, the Clothier.

Among the most successful business men of the age is Baldwin, the Clothier, corner of Canal and Broadway, New York, a man who never stands back for a little printer's ink. It is through its influence and his own indomitable energy and perseverance that he has achieved success and rendered his name almost a "household word" throughout the United States. Baldwin leads the Retail Clothing trade in New York and he invariably sticks to the one price system-permits no tricks of trade to enter into the selling of goods-hires no commissioned salesmen, and has no bills to collect, hence he can afford to sell cheap. It is claimed for him that he does more business in retall clothing, on an average, than any one house in the United States.

By the way, Baldwin is making preparations to largely extend his business, and with that view he has added to the arear of his waremodious buildings.

Bar and River Improvements.

A party of gentlemen went down the river on the Revenue Cutter Seward, yesterday, for the purpose of inspecting the operations for the improvement of the Bar and River. Arriving at their destination the party embarked and spent about an hour on the beach, ex amining the works, which they found progressing very favorably. The steamer also stopped for a short time at Smithville, where the excursionists spent a brief season very perished to a man. agreeably. The main object had in view-the sounding of the Bar and Rip-was not accomplished in consequence of the roughness of the sea.

The entire party, however, expressed themselves highly gratified with the progress thus far attained in the important work upon which so much of Wilmington's future prosperity and growth as a commercial city depends.

Worth Knowing.

From six to ten drops of the concentrated solution of chloride of sods, in a wineglass of pure spring water, taken immediately after the ablutions of the morning are completed, will sweeten the breath by disinfecting the stomach, which far from being injured will be benefitted by the medicine. If necessary, this may be repeated in the middle of the day. In some cases odor arising from carious teeth is combined with that of the stomach. If the mouth is well rinsed with a teaspoonful of the solution of the choloride in a tumbler of water, the bad odor of the teeth will be re-

The Shooting of George Applewhite.

A correspondent gives us some details lu reference to the shooting of Geo. Applewhite. He says that on Sunday morning six men went | next week. down to the vicinity of Applewhite's house before day and hid in the swamp. About 2 P. M. Applewhite went to the house with a very large bag on bis shoulder. About 3 o'clock he came out with the bag, but it was empty. He came down the path running by the swamp, where three of the men were concealed, the other three being concealed at the same time on the side of the path that runs from the little trestle work up to the house. The arrangement between them was that if either party fired the other party was to advance. When Applewhite got within twenty feet of the men he saw them and commenced running back. They fired and brought him down. He got up and run again, and while doing so he met the other party coming up. They fired and brought him down again; but, notwithstanding the severe wounds he had received, he turned on his pursuers, fired his double-barrel gun at them and then succeeded incrawling into the swamp. The men then left him for dead, but picked up his hat and bag and took them to his wife, and they were found in his house by the Sheriff's party the next day, the bag containing about twenty shot holes through it.

The Sheriff's party on Monday found the spot where Applewhite was shot and traced him by the blood which had run from his wounds to his wife's house, but could obtain no clue as to his whereabouts, or as to whether he was living or dead. His wife would give no information on the subje.

It was ascertained by the party who visited the house that the goods carried there by Applewhite in the bag were a portion of those stolen from Capt. J. W. Plummer. Sufficient evidence was also elicited to prove Pop Oxendine's complicity in the robbery, as he had several articles in his possession which he claimed as his own, but which were fully identified as being the property of Capt.

Our correspondent further states that Sheriff McMillan notified John Sinclair, the owner of the house in which Applewhite's wife resides, that if she was not out of it in two days he would arrest him (Sinclair) as an accomplice of the outlaws, and that he was strongly tempted to do so anyhow.

Taking everything into consideration, we think it probable that, although desperately wounded, Applewhite has again succeeded in escaping the fate he so richly deserves. A few days more will solve the my stery.

Had the order he gave been understood by the men and an attempt been made to execute it he has no doubt that they would have
