The following is the list of unmailable letters remaining in the city postomee: Mr. John Haar; J. R. Hinds, Buches Ferry, S. C .; Alexander Larkins, Newbern, A. C.; Miss Annie Humbley THE PERSON NAMED IN COLUMN

From the enterprising and accommodating Heinsberger we have a copy of the two poems by John Hay, "Jim Bludso" and "Little Breeches," which have recently been so widely read. These poems are just published in pamphlet form, and Heinsberger, shows his characteristic enterprise in promptly providrainful Accident.

We regret to learn that Capt. F. M. Wooten, of the Wilmington, Charlotte and Rutherford Raffroad, is confined to his room at Lilesville from a sprained ankle. He met with the accident by stepping on the edge of a cross-tle, when-as is always the case with him,-in the discharge of his duty as an efficient officer and Since writing the above we were glad to find that Capt. W. is able Ito be out, but is still suffering much.

Ned McLendon is the name of the colored tiend who was convicted at the late term of Richmond Superior Court of committing rape on the person of a respectable white lady. The jury was composed of eight colored and four white men, and took only five minates to decide upon the verdict. He was sentenced to be hung on the 2d proxime. Mention of the trial and conviction of this scoundrel was ma e in the STAR the day after it occurred, but our informant could not remember his Poisonous Cards.

Mr. B. F. Knott, of Lilesville, Anson counly, who visited our city a few days since, carried home the green and bronzed card of a restaurant of this place. Two of his children got hold of the cards and were playing with them when they very naturally placed them in their mouths. The consequence was that they were both dangerously poisoned, their physician finding arsenic and other deadly ingredients in the coloring matter of the card, which at the same time is very sweet and pleasing to the taste. Our informant states that both children are seriously ill and doubts are entertained of their recovery. Care should be abserved by business men in the distribution of their cards to ascertain what sort of ones they are sending out to their customers.

The alarm of fire about 7 o'clock yesterday morning was caused by the ignition of a number of barrels of rosin on the wharf opposite Mesars. James & Meares' auction rooms. It seems there was a number of powder cans on the wharf contiguous to the rosin, containing a quantity of wet powder. They had been in that position for a week or two, having been taken from the Schr. Walton, which went ashore on the beach and was subsequently gotten off and brought to this city, and it was thought it was so thoroughly soaked with salt water that there was no danger from it. Fire leated to the powder by some accident, and with a hissing, puffing sound the o the rusin, and almost instantly about twenty-five or thirty barrels were in a light blaze. to the consternation of the merchants and others in the vicinity. Fortunately Capt. B. J Lawton had a force pump, with hose attached to it, in operation at the time for the purpose of sprinkling the street. He immediutely turned the stream upon the are and soon subdued is. The steamers "Rankin" and "Adrian" were both quickly on the ground, but luckily their services were not needed, as Capt. Lawton had already made blesself the hero of that fire.

A Pirst-Class Fraud.

Some two or three months ago a young man, who gave his name as J. H. Duncan, came to this city and stated that he was an Agent in the employment of the Lee Memorial Association of Lexington, Va., for the sale, by subscription, of the portraits; of Gen. Lee for the purpose of raising funds for erecting a nonument to his memory. He was in possession of the necessary papers to show he was the agent of the Association in this section of the State, and had letters of recommendation from a number of prominent gentlemen in Virginia. He claimed to be an ex-Confederate soldier and says he lost a leg at Spottsylvania. He is a man of prepossessing appearance and fine address and succeeded in making a large number of friends here, who sympathized in his efforts to dispose of his pictures both on his own account and in consideration of the worthy cause to be benefitted. He got quite a large number of subscribers and delivered some of the pictures, but there were some who, having perfect confidence in his integrity, paid in advance for the pictures which he promised to deliver as soon as he could receive them from Raleigh. Finally, on the last day of March he left here, for the purpose, he said, of looking after a delinquent agent who had promised to furnish him with pictures but had failed to do' so. He stated that he would be back in eight or ten days, but, after waiting patiently for his return for something over a month, some of the subscribers who had paid in advance began to feel uneasy, and finally a young friend of ours weste to the Association at Lexington and made inquiries in gard to Duncan, which letter was forwarded to Messrs. Geo. T. Fry & Co., General Agents, Atlanta, Ga. In reply these gentlemen state that Duncan was appointed an agent to canvass tdiscity and county, by the North Carolina agent, who says he has not heard from Duncan. that his appointment has been revoked, and that he now has no authority to represent the Association anywhere, Mesers. Geo. T. Fry & Co., wish to be informed how much Du has collected and the names of subscribers, that they may inform the North Carolina gent and have the matter arranged. The papers of the State are requested to notify their readers that Duncan is not an authorized agent for the Association.

A friend who participated in the Sunday School pie nie at Goldsb ro' on Saturday last has furnished us with some of the particulars and incidents of this interesting occasion Leaving Wilmington at 6 A. M., under charge of Capt. Filyaw, the party arrived at Goldsboro' at 11 o'clock A. M. They were met at the depot by the Sunday Schools of Newbern, Tarboro', Kinston and Goldsboro', together with the Goldsboro' Cornet Band. A procession was then formed, headed by the band, and marched to a beatiful grove in the Northern part of the town. The procession was several squares in length, and, a large number of the children being dressed in white, made a fine display. Arriving at the grove, a hymn was sung by the children of the Goldsboro' Sunday School, after which the Rev. Mr. Burton addressed the Throne of Grace in a neat and appropriate prayer. A gentleman, whose name our informant cannot remember, then welcomed the children of the different schools to the Convention and concluded by introducing Prof. Merritt, who delivered a lecture or Sabbath Schools, which was spoken of very highly by those who heard it. After the lecture the members of the different School were introduced to each other and a very pleasant time was had. Among the visitors, our friend met the Rev. John N. Andrews and at the front, like a man's, and is embroidered Rev. Mr. Burkhead, both formerly of this city, on the corners with a monogram and edged and was pleased to see them looking so well. Next came the announcement of dinner, when all sat down to a splendid repast which had been prepared by the kind and hospitable ladies of Goldsboro' and of the other Schools, ing, &c., on Sunday. She was found guilty Too much praise cannot be awarded to the ladies of Goldsboro' for their many kindnesses. which will long be remembered by all who were present. After dinner a large number amused themselves by walking about and looking at the beautiful town. Our informent was glad to see that the most of the burnt district has been rebuilt and now presents quite a fine appearance. After strolling about until near half past 2 o'clock, it was announced that the train was coming, and shortly after the Wilmington party embarked for home, this time under charge of Capt. Borden, arriving at Wilmington at 5:45 P. M. Nothing transpired during the day to mar the pleasure of anybody, and the only regret was that they could not spend a longer time with the good people of that pleasant town.

The Raleigh Sentinel says:
As Mr. Davis stepped from the cars on Saturday morning, he was at once recognized by Aunt Abby House, who was there at the time, and grasping the Ex-President warmly by the hand, weeping, she exclaimed: "President Davis, I have prayed for you ever since the war, and prayed that God would spare you, that I might again see you. He has answered my prayer." Mr. Davis shook her hand with much warmth of feeling. Aunt Abby, during her many vinits to the army in Virginia, during the war, frequently called upon President Davis, who always received her kindly and courteously, and of whom she ever speaks with most respectful reverence and affection.
