Superior Court. A synopsis of the work accomplished during the late session of the Superior Court shows that there were 102 trials and 30 not true bills returned to Court by the Grand Jury.

Local News.

Violet is invisible by gas-light. - The fish market was very poorly supplied yesterday.

No cases for trial before the City Court yesterday morning. - Regular meeting of Concord Chapter tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock.

The odoriferous squelch is "the thing" at Carraway & Cleapor's barbershop just now. - The St. George and St. Andrew Society will meet at the Court House tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Thos. R. Farrell, formerly of this city, where he commenced the practice of law, is now located at Salt-m. in this State.

A special meeting of the St. George and St. Andrew Society will be held at the Court House tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. A full attendance is much desired.

W. Reulicke, A. Kogers and F. Logan, sentenanced by the Sch. J. M. Morris, charged by Capt. Newman with deserting his vessel.

George Thompson, colored, convicted in the City Court Friday morning of quarreling and fighting in the streets, not being able to raise the "stamps" to pay his fine, was sent to the Work House yesterday.

A white man lost his balance and fell overboard at Market dock yesterday afternoon. Fortunately his friends were equal to the situation and finally succeeded in pulling him out. He was badly frightened and not at all anxious to repeat the experiment.

A burglar tried his hand at Mr. S. R. Birdsey's residence on Friday night, and succeeded in capturing Mr. Birdsey and pants. He was evidently frightened off before concluding his operations. The burglars in this city have taken a fresh start in their deeds of rascality.

The Excursion Yesterday on the Steamer Waccamaw. The stockholders of the Wilmington and Smithville Steamboat Company, together with their families and a number of invited guests, including a large number of ladies and children, assembled at the wharf foot of Market street, yesterday morning, for the purpose of embarking on the proposed excursion to Smithville and other points below on the Steamer Waccamaw.

Practically all the boats which have stood for ages and which were gazed upon by their fathers before them, among these may be mentioned the ruins of an old church at Fort Anderson, the crumbling walls of which could be dimly discerned in the distance. Here the pioneers of the Cape Fear first determined to establish the town of Wilmington, and the walls of the old church alluded to in all that is left to show that this spot was once the busy haunt of many of the forefathers of those who now move on the scene of life.

Further down the river there was much to attract the attention of those who seldom "go down to the sea in ships," when viewed in connection with the remembrances of the stirring scenes which were enacted along these now quiet and peaceful shores during the late unpleasantness; while others, who took an active part in the busy preparations for attack and finally in the struggle for supremacy which made the hills and valleys resound with the reverberations of the fierce conflict between the opposing armies, fought over in imagination the fierce battles which characterized the advances on Wilmington, while they pointed out to their less experienced friends the "Sugar Loaf," Fort Fisher, Battery Buchanan and other places of note.

On the shoals nearly opposite Smithville is also to be seen the wreck of the ram North Carolina, which, under the command of Commodore Lygh, bid fair to do signal service for the Confederate cause in our waters, but which unfortunately was stranded on the shoals where she now lies at an early stage in her career and was never gotten off. There are various other wrecks along the river which call up old associations and remind us of the days that "tried men's souls," among which may be mentioned the old ship of Gen. Whiting, which now lies a useless and senseless hulk on the beach.

In the not remote distance, as the steamer passed New Inlet, was to be observed the scene of operations of Major Gelowald, in charge of the Bar and River Improvement, and as the Major was with us, together with our friend Henry Nash, Esq., who was one of the party, pointed out the scope of the projected Improvement which is expected to have such an important bearing upon the future of our city, and explained to us the extent of what had already been accomplished toward binding together the two islands about which we have lately heard so much.

Passing Smithville, the Waccamaw steamed on through the channel leading directly by Fort Caswell, at the mouth of the river. Here many would have been glad to have stopped and whiled away a brief season in examining the various scenes of interest which are to be found in and around the fort, but the depth of water would not allow of a landing, and to console such for their disappointment the boat was run down to the Bar, just outside of which lay the Bark Waccamaw, from Cardiff, with a load of railroad iron for this port, of which she was being lightered, the remnant of the iron hull of the steamship Washington, which was burned in our river last year, being used for that purpose.

Returning, the steamer landed at Smithville, where an hour and a half was spent very pleasantly, some rambling about the town, visiting the garrison under the command of Col. Mendenhall, a very gentlemanly and courteous officer, strolling through the cemetery, &c., while others visited friends, or enjoyed themselves as best suited their tastes or inclinations.

At a quarter to 5 o'clock the invisible whistle sounded the call for all to be on board and the gallant Waccamaw turned her prow homeward. The young folks commenced dancing again soon after starting and continued to whirl in the giddy mazes until the boat reached the wharf.

Among the large number who participated in the excursion the opinion was universal that it was one of the most pleasant and agreeable in all respects that they had ever experienced. Too much praise cannot be awarded to Col. Fremont, Marsden Bellamy, Esq., and Mr. T. D. Moore, Jr., for the manner in which every thing was conducted and for the many courtesies extended.

In concluding this necessarily imperfect description of the very pleasant affair, we wish to bear testimony to the excellent qualities of the fine steamer which the Wilmington and Smithville Steamboat Company have fitted up for the purposes for which she is intended. Her machinery works magnificently, the boiler is pronounced by competent judges to be a most excellent one; the hull is staunch and sound; the arrangements for the accommodation of passengers, when completed, will be unsurpassed; and, for witness, we are convinced by yesterday's experiment, that she will easily make the time between Wilmington and Smithville in two hours. She was timed, when she left the wharf yesterday morning and she arrived at Smithville in two hours and ten minutes, taking into consideration a stoppage of a few minutes on the way. Best of all, she is considered by those who ought to be good judges to be one of the safest boats on the river.

There were some deficiencies noticeable in the management of the Waccamaw yesterday, owing to her incomplete state. These will be remedied, and all the unfinished work completed, it is presumed, by the last of next week, when, under command of that excellent seaman, Capt. J. W. Potter, she will commence her regular trips.

A full supply of Robinson's Printing Ink kept constantly on hand at the office of the Morning Star. These inks are equal, if not superior, to any manufactured in this country. The Kegs of 25 lbs kept in stock for the special benefit of weekly papers. Cash orders solicited.

How to Wash Lace. The first thing to remember is that lace, and all such fine materials, should be washed in hot, soft water. Well soap them, and squeeze and shake, but on no account rub them. Repeat the softening and shaking until they are clean, hot water and well soap them again, and put them into a sauce pan, with enough hot water to cover them. Soft water is best, but if that cannot be procured, add a piece of soda - say a quarter of an ounce to half a gallon of water. Boil for half an hour. Then wash them out again and rinse in cold, blue water. Hang them on a clothes-horse to dry, where they can be stretched. Lastly, roll them up in a dry cloth for two hours, by which time they will be fit to iron.

We do not keep Printing Paper regularly in stock for sale; but can always supply our friends with small quantities, say from two to ten reams, at reasonable prices for strictly cash orders. Sizes of paper 25x31 and 25x40 inches, and same quality as that used on the Morning Star and Carolina Farmer. J. M. Academy of Music.

Prof. Rueckert informs the public in this issue that by request of numerous applicants, he will keep the above institution open during the summer provided a sufficient number of pupils enter their names before the 3rd of July. The last musical soiree of the Academy will be given on Tuesday, the 27th inst.

Arrest of an Alleged Robber. Joseph Nixon, colored, was arrested on Friday night, about 9 o'clock, by Detective Carr, charged with the robbery of Mr. Thos. Morrison, alluded to in yesterday's paper. In default of security in the sum of $300 he was committed to jail to await an examination before Justice McQuigg.

A Challenge. We have four composers on the Star who can set more type than any other quartette of types in North Carolina. At least, we will bet a hat on it; and their competitors may be selected from the entire State.

Lost. If you have lost anything, advertise in our new department, under head of "Lost and Found," at half our regular rates, for advertisements not exceeding five lines.

Supreme Court.

The following proceedings of the Supreme Court, in session at Raleigh, on Thursday and Friday, and of interest within the local jurisdiction of the Star, we find in the Telegram: E. P. Covington, guardian, vs. N. C. Wall, et al., from Richmond; was called and argued by Thomas S. Ashe for the plaintiff, and Giles Lettich for the defendant.

John C. Poe, vs. R. W. Hardie, Sheriff, from Cumberland, was called and argued. John W. Hinsdale for the plaintiff, and B. & T. C. Fuller, Phillips & Merrimon, and W. McL. McKay for the defendant. Question involved - whether a Sheriff is liable to amercement for refusing to sell the revisionary interest in the Homestead.

Isaac Bates vs. R. W. Hardie, Sheriff, et al., from Cumberland; called and argued. J. C. McRae and Bragg & Strong for the plaintiff, and B. & T. C. Fuller and Phillips & Merrimon for the defendant. Question involved: Whether, if several magistrates' judgments docketed on the same day, the judgment entered at an earlier hour of the day has priority over the judgment entered at a later hour of the same day - that is, whether the law, under the Code of Civil Procedure, recognizes the fraction of a day as to priority of lien between docketed judgments.

A. W. Morgan et al., vs. L. C. Hubbard et al., from Sampson; called and set for hearing tomorrow. Southern Claimants. The following is a list of claimants from North Carolina, resident in this section, who have declared under oath that they remained loyal adherents to the government of the United States during the late war: New Hanover County - Susan Deal, Pine Forest Cemetery. Cumberland County - David A. Bryant, Alexander Jackson, Matthew N. Leary, Ambrose Overbaugh, Wilson Peppers. Anson County - Dixon Ingram. Pitt County - Joel Patrick. Sampson County - Pharoah Hudson, Sam'l Smith, Joseph Wilson.

Communications in regard to the subject of this list, may be addressed to the "Commissioners of Claims," Washington, D. C.

Weather Maps. We received from Sergeant Robert Seyboth, U. S. Signal officer in charge of this station, yesterday, a specimen of Weather Maps issued by the War Department for the benefit of commerce. These Maps will hereafter be issued daily and are so arranged as to indicate clearly the state of the weather in different sections of the country, all the prominent localities being printed on the map, with references to show where it will be clear, where cloudy, where rainy, the direction of the wind, the state of the thermometer, the barometer, the velocity of wind in miles per hour, &c. These maps will doubtless prove of great utility to the business community here and elsewhere.

Our Child Basket. - Handy thing - A glove. - Mantles and mantellets are again coming into favor in London. - Bayadere white satin is the newest thing for the wedding garment. - A Milwaukee bride is represented as having been "dressed in a wreath of myrtle." - The secret of French perfection in toilet accessories is that each woman consults her individuality in her garb.

Miss Nellie Vioe, an Iowa scripps, wants to visit Vivaldi Room, and lay hands on a Congressman's vest. No, No. - A Toledo young lady snatched a powder flask from a small child and threw it in the fire. Hopes are entertained of her recovery. - The intermarriage of two families in Maine is remarkable. One, consisting of four sons and one daughter, has married all of a neighbor's children, four daughters and a son.

A matrimony act in care of her kittens is an instance of severe maternal discipline. She is licking her offspring pretty much all the time. - The champion palm-leaf braider in New Hampshire is a girl who recently braided twenty-two hats in one day. A dozen is considered a good day's work.

Wm. S. Carter is the Constitutional Reform candidate in Hyde county. - The gay and festive Estes now shippeh peaches from Halifax county to the Northern markets. - Gen. J. M. Leach made a telling speech in Alamance county, a few days since, in favor of Convention.

The Newbern Times always has a local when there is a big fire in Newbern. It's a first rate fire paper. - The "pocket soda fountain" has reached Salem. It is going to get one of 'em to make his fire sparkling. - John Schenck, col., of Charlotte, has been appointed mail agent on the Atlantic, Tennessee & Ohio Railroad.

The Grand Jury in Alamance county were busy last week finding true bills against Holden, Kirk, Burgin and others of that estimable crew. - The Busbee of the Carolina Error is buzzing terrifically against Convention. But there ain't much sting to that bee.

Nat. Atkinson, of the Asheville Citizen, is threatening his subscribers with the "red cross mark." This is a species of Ku Kluxery that ought not to be tolerated. - The devil of the Washington (N. C.) Express has been playing the "devil" in his court report. He put Allen Grist, Esq., a prominent citizen, in the penitentiary for ten years, when it should have been Alexander Grist, col.

Hon. W. N. H. Smith, now a resident of Norfolk, says nothing but a Convention can save the people of North Carolina from the impending ruin which Radicalism has brought upon the State. If he were a citizen of North Carolina he would advocate and vote for Convention.

VALUABLE HINTS. A regular habit of body is absolutely essential to physical health and clearness of intellect. Nor is this all. Beauty of person cannot exist with a morbid condition of the bowels. A free passage of the refuse matter of the system through these natural waste pipes, is as necessary to the purity of the body as the free passage of the vital air through the lungs is necessary to the health of its inhabitants.

Indigestion is the primary cause of most of the diseases of the discharging organs, and one of the most common results is constipation. This complaint, besides being dangerous in itself, has many disagreeable concomitants - such as an unpleasant breath, a swollen skin, contaminating blood and bile, hemorrhoids, headache, loss of memory and general debility.

Hoster's Stomach Bitters remove all these evils by removing their immediate cause in the digestive organs, and regulating the action of the intestines. The combination of properties in this celebrated preparation is one of its chief merits. It is not merely a stimulant or a tonic, or an antispasmodic, or a nervine, or a blood purifier, or a cathartic, but all these curative elements judiciously blended in one powerful restorative. It leads activity and vigor to the inert and enervated stomach, relieves the alimentary canal of its obstructions, and gives tone to the membrane which lines it, gently stimulates the liver, braces the nerves, and checks the animal spirits. No other remedy possesses such a variety of hygienic virtues. It is to these characteristics that it owes its prestige as a household medicine. Experience has proved that it is as harmless as it is efficacious, and hence it is as popular with the weaker sex as with the stronger.

Hoster's Stomach Bitters are sold in bottles only, and the trade-mark blown in the glass and engraved on the label, in the test of genuineness. Beware of counterfeiters! June 18-30 Wm. W. E.
