Lee-Loss of Life-The Wounded, &c. Our community was considerably excited yesterday morning by the announcement, contained in a private telegram from Raleigh to a citizen of tuis place, of the explosion of the boiler of the Steamer R. E. Lse on her passage from this city to Fayetteville. The telegram gave no particulars in reference to the disaster, beyond the fact that none of the family of the gentleman the dispatch was ad- dressed to were tujured, consequently there was much anxiety manifested to get further news of the unfortunate accident. Last even- ieg Messrs. Williams & Murchison, the agents and consignees of the boat in this place, re- ceived a letter stating that the steamer ex- ploded thirteen miles below Fayetteville, at or near Thames' Landing, on Thursday morn- ing. Capt. Skinner, of the Lee, was blown into the river, but was no: thought to be seriously injured. The fireman, Wm. Gib- bons, and Alexander Jackson, the Pilot, both colored, were killed, and some of the deck hands slightly hurt. Fortunately for the survivors of this terrible disaster, the steamer Hawr happened to be near the scene at the time (just on the oppo- site side of the river) and Capt. Sam. Skinner, a bother of the Captain of the R. E. Lee, hastened to the rescue and took the passengers and cargo on board and carried them to Fay- eterile. Just as we go to press, we learn the steamer R. E. Lee bursted her boiler some miles below there this morning. We have only time for the fullowing particulars of this melancholy acci- dent: Just as we go to press, we learn the steamer R. E. C., 12th Ang., 1871. To Wm. W. Harriss, Esg., President of the Chamber of Commerce, Wilmington: Siz :- No convenient opportunity having presented itself at an earlier day, I made a visit to the public works near the New Inlet, in inompany with Major Griswold, the resident Engineer, this day. In my last report, I stated that "about one hundreed lineal feet of cribs had been placed in position upon the old stone foundation, and partially filled in with stone." It tow becomes my pleasant task to report the placing of the foundation of cribs up to the first channel, through the line of the old stopework, a uperstructure. The channel above alluded to, which, at the proport, about one hundred and thirty feet of which is complete, with the finishing su- prestructure. The channel above alluded to, which, at the schemet may be attributed, I think, to the contraction of the opening through which the schemet may be attributed. I think, to the contraction of the opening through which is not wide, is now being bedded with stones, prepa- tory to placing the foundation cribs across t. This unexpected extra work has somewhat the and previously passed, concentrating it upon this point. This channel, which is not wide, is now being bedded with stones, prepa- tory to placing the foundation cribs across t. The trush fence, for collecting sand upon the bow parts of the beach, is acting fluely, and has already elevated the surface above torm tides wherever they have been placed. are, of Robeson, on our streets vesterday. He looks every inch a soldier and is just the man to cope with such fellows as Lowrey and his gang, even in their swampy fastnesses. provided he has the proper support.

Qualified.

Several of the newly elected Magistrates appeared before Maj. J. C. Mann, Judge of Pro bate, yesterday afternoon, were duly qualified and will enter upon the discharge of their duties. The other township officers will qualify before the Board of County Commissioners on the 1st Monday in September.

Superior Court.

The Superior Court finished up the State docket yesterday. Nothing of interest transpired, however, beyond passing judgment in a few cases previously tried. It is understood that Court will meet at the usual hour this morning and then take a recess until Monday. when the civil docket will be taken up.

Auction Business.

Attention is called to the card of S. R. Bunt ing, Esq., who, in connection with E. H. McQuigg, Esq., will conduct the auction business. Their office, antil the 1st of October, will be at the old stand of the late S. M. West, on South Water street. Both of these gentlem en are well known in this eity and county, and we have no doubt will do a fine business.

Re-arrested.

George Sinclair, the reputed agent of "Prof. McAllister's European Combination Troupe," who was tried before the Superior Court on Wednesday last on the charge of swindling, and who was acquitted on account of some legal quibble, was re-arrested yesterday on bench warrant issued upon the affidavit of Mr. Charles M. Kusel, of Augusta, Ga., and remanded to jail to await a requisition from that State.

Appointment.

Capt. E. S. Woodford, of this city, has received the appointment, from the Commissioner of Internal Revenue at Washington, o Surveyor of Distillerics and Supervisor of Revenue for the State of North Carolina, and has entered upon the duties of his office.

We learn that the appointment was first tendered to W. P. Cannaday, Esq., our City Marshal, but that he declined in favor of Capt-W., who will doubtless make an efficient and 120 2038 energetic officer.

Robeson Affairs. Adjutant General Gorman arrived in this city yesterday from Robeson county, where he has been to look after Lowery and his gang. At Lumberton and elsewhere in the county he consulted with the citizens as to the best means to be adopted to effect the capture or extermination of the ontlaws. He finally proposed a plan of his own, which met with gen eral favor and will be put into execution at the earliest practicable moment. This plan, so far as it is prudent to divulge it, is as follows Gen. Gorman has commissioned Capt. F. M. Wishart, in whom he seems to have the utmost confidence, as Colonel of the 59th Regiment of Militia, and directed him to raise a company of fifty men by voluntary enlistment, to be composed of persons of the requisite perve and determination to enable them to go into the field with the resolution to remain there until the object of their mission shall be accomplished. In addition to these fifty volunteers there will be sent to the county a company of fifty United States troops, who will co operate with them. Gen. Gorman thinks a hundred men amply sufficient to rid the coun- cy for communication between people of all ty of the outlaws, and calculated to be muchmore effectual than a larger force. Gen. Gorman starts for his home in Raleigh

A Lively Corpse.

The liveliest corpse we have seen for many a day is Joe Lucas, whom we reported dead. killed, murdered, assassinated and "shot to death with musketry," in the STAR of yesterday. Joe walked into our office about 9 A. M. and, as we said before, he was remarkably lively for a corpse. He had a broad grin on his face, an enormous bucket on each arm, which he "flopped" energetically after the manner of a vulture's wings, and a pair of legs swung on to his hips which he moved about with comparative ease. If dead, the boy evidently wasn't cold. He Lucas in de eye and he say: "What for you kill me last night; I was at a weddin'; I ain't dead, is I?" After surveying him from head to heels, and feeling his pulse, we told him we couldn't say positively that he was; and we think it best to give Joseph the benefit of the doubt.

Arrest and Confinement of a Deserter.

A deserter from the U.S. Army was brought to this city yesterday, by Capt. F. M. Wishart, of Robeson county, and turned over to Deputy U.S. Marshal Neff, by whom he was lodged in jail for safe-keeping until he can be taken to Fort Johnson. The man's name is Theade Daily, and he is said to have deserted from David's Island, New York, in 1868. He was arrested by Capt. Wishart some days since at Scuffletown, it being Capt. W.'s impression that he was endeavoring to connect himself with Lowrey's gang. He was taken to Lumberton and put in jail. It was some time before he would give any account of himself, and it was only by strategy that Captain Wishart got an inkling of his history. He h s since confessed, not only to having twice deserted from the army, but that he has been guilty of other offences.

A Handsome Contribution.

We learn from the Greensboro' Patriot that the Eclectic Club of that city, in response to a communication of the secretary of the Ladies' Memorial Association of Wilmington, contributed the sum of fifty dollars ($50) for the purpose of disinterring and removing to this State the Confederate dead at Gettysburg. House wat the state to be build Advertising for the People.

The cause of the accident cannot be accounted for, as the fireman attests that the glass on the boiler indicated 8 inches water on the crown sheet.

A colored woman is injured seriously. Mr. Wilson, formerly a citizen of Fayetteville, in company with his daughter, was slightly injured, but his daughter and family, Mrs. Vanorsdell, are not hurt.

The dead and wounded are on the way up on board of the Hurt. The boiler went up and fell back on the upper cabin nearly demolish-ing the whole upper works, and then fell off into the river. The hull of the boat is not injured at all. All goods on board are safe.

We shall probably be enabled to give further particulars of the disaster in our next.

The beach, two to five miles south of the works, appears in a critical condition, in some places quite narrow, and cut out in trenches between the hills, by the force of prevailing winds, and the water during very high tides finds passage across, and if long neglected the result is plain, without the gift of prophecy.

This condition of the beach may probably be attributable to the concentration of wind currents in their passage south and west over the open bay lying between Smith's Island and the main land; and which has likewise had the effect (most probably) of producing a curvature in the coast line, which can only be checked by the cultivation of shrubbery for strengthening the beach.

It is perceptible that the volume of water passing out of the main or old outlet of the iver, between Smith's Island and Oak Island, has been largely increased since the commencement of operations near New Inlet, and which seems to take the direction of the old eastern channel, near Bald head Point, where it is spread over various shoals, which may require dredging or plowing to concentrate the water into a defined channel, which, no doubt, it
