"bruisers."

A white man from Bladen county, by the name of Hayes, who was found very sick on a rait at one of the wharves of this city on Saturday evening last, and taken to the City Hospital, died in that institution on Sunday morning. Coroner Hewlett was notified and held an inquest over the body yesterday, but we have not been informed of the nature of the verdict. It is the general impression, however, that he died from exposure.

A Failure.

The colored excursion which was to have taken place yesterday, on the Waccamaw proved a "flash in the pan." This is attributed to the fear entertained by some of the expected participants that the "tidal wave" might possibly anticipate the period fixed for its appearance by Proi. Agassiz and overwhelm then before they could return. How far this may be true we are not prepared to say. We only know there was no excursion, and Capt. Potter can bear us out in this as-

Parties in South Carolina and the country immediately around Robeson County, should be on the look out for these outlaws, as they frequently leave their haunts singly, for purposes of their own; and it is possible that they may attempt to fiee the county. It is also possible that they may attempt to disguise themselves to elude the vigilance of the law.

WILMINGTON, N. C., SUNDAY, SEPT. 24, 1871.

From Charleston.

The News of yesterday morning says:

"The number of deaths from vellow fever, during the past week, as shown by the daily reports of the city registrar, is 26, viz: Mouday's report 1, Tuesday's report 1, Wednesday's report 3, Thursday's report 4, Friday's report 8, Saturday's report 4, Sunday's report 5. These deaths occurred on the following days: On Sunday 1, on Tuesday 5, on Wednes-- The dry goods merchants are making fine day 8, on Thursday 5, on Friday 4, and on Saturday 3; total 26. These figures show that the beaviest mortality, as was expected to be the case, was immediately after the sudden change in the weather from sultry warmth to damp coolness. In our last weekly report we showed that the number of deaths up to the 16th inst (including the death on that day re- Life Insurance Comp'y ported by the registrar on Sunday), was 56. Adding the subsequent deaths to date, we have a total of 82 deaths this year, against 464 for the corresponding period in 1858, 96 in 1856, and 365 in 1854."

The city registrar reports 5 deaths from the prevailing disease for the twenty-four hours ending at 12 M, on Sunday, and our press telegram last night reports 5 for the twenty-four hours next ensuing.

the U.S. District Court-Trial of th Biggerstaff Cases. &c.

[Special Dispatch to the Petersburg Index.]

RALEIGH, N. C., Sept. 23, 1871. Last night the court sat until rather a late hour, and one of the Biggerstaff cases was dispossed of. It was an indictment against J. H. Witherlow, Wm. McIntire, W. Teal, Jas. Hunt, and Thos. Tomes, for waylaying Aaron Biggerstaff, and assaulting him while on his way to testify as a witness, under process of law before a United States Commissioner. The 2nd count, charge of conspiracy to intimidate Baggerstaff away from his political principles, about the first of May last in Cleveland county. The District Attorney, Starbuck, and Assistant District Attorney, S. F. Phillips, and Lusk prosecuted, and Messrs. Strong, Lee, Durbam and Carson

J. H. Witherlow, Wm. McIntire and W. Teal pleaded guilty and the remaining two, Jas. Hunt and Thomas Tomes, were cleared on their evidence, as they all testified that Hunt and James were not on the raid on Biggerstaff. Biggerstaff, his wife and daughter all swore directly contrary, saying that they recognized them both. Both Hunt and Tomes were discharged from custody. McIntire and Teal are both under sentence, having been 30 HHDS. BACON SIDES convicted in the Justice case.

This morning another case of Biggerstaff was taken up, charging Amos Owen, who was convicted and sentenced in the Justice case and some 20 others with assault upon him for voting for the Republican candidate for Congress, in 1870, in that district. At this hour, 6 P. M., only two witnesses have been examined.
