WM. H. BERNARD Editor and Proprietor.

THE CIRCULATION OF THE MORN-ING STAR IS LARGER THAN THAT OF ANY OTHER DAILY NEWSPAPER PUB-LISHED IN NORTH CAROLINA.

THE LABOR MOVEMENT.

Mr. Hear's bill to appoint a commission to investigate and report upon the status of labor in this country, introduced into Congress on the eve of adjournment for the holidays, and which we hope will be favorably acted upon when that body reconvenes, is what is demanded by the importance in the social and political with attentions from her aristocratic lady economy than ever before.

This bill proposes to establish a com mission composed of practical men of enquiring minds who are acquainted with the needs of the workingmen and with the present relations existing between apital and labor. It will ascertain what it is that capital withholds from labor that labor should have to make it satis-fied, and at the same time not to infringe on the natural rights of capital. Organized for work and not for speculation, such a commission could not fail to do faithful and useful service. But we must confess we have little faith in Congress and the President giving moral aid and encouragement to further it in its wise and beneficent ends. A corrupt Administration and a partisan Congress, both linked inseparably with monopolist rings and combinations, afford the least possible hope of ameliorating the condition of a class antagonistic to their own corrupt interests. Still we may be mistaken, and the Commission once appointed may make such revelations that the powers-to-be will be forced to take appropriate action thereon. It will be remembered that there was once a Commission to perform the labor proposed in Mr. Hoar's bill, and that he was dismissed at the clamor of some manufacturers whom his reports had offended. It is to be hoped that undue influences of the same kind will not be exerted, or if exerted, will be ineffectual to abolish this Commission if it should ever be appointed. Such a Commission should be untrammeled and in no danger of a sudden termination being put to its life by caprice or by corrupt influences being brought to

What are the purposes of the creation of such a commission? Labor reform as a term has been worn so threadbare by such agitators and political mountebanks as Wendell Phillips in this country and Adger and Louis Blanc in Europe-empty theorists and mad revolutionists—that thinking sober men are apt to examine every new idea and novel movement professing to emanate from the people, to see if it is genuine coin from the mint. All are not Israel that are of Israel-neither is every glittering thing gold. The workingmen, like the women agitators, have chosen indiscreet men-nay more, lunatics, dolts and "dead beats" to champion their interests. No wonder these interests from year to year have been mismanaged. Wild sentimentalists have ridden into notoriety on the so-called platform of the Labor Reformers, while the thing itself for which they have so vociferously clamored has been covered up in a cloud of obscure phrases of sound and fury signifying nothing. It ought to be the work of those who hereafter claim to represent the interests of the laboring classes to set forth some definite plan of action, to specify what it is that the working men ought to have and the shortest way to obtain that particular thing. There has been enough demagogical gabble about "rights," "emancipation," etc. Let us have a fair open statement and no more clap trap. The intelligent; working men demand this.

Miss Nilsson's Mad Lover.

Mile. Christina Nilsson's crazy lover Charles Busch, who was sent to Black well's Island, for presenting the fair prima donna with his unwelcome attentions, was released from custody on Thursday, Mile. Nilsson prosecuted him personally, on the first offence, in the Essex Market Police Court. -His defence was that he was madly in love with her, and could not resist making the attempt to tell her so. Yesterday Busch made an effort to renew his attentions. Slipping in the Clarendon Hotel unnoticed, the poor musician made his way to Mile, Nilsson's room (No. 21) on the third floor. Before he could gain admission several waiters laid violent hands on Busch, and hustled him down stairs and into the street. Busch walked a block or two and then returned to the hotel. Again he slipped up stairs to room 21, where Mile. Nilsson was quietly reading. Two waiters attempted to remove him, but he made a violent resistance and tore their jackets into tatters. A reinforcement presently arrived, and Busch was again hustled down stairs and given in charge of a policeman, who took him to the Essex Market Court.

During the temporary absence of Justice Scott, a reporter found Busch sitting in a side room. He had an old opera programme in his hands, upon which was printed a likeness of Miss Nilsson. He was most intensely studying the programme. In answer to questions of the reporter, he said that he loved Miss Nilsson and that she loved him. "I saw her for the first time," he said, "in the Academy of Music, and fell deeply in love with her then and there, and shall continue to love her to my dying day." Busch has been sentenced to a lunatic asylum, medical testimony of his insanity having been submitted.

General Lee's Birthday.

We are glad to learn that this day, which must be held forever sacred by every true man, will be appropriately celebrated, at Lexington. The Gazette

On the 19th of January, the anniversary of the birthday of General R. E. Lee, General Jubal A. Early, we are plased to learn, will deliver a Memorial Address at Washington and Lee University. No selection could have been more agreeable to our people on this occasion than that of General Early, and no man, in all the faithful host that followed Lee, could do better justice to the subject. General Early was among the most distinguished of the Confederate officers, and since the war his course has commanded the respect of the Southern people. We bespeak for him on the occasion a large audience of true men from far and near. He says himself, in his letter of acceptance: "I hope to meet as many of the boys at Lexington as can conviently get there, for I want to say a few words to them especially." Let us pass it round; our people will be glad to see as many of the boys as can come.

The Year's Dead.

Of the men and women distinguished in the ranks of science, art, literature, and public life, who have passed away during the year that is now hard on to its last days, there are not a few whose names recur at this time. Science has lost the inestimable services of Herschell, Murchison, Helbrook, Becquerel, Babbage, and De Morgan; the names of the Cary sisters, Tuckerman, Grote, Gervinus, Dumas, Kohl and De Gasparin are in the list of popular authors whom the year has taken; Von Hess and Aligny have disappeared from 23rd there were 23 deaths in Charleston. among the artists; Prim, Omer Pasha and Schamyl are gone from the ranks of vailed in Charleston harbor for several days past, causing the detention of vessels.

A Newark Burglar Killed by a Spring

About 3 P. M., yesterday, Geo. Parker went to his brass foundry, No. 28 River street, Newark, N. J., and saw that the front door had been broken open, apparently by burglars. He immediately informed the police, and detectives were sent to investigate the case. On entering the establishment a bundle of plunder was found, and the dead body of a burglar beside it upon the floor. Several robberies had been perpetrated at this foundry previously, and the proprietor had arranged a spring gun with a string attached to the trigger passing along one side of the building. The burglar in searching for plunder had evidently come in contact with the string, and received the contents of the gun in his left loin. His name is William Healey, a notorious thief, who had served terms in the State prison and in the county jail. He lived within a few doors of the foundry .- N. Y. Tribune, Dec. 25.

There should be some means of stopping this practice of stirring up bitter blood between the whites and blacks just about election times. fruits are being seen in the recent Ku Klux raids in Arkansas and Texas, and have already attracted the attention of the local as well as national authorities .- N. Y. Herald.

The Governor-Elect of Georgia. Hon. James M. Smith, elected Governor of Georgia on Tuesday last without opposition, to fill out the unexpired term of R. B. Bullock, fugitive from justice, is a native of the State, of about middle age, a lawyer by profession, and a lifetime Democrat. At the outbreak of the war he opposed secession, but upon the actual clash of arms "went with his State," served as a Colonel of the Twelfth Georgia infantry until disabled at the head of his regiment, and was then elected to the Confederate Congress, holding his seat therein until the close of the war. He then resumed the practice of his profession, and has not appeared in politics un-til now. At the time of his election he was Speaker of the House of Representatives, having been returned to the Legislature at the election of last winter, when Georgia was declared finally recon-

A Louisville Rape of the Lock. An affecting story comes from Louisville to the following effect: Two beautiful young ladies, of aristocratic appearance were standing on the corner of Broadway and Fourth street about 3 o'clock Friday afternoon, waiting for a car. One was on a shopping expedition; the other waiting to see her off. The car came up and stopped for the passenger, who turned to her friend to give the usual goodbye kiss, when by some means her arms became entangled in the curls of her friend, and just as she was tearing herself away down mass of rich and shining curls and crimps at their feet, and revealing a head of short, dark hair, rolled up in a little knot behind, and arranged to accommodate the deceptive wig.

Another invention of a flying machine was exhibited by a Philadelphia mechanic at a late meeting of the Franklin Institute in that city. The main features of the air-ship are a cigar-shaped float, made of oil silk, which is intended to be inflated with hydrogen gas; eight fans, four on each side, worked by an ingenious machinery, which propel the craft through the air; an enclosed car for the operators and passengers, and a steering apparatus whereby the machine can be guided in any direction. The float, when inflated, will last for twenty-four hours, and no ballast or rudder is required. "The model," says a Philadelphia journal, "works well, and it seems to be the most feasible plan thus far advanced for navigating the air."

Shooing Away a Tinker.

The Indianapolis News says: A lady in town not a thousand miles away was considerably annoyed by hens, who pecked the loose plastering from the wall. So one morning, while washing dishes, she thought she heard her fowls picking away as usual, and, dish cloth in hand, she hastened to open the door, and giving her rag a warlike flourish she uttered a tremendous " Shoo!"

Imagine her dismay at beholding, not the hens, but a stranger, who, after wiping from his face the drops of dishwater with which he had been sprinkled, said in a perfectly calm voice, "Well, mum, if you've got any more spare rags, I should like to sell you some tinware for 'em."

A good story is told of a man who went General Confmission Merchants and for the first time to a bowling alley, and kept driving away at the pins, to the imminent peril of the boy, who, so far from having anything to do in "setting up" the pins, was actively at work in an endeavor to avoid the ball of the player, which rattled on all sides of the pins without touching them. At length the fellow, seeing the predicament the boy was in, yelled out, as he let drive another ball, "Stand in amongst the pins, boy, if you don't want to get hurt."

THE GREAT PICTORIAL ANNUAL. Hostetter's United States Almanac for 1872, for distribution, grats, throughout the United States, and all civilized countries of the Western Hemisphere, is now published and ready for delivery, in the English, German, French, Norwegian, Welsh, Swedish, Holland, Bohemian and Spanish languages, and all who wish to understand the true philesophy of health should read and ponder the valuable suggestions it contains. In addition to an admirable medical treatise on the causes, prevention and cure of a great variety of diseases, it embraces a large amount of information interesting to the merchant, the mechanic, the miner, the farmer, the planter, and professional man; and the calculations have been made for such meridians and lattitudes as are most suitable for a correct and comprehensive NATIONAL CALENDAR.

The nature, uses, and extraordinary sanitary effects of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the staple tonic and alterative of more than half the Christian world, are fully set forth in its pages, which are also interspersed with pictorial illustrations, valuable recipes for the household and farm, humorous anecdotes, and other instructive and amusing reading matter, original and selected: Among the Annuals to appear with the opening of the year, this will be one of the most useful, and may be had for the asking. The proprietors, Messrs. Hostetter & Smith, Pittsburg, Pa., on receipt of a two cent stamp, will forward a copy by mail to any person who cannot procure one in his neighborhood. The Bitters are sold in every city, town and village, and are extensively used throughout the entire civilized world. [dec 24-eodiw-Sun Wen Fri

NATTANS CRYSTAL DISCOVERY FOR THE HAIR.

Arthur Nattans, Inventor and Proprietor

Washington, D. C.

A PERPECTLY CLEAR PREPARATION in one bottle, as easily applied as water, for restoring Gray Hair to its natural color and youthild appearance, to eradicate and prevent dandrum, to promote the growth of the Hair and stop its falling out. It is entirely harmless and perfectly free from any poisonous substance, and will therefore take the place of all the dirty and unpleasant preparations now in use. Numerous testimonials have been sent us from many of our most prominent citizens. In everything in which the articles now in use are objectionable, Crystal Discovery is perfect. It is warranted to contain neither Sugar of Lead, Sulphur or Nitrate of Silver, it does not soil the clothes or scalp, is agreeably perfumed and makes one of the best dressings for the Hair in use. It restores the color of the Hair "more perfect and uniformly than any other preparation," and always does so in from three to ten days, virtually feeding the roots of the Hair with all the nourishing qualities necessary to its growth and healthy condition; it restores the decayed and induces a new growth of the Hair more positively than anything else. The application of this wonderful discovery also produces a pleasant and cooling effect on the scalp and gives the Hair a pleasing appearance.

We call especial attention to the fact that a limited number of small trial bottles can be had by those wishing to try it. You will notice that in pursuing this course our aim is to convince by the actual merits of the article.
