THE CAUSE OF THE CONSTERNA-Fwon alone

When the Alabama Treaty was ratified it was understood that the board of arbitrators appointed under the treaty to sit at Geneva should consider separately and decide the claims for damages inflicted by. each cruiser that was fitted out in British ports. Now in the American "case" or side are presented certain indirect and inferential damages, as the loss sustained by transferring American shipping to foreign owners, and the cost of the conduct of the war after the battle or Gettysburg, when Confederate offensive warfare on a large scale ceased. These constructive damages are incompatible with the first understanding of the treaty, and under the provision appointing a board of assessors seems inconsistent with the duties of that board. This board's business is to ascertain the particular losses inflicted by each Confederate cruiser and not to estimate the damages inflicted on the Government by the prolongation of the war and the losses of the commerce of the country. Such losses, in their very nature, are incapable of being estimated, were thought to have been dropped when the treaty was under serious discussion, were certainly not included in the purview of the treaty, and their being brought in to make a part of the American "case" in the settlement of these vexed claims, is preposterous and impudent. The whole affair was doubtless a trick of Grant to however, when fully known, weaken him in the popular estimation. His bluster and duplicity will not pass with the people for courage and manly patriolism. The pacific, though dignified, speech of the Queen prefigures that the policy of the English Government will not be dictated by the rash and choleric tone of the press of London. The war cloud, so we must conclude, will never get bigger than one's

THE ARLINGTON ESTATE.

Mrs. Robert E. Lee is endeavoring to recover the value of her property known as the Arlington estate from the United States government. It will be remembered that the property was sold at a public sale for taxes, and that the Government was the purchaser. Mrs. Lee tendered the amount of taxes due, but this was re-

The claim of the distinguished lady is eminently just, as there are irregularities in the manner by which the Government acquired the property. It is claimed that payment of the taxes was tendered and refused, in the first place; in the second, that the whole property was sold for the payment of a tax of $92, whereas the law required that only enough should be sold to pay the tax. The Judiciary Committee will shortly consider this claim, and will, we hope, report favroably upon it. The amount of compensation asked-$300,000 -by some is deemed inadequate to cover Mrs. Lee's loss.

The bill of Mr. Hoar of Massa chusetts providing for a national educational system is a deadly thrust, at the few remaining rights of the States. The bill would very soon put all the public schools in the land mider the control of the Federal Government, and thus the individual and local liberties of the States would be subordinated to a great central tyranny and a mighty swarm of new office holders be added to the Egyptian locusts that already sufficiently devour our substance. We hope the little sense left in the National Legislature will save the country the mortification of the passage of this bill, and the injury as well.

In the discussion of Hoar's educational hill in the House the other day the criminal records of Massachusetts in the hands of Southern members were serviceable in answering Yanker charges upon the South of "illiteracy.". These Northern upstarts seem to lorget that Southern brains moulded the States and the country, and will yet save them from the educated dolts who rashly run the Governmental macaprice or vent a spite are A-Tao

THE SPECK OF WAR. What the Treaty Says.

The following are the portions of the treaty which relate to points in dispute:

"Whereas differences have arisen between the government of the United States and the government of her Britannic Majesty, and still existing, growing out of the acts committed by the several vessels which have given rise to the claims. generally known as the Alabama claims;

"Whereas her Britannic Majesty has authorized her high commissioners and plenipotentiaries to express, in a friendly spirit, the regret felt by her Majesty's government for the escape, under whatever circumstances, of the Alabama and other vessels from British ports, and the depredations committed by those vessels;

" Now, in order to remove and adjust all complaints and claims on the part of the United States, and to provide for the speedy settlement of such claims which are not admitted by her Britannie Majesty's government, the high contracting parties agree that all the said claims growing out of acts committed by the aforesaid vessels, and generally known as the 'Alabama claims,' shall be referred to a tribunal of arbitration, to be composed of five arbitrators, * * who shall proceed impartfally and carefully to examine and decide all questions that shall be laid before them on the part of the 'respective governments."

An important convention, composed of of the United States, is to be held in St. Louis next June, for the purpose of dis-cussing the question whether railroads of this description will answer the purpose of roads of wider guage, and generally of ascertaining their cost, the expense of operating them and keeping them in repair, the relations of their freight capacity to the demands of the country, their safety and accommodation as respects passenger traffic, and what general system ought to be adopted in their construction and management. The convention, it is said, will be attended by the most eminent civil engineers and railroad builders of the country, and may perhaps result in a new departure in its railway history.

The woman preacher who has created such a sensation in the Brooklyn Presbytery is a member of the Society of Friends. She is a maiden lady, and her name is Sarah F. Smiley, a native of Philadelphia, aged about 30 years. She started out as a preacher about four years ago, under the auspices of the Society of Friends. In 1869 she visited Great Britain and held meetings in the Oakley Islands and in Scotland, where she preached in the Presbyterian, Methodist and Baptist Churches. In Brooklyn she has appeared in Dr. Cuyler's, Presbyterian; Dr. Buddington's, Congregational; Mr. Meredith's, and Mr. Pentecost's, Methodist, Churches.

Her appearance has excited some doubts among the Presbyterians as to the propriety of permitting a weman to teach intheir pulpits, and hence the excitement in the Brooklyn Presbytery.-Balt. Sun.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Guard Your Health and Life. How inconsistent is human nature. Men earry revolvers to protect themselves against ufflans in well polished cities, where the precaution is unnecessary, often neglect to fortify their systems against disease in the most unhealthy seasons. Thousands of dyspeptics and other invalids are now languishing in sick rooms, or feebly and listlessly moving through our streets, who owe their forlorn condition solely to a want of common prudence. Far more inimical than the roughs and rowdies, against whose possible attacks the timid arm themselves, are the morbid el duties.
