THE SITUATION IN SAMPSON. In the high handed arrests by Federal military of prominent citizens of Sampson county, we have another illustration of how the Government respects the rights of the citizen and the civil liberties of the land. We have declared to us in bold unmistakable acts, more direct and posi tive than mere words, the deliberate pur pose of the Administration to wrench, by violence and wrong, from the people of the States the last vestige and remnant of freedom they enjoy. When the bayonet takes the place of law, when the Constitution is set at defiance and mocked, when soldiers tramp over the country and make arrests, and no man who does not happen to be a great Radical is safe to remain at home with his family and quietly attend to his business, then we say the iron has entered into the soul of our institutions, and the blackness of night covers like a pall the face of our political skies. Truly, we have a mild and patriarchal government, and wise, liberal and statesmanlike public servants! Truly, a Republic with such a President as Grant, and such a Congress as the present one; a Republic whose laws are made and administered by bribetakers and corruptionists; a Republic where military rule supersedes the forms of civil law, and the Constitution is the play thing of partisans, where it is a crime to know the ways of the dominant party and teach men not to follow therein, where a premium is put upon ignorance, venalisuch a Republic is a fine thing for a young | destroying the following with their carand thriving nation, a fine thing for a moral, Christian people, a very fine thing Abeona, also seriously damaging the imfor the land of Washington, Jefferson and

The Ku Klux Act, under which these outrages are committed, is a direct contravention of the Constitution, does a violence to the free-thought and free-spirit of our people, is a gross usurpation and a monstrous despotism, and is the most grievous wrong ever inflicted by a Government upon its own citizens. This act of tyranny strikes a blow at the very root of our system, and undermines the liberty of the people. Under the insidious guise of protecting one class, it strikes a death blow at the rights of another. The slumbering fires of sectional prejudice are aroused, and the passions of the days of fratricidal war are stirred, that a selffish, corrupt party may retain its power and spoils .-Can such flagrant outrages be committed under a Republican Goverement? asks the friend of our system abroad. It really seems difficult of conception how such crimes against liberty can be perpetrated in the United States, and the heavens not fall. But the student of our political history since the war has had opportunities to ascertain the tendency of the Government towards centralism, and how repid are the strides to monarchy and absolutism.

The hypocrisy of the Federal government in its treatment of the South is apparent in this very reign of terror in Sampson. Federal soldiers harry this good and peaceable county, arrest its prominent citizens without cause, and throw the people into a state of profound consternation, while Henry Berry Lowrey and his bloodthirsty gang go at large in Robeson county. murdering and robbing with impunity, and the "best government the world ever saw " looks on complacently and thinks it is all right, because it is unreconstructed rebels who are thus killed and outraged. It makes a difference whose ox is gored. Lowrey is loyal, but the Democrats of ampson must be branded as Ku Klux for their obstinate refusal to become the henchmen of Grant, Hence, Sampson is run over and the crimes of the Robeson outlaws are winked at. Time was when it was impossible for a Federal administration to do a gross wrong, like this, against the majesty of the States. No President ever dared to even enforce an et of Congress in gross infringement of the Constitution and the rights and liberties of citizens, and no Congress would attempt such a stupendous wrong and crime as this military possession and terrorism. But the Radical party, with its loose ideas about Constitutional construction and looser morals and easy conscience, carries its harsh mandates into effect by the copious use of blue coats and bayonets. May the good fates send us a speedy rowed in the sides of their hills, and free as the breezes from the salt sea that played over their green and lovely isles. Ossian in his barbaric opics sings their hardy valor and chivalrous honor. Of all these bold islanders, the merry blue-eyed sons of Erin had most of the "milk of human kindness," were aptest disciples of the new creed of Nazareth, that noiselessly worked its way along in the bluster and whirl of a revolutionary age.

Patrick is said to have builded his house upon this amiable rock; and to have erected thereon a structure that stands the storms of the centuries. Learned in all the lore of his time, and the learning of that period was all possessed by the clergy, Priest Patrick lett his home and labors in his own country, Scotland, and burning with the holy zeal of his order for the heathen people of the Emerald Isle across the channel, went over and ministered unto them of the good things in his heart and mind. So successful was his mission, that all Ireland heeded his preaching, and was converted to the Christian faith, Th Scottish missionary was canonized, and was ever after regarded as the patron saint of the island. He was a pure true and holy man, and the Celts whom he civilized and led in the ways of religious life were right in blessing his memory. The anniversary of his birth day which falls under the Gregorian calendar, on the 17th of the present month, is sacredly kept by Irishmen all over the world. The Irish in this country have been accustomed to make it a grand day of parade and jollification. Great preparations to make the approaching one unusually splendid are going on in all the large cities, and even in the smaller towns the jolly sons of Erin are at work to give eclat to the occasion. It will no doubt be much enjoyed by our Hibernian triends.

THE FIRE FIEND.

Burning of Six Steamers at Cincinnati -Na:row Escape from the Flames. III 879 II TCINCINNATI, March 7.

Shortly after midnight a fire broke out ty, corruption and shame, we say truly among the steamers at the wharf, totally goes: Champion, Argosy, St. Charles, Kate Robinson, Major Anderson and the mense New Orleans wharf boat. The fire originated aft in the St. Charles, but how, is not known. The Captain and some others on the St. Charles, jumped overboard and swam ashore. The fire spread up and down the stream rapidly. The Champion was loading for Red river, and had nearly a full cargo aboard. The Kate Robinson was loading for Tennessee river. The Major Anderson was a sidewbeel Wheeling packet. The Argosy had 200 barrels of whisky on board for New Or eans. The boat was not insured. The hull of the Belle Vernon, recently sunk by the ice, was also burned. Loss on boats and cargo will reach fully $250,000. Twenty five bales of cotten and a number of queensware on the levee were also

The people or board the steamboat St. Charles had barely time to escape from the flames by jumping overboard. A large amount of cotton and other treight on the whart caught fire and burned fiercely for a time, but the flames were finally extinguished. The steamer Abeona was sold yesterday for $8,000, to be delivered as soon as the cargo could be discharged. The cargo is estimated to have been worth $75,006, and was insured in Ciacinnata and elsewhere. The Kate Robinson was to sail for Tennessee river to-day. was valued at $10,000 uninsured. He cargo was valued at $15,000. The St. Charles was valued at $20,000 insured for $15,000 in Cincinnati companies. The freight on board was valued at about $3,-000. The Argasy was valued at $7,000. She had one hundred tons of freight for New Orleans, including two hundred barrels of whisky. The loss on her cargo is estimated at $60,000. The Champion was loaded for Shreveport. She was not entirely consumed, but was uninsured. Cap tains Williamson and Isham are the heavel iest losers. They owned three of the missing, and it is supposed were drowned.

The Methodist Conference in Warren ton-Case of Dr. Huston, &c.

WARRENTON, Va., March 7. The Baltimore Conference of the M. E Church South, holding its annual session here, is presided over by Bishop Paine, of Mississippi. It embraces within its boundaries Maryland, the Territory of Columbia, the northern portion of Virginia and part of West Virginia. The proceedings yesterday and to-day were mainly of examination of the characters of ministers. All the Maryland ministers passed sucwas not called. Pending the examination of the ministers of the Washington district the Conference adjourned until to

Rev. Dr. Huston arrived at the Warrenton House this morning, and visited the Conference during its session. His arrival was heralded in the town immediately afterwards, and much curiosity was manifested to get a look at him by persons who never saw him. When charged with the crime be sent in his withdrawal to his presiding elder, but since his arrival-here he has revoked his withdrawal. His case comes up to morrow in the Conference. Great interest is manifested in the issue.

Value of the Signal Service.

The Gloucester Advertiser says: " Not ong since, on a perfectly calm day, with a clear sky, about fifty vessels were seen lying at anchor in our harbors, on account a coming storm predicted by the weather bureau. How many lives were saved by this single prediction it is impossible to say, but one such occurrance alone is sufficient to justify all the expense the Government has incurred in establish ing and maintaining the service. It has been clearly shown that, if we had had cable communication with the Island of St. Thomas and a signal station there, we should have known of the cyclone's recent visit to the Florida coast three days in advance of its coming, and most of the the vessels which encountered it would have taken refuge in time in some harbor. The service, as it is already organized, is of incalculable advantage to farmers and seafares."

A Singular Phenomenov. On Tuesday evening, the 27th, a little after dark, the singular phenomenon of rain from a cloudless sky was witnessed in various parts of the county. The evening was warm and there had been considerable thunder around the mountains during the forenoon. Between 7 and 8 o'clock there was a pattering, little shower whilst the stars were shining and no clouds visible. When first informed of it we thought it a mistake, but getting the same report from other persons fiving at a distance of save-ral miles, we were convinced of its fruth. Will some of our meteorologists explain it? It the weather gets to such freaks as this "weather probability men" might as well quit.—Rackbridge (Va.) Citizen.
