The Conservative City Executive Committee will meet at the office of Col. J. W. Atkinson, over Messrs. Cronly & Morriss' Salesrooms. on North Water street, this (Friday) evening, at 8 o'clock.

The Oldest Mason.

Mr. Joseph Arey, a well known citizen of Fayetteville, died on the 4th lost., aged 82 years. Mr. Arey was a Mason of 58 years standing, having become member of the Order in 1813. He was, therefore, at the time of his death, the oldest living Mason we have yet heard of, Mr. Math. P. Mayes, of Mayesville, S. C., having became a member in 1816, and and Mr. John Dove, of Richmond, in 1814.

The Proposed Railroad.

The friends of the movement for the build ing of the proposed railroad from this city to Wrightsville Sound have selected next week. it being court week, as the most proper time for holding a meeting to consult about the matter and to take the necessary steps for secaring the success of the enterprise. The time and place of meeting will be announced in due Pilots Suspended.

In one of two pilots of St. Helena and Port Royal, S. C., who have been recently suspend ed for incompetency or neglect, we recognize the name of Joseph A. Dupong, formerly of this place, and well known from his connection with Cuba affairs. The name of the other is A. H. Alston, All masters and consignees of vessels are notified by the Board of Commissioners of Pilots at Beaufort, S. C., not to employ said pilots.

The Nominees.

The Republican State Convention at Raleigh adjourned yesterday, after a rather inharmonious session, judging from the Pr. ss telegram which we publish in another column. The following comprise the additional nominees so far as we have heard at the present writing : C. H. Brogden, of Wayne, for Lieutenant Governor; W. H. Howerton, of Rowan, for Secretary of State, T. L. Hargrove, of Granville, for Attorney General, and David H. Jenkins, for Treasurer.

Bishop Gibbons.

On sunday last, as we learn from the Richmond papers, the Roman Catholic Cathedral of that city was filled-galleries and alsteswith a congregation assembled to hear a lecture on char ty by Bishop Gibbons, the proceeds of the same to be placed in the hands of the Society of St. Vincent De Paul for distribution among the poor and needy, without distinction of religious denomination. His lecture is alluded to in the highest terms of commendation by the Richmond press.

On the Look out for Him.

We notice from the Petersburg papers that the Chief of Police of that city has received a letter from mine host of the Purcell House, of this city, enclosing a bill for $37.50, against Wm. Strong, alleged to have run away from that house. This is the Individual who was here for several weeks past soliciting orders for advertising cards, adorned with attractive pictures of eminent actresses, and who finally sloped, leaving his hotel and other bills unpaid. The police of Petersburg and other cities are on the lookout for the swindler.

From the Charlotte Road.

President Martin, who has just returned second, judgment for the penalty and costs. from a brief tour of inspection on the Wilmington, Charlotte and Rutherford Railroad, informs us that the work is somewhat retarded by the lack of labor. Everybody is crazy on the subject of getting turpentine, and it is a difficult matter to secure a sufficient number of workmen. The turpentine mania is raging learfully, a number of stills being put up beyoud Lilesville. Everything looks flourishing along the line of the road. There was quite a heavy frost Tuesday night, but very little damage ensued to the growing crops. The farmers are in fine spirits under the prospect of good crops and a plenty of fruit the present season. and works like a charm.

OPERA HOUSE.

Dramatic. The performance last night was the bes given by the "Old Reliable" Troupe since they first made their appearance amongst us. We consider it one of the best performances we succeeds remarkably well in many a different role, but her impersonation of "Julia," in The | in that vicinity. Hunchback, exceeds anything she has yet attempted here. Mrs. Tanneulli appeared to better advantage than usual, even. She was charmingly dressed and in fine voice. Mr. Tannehill and Mr. Stuttz, also excelled in their parts. Miss Zoe Izola was better than usual. Her by-play was very fine. Taken as a whole, to our mind, it was well worthy of more liberal patronage even in larger cities. Each member of the troupe seemed to vie with the other to excel, and every part was well done. The farce was well rendered, convulsing the audience with laughter .-

To night we have "Camille" as Miss D'Este's benefit, and if ever a hard working and painstaking actress deserved a full house, she does. Next to "Julia," we admire her impersonation of "Camille." The graceful form and exquisite taste in dress render her if possible more facinating in this powerful play than in the representation last night. Let her have a rousing house, for she richly deserves it.

As usual, the occupants of the upper gallery disturbed every one else in the theatre by their loud talking and outrageous whistling and as usual young men stood in the hall at the close of the performance and puffed tobacco smoke into lagles' faces. Charming!

A Beggarly Thief.

A white man without local habitation or name, so far as this deponent knoweth to the contrary, and a hard looking specimen at that, has been going the rounds of the city for several days past, making very pathetic appeals to our citizens for the wherewithal to satisfy the cravings of hunger. Among others, he called at the residence of Mr. Alex. Adrian and received from his lady a share of the contents of her larder. Not satisfied with this, bowever, he seized a favorable opportunity and stole a valuable quilt which was used as a cover to a baby carriage, that useful piece of furniture being at the time in the front plazza. This happened on Wednesday. Yesterday the same individual again made his appearance at Mr. Adrian's and craved assistance, when he was charged with the theft of the quilt. He in effect acknowledged his guilt and intimated that he would return it, but failed to do so .-Luring the afternoon information of the transaction was lodged with Capt. Fitzgerald, of the police force, and an officer was despatched to hunt him up; but, in the meantime, he was caught snoozing in a sleeping car at Welcon depot and taken in charge by Mr. Glavin, who sent him to the station house, when he was safely lodged in the Guard House. We hear that several other lit "informalities" are laid to his charge. He is said to present every indication of being able to work and thus obtain an honest, independent living. The quilt stolen from Mr. Adrian is especially valuable from the associations connected with it.

Runsway and Smash Up. An exciting runaway occurred yesterday afternoon, about 2 o'clock, near the corner of Fifth and Nunn streets. A colored man and woman had been seated in the buggy, being on their way to a funeral. The former got out for some purpose, when the horse became frightened and darted off at break-neck speed. The woman managed to jump out uniojured, when the animal ran against a fence, turning the buggy over and smashing it almost to atoms. He then ran for some distance before The patent lager beer cooler, at Runge's he was halted, with the remnants of the ve-Saloon, Front street, is a "new thing on ice" hicle daugling at his heels. THE OLD RELIABLE. WILMINGTON, April 18, 1872.

Editor Wilmington Star:

DEAR SIR :- It is to be regretted that our Opera House is not better attended during the engagement of the "Old Reliable" in our midst this week.

The greatest trouble with our people is that they are apt to criticise too closely traveling companies, when they should consider that no Company can afford to pay the salaries which would be demanded by superior performers. This fact lays with the people. If they would patronize these performances, Companies could support a better class of performers throughout. As it is, the Company is made up of several leading characters of merit, and fill up the balance with indifferent "people," who can expect no very remunerative salaries. I desire to now speak of the leading characters of the "Old Reliable," as viewed from my own critical standpoint.

Miss Helen D'Este is a hard-working, painstaking little actress. In my experience, visit ing theatres in this country, I have never witnessed an actor or actress who strives harder to please her audience than Miss D'Este, and she is a lady of no ordinary talents. Should we not give her credit for all she tries to merit?

iting our city, and vi iting as again. Mr. Stuttz is a good actor, but he is apt. am afraid, to be somewhat careless. He wil let escape most valuable "points," when he is able to take advantage of them. He should consider, at all times, that a critical audience s before him, and act accordingly. I believe him to be competent to satisfy the most fasti-dious, and I hope he will give us the benefit of his superior talent during the remainder of his engagement. Of Mr. and Mrs. Tannehill, they are always both good, and no one can surpass them on the traveling boards, who hold the position of "second in command."

It we do, she will have no reason to regret vis

Since writing the above, I learn a complimentary benefit is tendered to the talented little actress, Miss D'Este, which is as it should be, and I hope, as she well deserves it, that she will have an overflowing house.
