The Concert Lass Night.

An immense audience assembled at the Front Street M. E. Church last night to attend the Concert given by the Sabbath School thildren of that church. fo say that those present were pleased with the entertainment would fall far short of expressing the gratification they experienced. They were absolutely delighted-charmed-by the concord of sweet sounds with which they were treated. Especially was this the case in the two pieces, "What Shall the Harvest be ?" and the " Celestial City," as rendered by the Choir. The dexterity with which the organ was handled also contributed largely to the excellence of the entertainment. Taken altogether the Concert was a grand success, and the children have cause to be proud of their achievement. The collection, we learn, was very liberal.

It came out in the testimony that on Sunday, the 14th inst., deceased, whose name was Manuel Lane, was in company with several other boys belonging in the neighborhood, when they seized him and tied him with a rope, after which some of them took hold of one end and some the other and commenced pulling. This was kept up for sometime, as a matter of mere sport on their part, but when released by his companions Lane was almost immediately taken sick, lingering in a suffering condition until Sunday evening last, when he expired. A post mortem examination of deceased, as intimated in yesterday's paper, was held by Dr. W. J. H. Bellamy, and the verdict was rendered in accordance with the facts elicited by said examination and from the evidence of witnesses before the jury.
