Why do the debilitated and feeble dread the summer? It is because heat is an exhausting element, and they are not in a condition to bear the new drain upon their languid systems, which they think must necessarily commence with warm weather. But cannot this will be obviated? Most indubitably it can.

Farrar's Electric.

WILMINGTON, N. C.,
JUNE 5, 1873.
This certifies that I was suffering very severely with a painful sore throat and had used the ordinary remedies prescribed, together with counteraction, for several days without effect, when Farrar's Electric was recommended to me. It was tried as a gargle, diluted with water, and in twelve hours or a little more I was entirely relieved and the soreness has not since returned.

We are selling about one hundred barrels and one hundred half barrels month of this Favorite Flour to our City Family Trade. There is no other flour so generally used as
