THE OUTLAWS.

Further Particulars of the Killing of Tom Lowrey—Incidents Connected with the Affair—His Funeral and Interment, &c.

By persons who came down on the Wilmington, Charlotte and Rutherford road, yesterday, we have a few additional particulars of the shooting and killing of Tom Lowrey, one of the gang of Robeson outlaws, on Saturday morning last. It appears that there were five persons in the party who waylaid the outlaw. These were Robert Wishart, A. S. Wishart, and three young men named, respectively, McKay, Campbell and Cobb. The outlaw was shot on the road near his own house. After receiving the terrible wounds which produced his death he ran into the swamp a distance of about one hundred yards, pursued by the party. When they they came up with him he tried to draw his pistol to fire on them, but was too far gone to carry his intentions into effect, and fell backwards a corpse. He had a Spencer rifle in his hand at the time, which was clutched so tightly that the party had to loosen the fingers, one by one, by main force. They then put him on a hastily improvised litter and bore him thus about a half mile, when they met a wagon on the way to a political meeting, to which it was said Lowrey was also bound when he was arrested in his course by the avenger's bullet. The party got possession of the wagon, placed the corpse into it and carried it to Lumberton. It was then fully identified as the body of Tom Lowrey, by persons who were well acquainted with him, after which it was delivered to his wife, who had followed the remains of her husband to Lumberton and made application for the same for burial. The body was then taken to Eureka Church, where the funeral was preached on Sunday afternoon, and, about 4 o'clock, was buried in what is known as the Back Swamp Grave Yard. We learn that nearly the whole of the residents of the Scuffletown section were present at the funeral, many of whom were armed, it being the impression of the numerous friends of the outlaw that an effort would be made to rescue the body, in which case they were prepared to resist the attempt by force of arms.

We learn that the watch of Ms. John McNair, of Robeson, which was stolen some time since, was found on the person of the outlaw.

It is stated that a letter from Andrew Strong and Stephen Lowrey, the only two remaining members of the gang, has been received by Robert Wishart, in which they express their determination to kill all who participated in the killing of Tom Lowrey.

At the time Lowrey was discovered by the young men who were watching for him he was in company with a white man by the name of Furney Prevatt. This individual, when the firing commenced, made the best sort of time up the road. Young McKay, it is stated, fired the first shot.

The reward offered by the county of Robeson was, we learn, paid over to the parties on Saturday afternoon, and a gentleman from Lumberton, armed with the necessary papers, passed through here yesterday en route for Raleigh for the purpose of securing the reward offered by the State. The whole amount, including that received from the county, will foot up $6,200.

Kicked by a Mule.

On Sunday morning, about 6 o'clock, a youth by the name of Dawson Cornegan, residing on the corner of Sixth and Queen streets, was badly kicked about the face and head by a mule. Two or three of his teeth were knocked out, his under lip cut open in such a manner that it had to be sewed up and his face and head badly bruised.

He Will Speak Here on Wednesday Evening.

Hon. A. M. Waddell, the Democratic-Conservative Candidate for Congress from this District, will address his fellow-citizens of Wilmington and the county of New Hanover, from the steps of the City Hall, on Wednesday evening, the 24th inst., at 8 o'clock. Let everybody, of whatever politics, be present on the occasion and hear the views of our distinguished fellow-citizen on the issues of the day.

Attempt at Murder—Arrest of One of the Parties—The Other Escapes.

An unsuccessful attempt was made on Saturday night last, between 10 and 11 o'clock, to murder Richard Crawford, one of the colored ferrymen who plies his profession between the foot of Market street and Eagle Island. It seems that a colored man by the name of Nicholas Cato got on the ferry boat at Market dock and was taken across the river by Crawford. On the way some words ensued between them, and a policeman on the wharf overheard Cato threaten to kill Crawford. At the landing on the other side a confederate of Cato's, by the name of Prince ——, made his appearance, and the two pounced upon the unfortunate ferryman, throwing him overboard, when they proceeded to belabor him with a stick, at the same time doing their best to drown him. His cries were heard by one of the Railroad officials, who happened to be near, and he hastened to the rescue, when the two scoundrels took to their heels. In the meantime the policeman who had heard the altercation on the boat arrived at the scene and instituted a search for the would-be murderers, and finally succeeded in finding Cato secreted in what is known as the "round house," connected with the Railroad shops, who was subsequently taken across the river and lodged in the Guard House. The other man, he afterwards learned, took the road in the direction of South Carolina, of which State he is a resident, and when last seen was making good time.

Crawford was badly bruised about the head and shoulders, but was not seriously hurt. But for the timely assistance of the official alluded to, however, it is thought he would certainly have been killed.

An Incident.

It is related of Gov. Vance that, while speaking in a certain town in this State, a few days ago, an individual from the rural districts mounted on a jackass, rode up to within a few steps of the stand and halted, when, after a few moments, the animal suddenly burst forth with a loud and long continued braying, which startled the speaker, who turned and regarded the animal for a few moments, his countenance in the meantime indicating a feeling of both mirth and disgust, and when the brute stopped he exclaimed, "Look here, my Radical friend, I did not agree to divide time with you!" Amid the uproar of laughter and applause which ensued our country friend and his beast suddenly disappeared and Vance proceeded with his speech.

Sudden Death—Inquest.

Coroner Hewlett held an inquest at the County Work House, yesterday afternoon, over the body of a colored man, by the name of Chancey Metts, who died suddenly on Sunday evening last. From the circumstances attending the death of the old man, who was about 60 years of age, there was some suspicion of foul play, but the evidence failed to disclose anything sufficiently positive and the jury returned a verdict that deceased came to his death from some cause unknown. It is said that he was taken with a pain in his stomach and died in about five minutes afterwards. He was under sentence of twelve months imprisonment for larceny and had served out one half of his time.

Be Careful.

Now is the peculiar season of the year when unripe fruit and decayed vegetables find their way into the market in an abundance, more than sufficient to create an epidemic of small complaints. Too much care cannot be exercised by housekeepers in providing for their daily table.

SENATOR WILSON AT GOLDSBORO.

A SMALL CROWD PRESENT.

NO ENTHUSIASM.

[Special Dispatch to the Morning Star.]

GOLDSBORO, July 22d, 1872.

Senator Wilson, Ex Gov. Harrimon, of New Hampshire, and a Mr. Warwick, of New York, addressed a very slim crowd here to day, numbering not more than 100 blacks and 30 or 40 inquisitive whites. There was no enthusiasm with the exception of an occasional "dat's so" from an impulsive son of Africa. Wilson refused to divide time with Judge Fowle. After a shake-hand all around with Wilson, Curtis Brogden and their colored auditors, they adjourned to meet at Raleigh to-morrow, where "truths," as they call them, will be badly expressed.

Senator Ransom.

We fully purposed mentioning the gratifying fact that this eminent gentleman was sufficiently canvalescent to leave for the West where he is to canvass with Governor Vance. What an admirable combination! Ransom and Vance. Both rarely gifted and yet unlike. The people of the West cannot fail to greatly admire the elevated thoughts and imposing eloquence of their Senator from the East. We trust the canvass will prove beneficial alike to his personal health and to the health of the body politic, and that cheering reports will come down to us of a renovated constitution for himself and of great benefit rendered to the State by his visit among the people of Western North Carolina.—Raleigh Sentinel.

On Everybody's Tongue—Eulogiums of the great National Regenerator of Health. PLANTATION BITTERS, are on everybody's tongue. This gratuitous VIVA VOCE advertising is better than all the paid for puffing to which the owners of bogus bitters are obliged to resort. It has a spontaneous heartiness about it which carries conviction to the mind of the auditor. But it is a well known fact that the proprietors of the Plantation Bitters have never relied upon newspaper bolstering to establish the success of a preparation which owes its astonishing popularity mainly to the oral testimony of the thousands who have either experienced or been the eye-witness of the immense physical good it has wrought throughout the length and breadth of the land.
