THE HEALS

THE MAINE RLECTION.

The Radicals have carried Maine by 15,000 majority, and have elected their five Congressmen. So the despatches of last night would indicate. They made a tremendous fight and their reserves.

the Pine Tree State, though we confess the Liberal Democratic ticket did not get as large a vote as we expected. From a Maine paper we compile some facts about the political status of the State which will explain why the Radicals succeeded in getting nearly an average majority. For seventeen years Maine has been intensely Radical, one of the strongholds in the country. The following statement of the votes cast at the several elections during the last six years shows the comparative strength of parties there:

ĩ	Dem.	Rep.	Maj.
	186641,939	69,626	27,687
	186746,085	57,649	11,614
	186855,431	75,884	20,403
	1869 39,854	56,321	16,467

	187148,120	58,757	10,631	J
		ALL DESCRIPTION OF TAXABLE	A. 140

The average Republican majority has been 16,000. The truest test of strength was in 1868, when the total vote reached 131,265, more than 24,000 in excess of the number cast at any election since. The vote of last year is no criterion by which to judge of the strength of parties. The Radical majority was considerably less than the average majoritics and but about half what it was in 1868, yet the Democratic vote was more than 7,000 less. Comparing the election of last year with 1868, it appears that the Radicals have nearly 10,000 more reserved votes than the Democrats have. This year, by superhuman exertion, lavish expenditure of means in every conceivable unscrupulons way, the whole weight of the Federal administration being thrown in the scales, this Radical reserve force was brought out, and though the Democrats and Liberals probably did the best they could under the circumstances, the result is something like the usual Republican majority. There is nothing in this for the enemy to crow over. He has hardly held his own, as he ought to have polled above 16,000 to have made a real gain. The Radicals not only had the 20,-000 majority on a test vote as in '68 and an average majority of 16,000 in their favor, but they had the powerful machinery of Grant's administration, a well organized and disciplined party with funds sufficient to make the party felt in the election. Swarms of officeholders were sent to every district in the State. The Speaker of the House of Representatives was at the head of the party. While on the Liberal side there were none of these advantages. The Democratic party had not for years been thoroughly organized, having been demoralized from repeated defeats. The Liberals were a new element of unknown capacity, probably too timid to assert them-

Fayetteville and Florence Railroad. At a meeting of the stockholders and friends of the Fayetteville and Florence Railroad, held on the 6th inst., the following resolutions, as we learn from the Eagle, were passed, A. A. McKethan, Esq., being in the chair and Jno. M. Rose, Esq., acting as Secretary:

Resolved, That the Mayor and Commissioners of the town of Fayetteville be requested to order an election to ratify and reaffirm the act of the town authorities and people, of August and September, 1869, as per minutes of the Board of Commissioners. subscribing $75,000 to the Fayetteville and Florence Railroad. Said subscription to be made and bonds issued upon condition only that the same can be sold at their par value and that others interested south of Big Rockfish shall subscribe and secure not less than $35,000, which amount it is believed will grade, bridge and furnish cross ties from Fayetteville to Shoe Heel on the Wilmington, Charlotte & Rutherford Railroad, Resolved further, That as inducement to the citizens to take the Bonds provided to be issued above, that the holders of $50,000 of said bonds shall always cast the vote of the town in all meetings of the Company. The Eagle learns that parties present were ready to assure that the $35,000 south of Big Rockfish will be forthcoming if the town will reaffirm the subscription and the citizens purchase the bonds upon the terms indicated. From the above, says the Eagle, it will be seen that no person will be asked to subscribe, but that the town will issud bonds he amount named and that the citizens

The losses, as near as they can be estimated at the present time, are as follows: Mr. Sternberger about $6,000; insured in the Imperial, represented by Maj. J. A. Byrne, for $1,000, and in the North British and Hartford, represented by Messrs. George & Manning, for $1,250 each. Mr. Herbert's loss was about $6,000; insured for $4,000 in the Ætna, represented by Messrs. L. H. &

T. C. ReRosset and the Home, by Messrs. Taylor & Giles. Messrs. Geo. F. Alderman &-Co.'s loss was about $800 to $1,000; insured for $1,000 in the Union, of San Francisco, represented by Messrs. Taylor

& Giles. Messrs. Charles Wessell & Co. estimate their loss at $2,500 to $3,000, upon which there was an insurance of $1,000 in the Franklin, represented by Messrs. Taylor & Giles. The buildings destroyed were the property of Mrs. Alice A. Dickinson. Her loss is estimated at $7,000 or $8,000, upon which there was an insurance of $6,000 in the Phœnix, represented by Messrs. Taylor & Giles. Mr. E. Peschau had a large lot of liquors, groceries, &c., stored in warehouses in the rear of the stores consumed and also in the upstairs of the store occupied by Mr. Sternberger, all of which were burned. He estimates his loss at about $7,000, upon which there was an insurance of $5,000 on goods in warehouses and $10,000 on the main store, in the Andes, represented by Col. J. W. Atkinson. Mr. J. G. Bulcken estimates his loss from stealage, &c., at from $400 to $500, upon which there was no insurance. Messrs. Player, Monroe & Co., Weighers and Inspectors, who had an office in the upstairs over Messrs. Alderman & Co.'s, lost all the implements used in their business, which they estimate to have been worth about $250. No insurance. The Economist.
