

NATIONAL REFORM TICKET!

FOR PRESIDENT: Horace Greeley, OF NEW YORK.

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT: B. Gratz Brown, OF MISSOURI.

ELECTORAL TICKET.

STATE AT LARGE. THOMAS J. JARVIS, OF NY. E. W. FOU, OF N. J.

FOR THE DISTRICTS:

1st--OCTAVIUS COKE, OF CHOWAN. 2d--SWIFT GALLOWAY, OF GREASE. 3d--T. C. FULLER, OF CUMBERLAND.

ANOTHER LUNATIC ABOLITION HORROR.

There is an asylum for the insane on Ward's Island, near New York. One of the physicians bears the foreign patronymic of Escheveria.

The exposure of the horrid treatment of the insane, which the New York papers have been making for some time, ought to go far towards securing for that most unfortunate class the ordinary care that is bestowed upon human beings, at least, we should think.

LOGAN.

A little white back Gen. Logan ousted with the Liberals for one of the nominations at Cincinnati. He is a chronic office-seeker, and as the Liberal movement offered a good chance for preferment he tried for a while to be very liberal.

Greeley fights for Reform, honesty and economy, freedom of elections, the equality of the States, the overthrow of the military power, the re-establishment of sound constitutional government.

Besides peace, but with them, he wants peace, reconciliation, Union, fraternity.

Greeley is the man for President, the man for the times.

A Herald correspondent suggests Beau Hickman in O'Conor's place, as candidate of the Straight-Outs. This is such a capital idea, that we have credited it to Barnum's "Happy Thought" literature.

At Marion, Indiana, a few days ago, two thirty young men thought to secure free drinks in a drug store during the temporary absence of the proprietor. By taking the landanum bottle was seized. Hold of the bottle of the one containing eau de vie, and while one put down very hastily a two-finger drink from a glass the other sneaked from the bottle.

The middle classes of the Prussian capital are beginning, it is said, to feel greatly alarmed at the increasing hostile attitude of the populace. The menaces of which they have been the object have led them to institute measures of self-protection.

In a stone quarry at Anamoso, Va., a solid block of stone, on being sawed through, was found to contain a petrified human foot. Darwin is looked to for that foot's biography.

Our junior job on Saturday, and it will probably be several days before we look on his familiar face again. It is not "for the jokers' sake" to hazard an opinion as to our junior's line of match. He may have called with sealed orders, or he may have sealed with sealed orders, so far as we are advised. He said not a word about "Sarato-ge" or "The White" or "Niagara," and he asked for no "platonic" no first-class coffee, no "seconds". It is barely possible he may have gone on a visit to some water-tank on the Weldon road. At all events, we shall "look for him when we see him," and we may see him when we look for him. He carries with him our best wishes, a gold-headed cane, one change of clothing, and a dead-head ticket. It does seem that this ought to satisfy the young man's ambition; but it wouldn't surprise us a bit if he attempted to borrow thirty cents and a paper collar from some princely editorial friend, before he returns to these headquarters. Any information that will lead to his recovery, in case he should get sick, will be thankfully received and handsomely rewarded.

Nobody doubts that John W. Forney is a simon-pure Radical. Well, here's what he says in his Press about the Grant Republican candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania: "Since Hartranft's nomination facts unknown to us then and eternally damning to him have been brought to light. He has been proved the partner of the State Treasurer in his speculations with the public funds, and it has been shown that he is morally as well as mentally disqualified for the Chief Magistracy of Pennsylvania. In the hope of securing his election he has struck hands with the greatest scoundrels in Philadelphia outside of the Penitentiary, and by their aid and the prostitution of the ballot, and appeals to the old ardor and enthusiasm of the Republican party, he hopes to secure his election. Such a result will be the degradation of our State and the unfading infamy of the party." And thus Forney again: "No citizen who has the slightest regard for the honor of the Commonwealth can help to make such a man as John F. Hartranft Governor. The damning indictment against him has been proved mainly by his own letters and such unimpeachable witnesses as Yerkes' books of accounts."

For some time past interesting experiments have been in progress at Fortress Monroe, Va., for the purpose of improving the explosive qualities of cannon powder. With the aid of recent discoveries a powder has been manufactured which possesses fifty per cent. increased force, and, consequently, gives greater momentum to the ball, while the pressure on the sides of the gun is diminished. In one of the late trials of this powder, a fifteen-inch smooth-bore was fired with the same charge as that used in the twelve-inch rifled gun fired at the target representing the side of the British iron-clad Glatton. The impact of the rifle shot on the Glatton target was 8,100 tons to the square inch, while the impact of the smooth-bore projectile was 9,035 tons, an increase of fifty per cent. The results of these experiments, it is claimed by naval officers, will enable the United States to compete successfully in the great contest now going on between heavy ordnance and defensive armor.

The great purpose of the Grant party is to keep alive the prejudices engendered by the war. One of the means employed by them is the holding of distinctive soldiers' and sailors' conventions. The idea of perpetuating war memories is a bad one, and the dragging of old worn-out bitterness into politics at this time is a heinous outrage. It is in consonance with Grantism to cultivate animosity--why? Because there is at the North a feeling that can be aroused against any party or class that doesn't bow for "the flag." That with them is a test of loyalty. The Grant people pretend to be the patriotic patriots of the land. Every body else, all who dispute their sweeping claims are traitors, rebels, disunionists. This has been the case ever since the war. Such Conventions as the one just adjourned at Pittsburgh have afforded a pretext for the cry.

There are some people who can't understand the position of the New York Herald on the Presidential question. It is as plain to us as is the noonday sun. The proprietor of the Herald is reported to have made some heavy bets on Grant. In addition to this, young Bennett, with characteristic weakness, worked himself into a fever of enthusiasm over the result of the elections in Vermont and Maine. This fever is now subsiding, however, and the Herald is only waiting to hear from Indiana, Pennsylvania and Ohio. After the 8th of October that paper will be as "straight as a shingle" on the Presidential issue. Bennett will "hedge" his bets; and then he will be as nice a Greeley man as the managing editor of the Tribune himself.

Prof. Davidson, of the Coast Survey, is experimenting near Summit Station, on the Sierra Nevada, at an elevation of 7,200 feet above the sea, to determine the relative importance of great and small altitudes in the use of the telescope for investigations of physical astronomy. It is understood that he has been completely successful, and will recommend a location about 10,000 feet above the sea, near the line of the Central Pacific Railroad, from which it can readily be reached by a short and easily constructed wagon road.

The Emperor William is described as "erect and soldierly in his carriage, portly but not obese in figure, and like an English country gentleman or a solid man of Boston."

Blondin, the acrobatic hero of Niagara, is still delighting the Englishmen with his astonishing but foolhardy feats. The other day, at Sydenham, he walked a rope 500 feet long, and 80 feet from the ground, clad in heavy armor.

The Old White Hat is all the rage in Pennsylvania, Indiana and Ohio. For straight-out Democrats' sub-stantials strayed-out Demo-Grants. We have patented this.

The story that Grant was drunk at Sibley is not a Democratic or Liberal Republican story. It is a John A. Logan story.

Gen. Henry L. Calk, a Republican ex-Member of Congress from the Schuylkill Pa., District, is now a supporter of the Liberal ticket.

The Conservatives of South Carolina are still undecided as to what course to pursue in the present anomalous condition of politics in that State.

Two more Pennsylvania papers, the Mechanicburg Journal and Lancaster Volksfreund, have taken down the Grant-Cameron State ticket, with the declaration that they can't and won't support it.

A gentleman who has just returned from an extended tour through Illinois says that the prospects for Honest Horace in that State were never brighter. He predicts an immense majority there for Greeley and Brown in November.

Simon Cameron has told his Straight-outs who went to Louisville not to call their convention till after the October election, and, like dutiful subjects, they will obey. The wily old politician intends to see which way the wind blows before he spends any more money to help elect Grant.

Wendell Phillips has occasion to rejoice. The negroes of Pittsburg, Pa., show an admirable disposition to follow his advice to arm and prepare for general massacre in case of Greeley's election. They attacked a body of white Greeley men last Saturday evening, and a lively fight is said to have ensued, in which six negroes were shot and one white man was fatally wounded.

John G. Whittier, the poet, and a decided Republican, writes as follows to some colored men of Brooklyn: "No colored man with any self-respect or gratitude can listen complacently to personal abuse of such men as Horace Greeley, Charles Sumner, Henry Wilson, or Salmon P. Chase. They have been your friends when friendship cost nothing."

Says the Tribune: "Nothing is yet positively known concerning Senator Sumner's acceptance of the nomination for Governor so enthusiastically tendered him by the Massachusetts Liberals. His friends in that State doubt the authenticity of the cable dispatch announcing that he will positively decline the Worcester nomination. They have not yet heard from him, and it is presumed that they had some reason before making the nomination to suppose that he would accept the position tendered him."

The Hon Carl Schurz, writing to Col. Ethan Allen from St. Louis, under date of Sept. 13, announces that he will speak in Pennsylvania from Monday, Sept. 23, until the Saturday following. On Tuesday, Oct. 2, to the Germans of New York city at Cooper Institute. After that he can fill two more appointments in New York on his way West. He proposes to resume work in Illinois, and after the October elections he will speak in Missouri.

PROMINENT PERSONALS.

Our next President--Honest Horace Greeley. Hartranft is sorely afflicted with "the Yerkies."

Gen. M. W. Ransom was in Richmond Tuesday. Charles Sumner, it is said, will be the guest of Thaddeus Hyatt while in Europe.

Marx, the International's chief friend, will make his future residence in the United States. M. Thiers has given his distinguished approbation to a new bathing-dress made of India rubber, much used accordingly at French sea-side resorts.

It is said that Alexander H. Stephens has hired a rope-walk, that he may write editorials without one end having to be carried on the roof of his sanctum.

Richard Wagner, the German composer, says, in a recent card, that the "Marcellaise" is an old Italian air, and that it was played at the court of Lorenzo de Medici.

The Emperor William is described as "erect and soldierly in his carriage, portly but not obese in figure, and like an English country gentleman or a solid man of Boston."

Julius L. Strong, of Hartford, Conn., who died a few days ago, was the youngest of all the Congressmen representing his district in the last twenty years, yet was the first to die--all the others, five in number, being still alive.

Blondin, the acrobatic hero of Niagara, is still delighting the Englishmen with his astonishing but foolhardy feats. The other day, at Sydenham, he walked a rope 500 feet long, and 80 feet from the ground, clad in heavy armor.

The venerable Field Marshal Von Motke is living quietly in the little Silesian town of Schweidnitz. He can be seen there every day in a long, black frock-coat, smoking an enormous pipe, and reading the newspapers at the only cafe in the place.

Caleb Cushing, now in his 73d year, while in Paris last May, devoted three hours each day to the study of French under an eminent teacher. This shows a remarkable devotion to study when we consider that Mr. Cushing has spoken French fluently for forty years.

A SURVEY OF THE FIELD.

The Liberal Star in the Ascendant

On the 8th of October Indiana and Pennsylvania hold their general State elections. Ohio holds an election on the same day for a Secretary of State and members of Congress.

The election in these three States are now occupying attention throughout the country. While the partisans of Grant, who make it a rule to claim everything, are boasting that they will carry them, the Liberals are in fine spirits as to their prospects, and are confident of success. They will in all probability be carried in November by the party that succeeds in carrying them in October.

Indiana has fifteen electoral votes, Pennsylvania twenty-nine, and Ohio twenty-two. At the last election in Indiana in 1870 for Secretary of State the Democrats elected their candidate by a 2,568 majority, the total vote of the State being 317,550, of which Eddy (Democrat) received 160,059, and Hoffman (Republican) 157,491. At the Presidential election in 1868, the total vote was 343,582, of which Grant received 176,552, and Seymour 160,980; Grant's majority being 9,572. These figures show that although the State was Republican in 1868, and had been Republican for several years before, it had become Democratic in 1870, notwithstanding about 2,500 negroes had been added to the Republican strength by the fifteenth amendment adopted between 1868 and 1870.

The Liberal candidate for Governor, Mr. Hendricks, is one of the most popular as he is the ablest political leader in that State. The whole Democracy will zealously support him, while the Liberal Republicans, under the leadership of Geo. W. Julian, are every day developing increased strength, and will go for him heart and soul. The Liberals claim Mr. Hendricks' election by 10,000 majority.

Pennsylvania is called a Republican State, and it gave a Republican majority in 1871 in the election for Auditor General--the total vote being 568,683, of which Stanton (Republican) received 283,999, and McCandless (Democrat) 260,509, Stanton's majority being 14,490. But it is a fact not generally known that in the Congressional election in 1870 the Democrats had a majority of 1,890 on the aggregate vote cast, the sum of the Democratic majorities in nine districts being 20,980, and the sum of the Republican majorities in thirteen districts being only 19,120. This shows that the Republican ascendancy in the State is of the most precarious character. It certainly cannot endure the Liberal defection headed by McClellan, one of the most active and influential Republican leaders in the State, reinforced, as it is, by the opposition of the Philadelphia Press and a dozen other Republican papers to Hartranft. He is the representative and creature of the Cameron ring, and will defeat the whole Republican State ticket, particularly as Buekalew, the Democratic candidate, will not lose a single Bourbon Democratic vote. The loss of the State to the Republicans in October will mean its loss in November, for the Cameron ring, it is said, are prepared to avenge the defeat of Hartranft with the defeat of Grant, and lay the blame of the whole business on Forney and the disaffected Republicans.

Ohio is a State which the Democrats had not hoped to carry, up to a very recent date; but the campaign is progressing so satisfactorily there, and has developed so large a dissatisfied faction with President Grant, that they are now confidently predicting it will go for Greeley. There is no general State ticket to be chosen at the election on October 8th, but a Secretary of State and members of Congress are to be elected. In 1868 Ohio gave Grant a majority of 41,428; in 1869, the Republican majority for Governor was 7,518; in 1870, the Republican majority for Secretary of State was 16,674, and in 1871, Noyes (Republican) was elected Governor over M. Cook (Democrat) by a majority of 20,168, the total vote being 464,462. The vote of Ohio is not necessary to the election of Greeley, those of Pennsylvania and Indiana being secured; but there is a good chance, at least, that the State may vote for Greeley nevertheless.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

DISEASE RECILLS. From the system that has been invigorated and regulated by a course of that most beneficial of all vegetable elixirs, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, such as, at least, in the inference we are compelled to draw from the testimony of thousands of persons residing in unhealthy districts, who attribute their escape from epidemic and other complaints which prevail there in the spring and autumn solely to the use of this great protective and preventive medicine.

Many Western and Southern farmers and planters, as invariably as they sow and plant in the spring and reap and gather in the fall, administer it at those seasons to their families and employees, and take it themselves from twice to three times a day.

The demand for it in the fever and ague districts bordering on the Mississippi, Ohio and Arkansas rivers is immense; and wherever the natural conditions are such as to generate intermittent or remittent fevers, it is held in the highest esteem, both as an antidote to the atmospheric virus which provokes them, and as a swift and certain remedy for those distressing forms of disease. It is almost unnecessary to say that this renowned tonic and restorer is now generally accepted as a standard specific for indigestion, biliousness, nervous distemper, rheumatism, physical weakness and mental despondency, not only by the public at large, but by all approved medical men. The vast popularity of the Bitters has of course led to many counterfeit and imitations, against which the constantly are requested to be on their guard.
