Thousands of Republicans Turning Buckalew Stock Rising Rapidly-Curtin and Billingfelt Doing the Work by which Greeley will be Elected.

[By Telegraph to the Tribune.]

DOYLESTOWN, Sept. 25. The political outlook of the campaign in Pennsylvania has entirely changed within the last twenty-four hours. Gov. Curtin's letter has smiten the Grant leaders with a palsy from which there is no recovery. On the road here to-day from Wilkesbarre the signs of an abandoned cause for the Hartranft ticket were presented at every station. The Lehigh Valley was aflame with ENTHUSIASM FOR BUCKALEW, and prominent Republicans who have staked largely on the issue of the October election, were hedging on Buckalew by offering $500 to $3,000 on his success. The most influential Pennsylvania German is Esais Billingfelt, of Lancaster, for eight years a Repulican State Senator. On Monday night he charged home upon the Cameron Ring, and the Cameronian candidate the responsibility of their peculation of State funds, and their malversation of State finances. If anything was needed to strengthen the effect of Gov. Curtin's letter, this ringing speech of Mr. Billingfelt had directly this effect. His speech and Curtin's letter have been worth ten

clare that the CONTEST IS ENDED,

Buckalew's election is assured, and the only question is now one of majori-

To-day has witnessed an unwonted scene in this county. Situated on the northern border of Philadelphia, Bucks has given changing majorities for both political parties, and neither could claim it for its own. Now it is aroused for Buckalew, and since early morning its county seat has witnessed the most unparalleled demonstration ever seen in Eastern Pennsylvania, outside of Philadelphia. There have been not less than

SEVENTEEN THOUSAND PERSONS PRE-

At 10 this morning an immense procession formed, composed of half foot and half mounted men, and with transparencies and banners it marched into the surrounding townships, receiving reinforcements at every cross-road, until it numbered over 6,000. Then returning to the city the greatest meeting ever seen in the county was organized. Ex-District Attorney James made a speech introducing General Kilpatrick. The latter reviewed Grant's careers as a soldier and as a statesman, awarding fullest meed of praise to the General, but utter lack of ability as President. Following Gen. Kilpatrick came Gov. Hoffman of New York, whose speech was a master effort. He arraigned the Administration for its systematic centrilization and its attempts to control State, city, and township elections. He exposed Boutwell's management of the finances, and contrasting the past glory of the Republic with its present condition, said that if the policy continued of teaching one-half the nation to religiously hate the other our flag would trail in dishonor and shame among the nationalities of the earth. In such a crisis, Mr. Hoffman said, the only hope of the people was to rally around the man, who, although he had in the past been the life-long antagonist of Democrats, today concentrated in himself the hope and rescue of the nation. Col. Mc-Clure spoke after him, and amid tumultuous applause discussed the national issues involved in the present

Fourth Ward Meeting. G. E. Borden, who promised to take care of

A fine meeting of the Conservatives and Democrats of the Fourth Ward was held at Germania Hall last evening.

The meeting was called to order by Mr F. W. Kerchner, on whose motion Maj Chas. M. Stedman was called to the Chair, and Capt. C. S. Ellis appointed Secretary.

The Chairman of the County Executive Committee being called on to explain the object of the meeting, stated that it was for the purpose of organizing a Greeley and Brown Club, and moved that a Committee of five be appointed to prepare a Constitution and By-laws and report permanent officers for the government of the Club—the Committee to report at an adjourned meeting to be held at Germania Hall next Tuesday evening. The motion was adopted, and the Chair appointed the following Committee, viz: Wm. H. Bernard, F. W. Kerchner, B. W. Beery, John W. Atkinson and Charles S. Ellis.

The regular business being completed, Hon. A. M. Waddell and Col. E. D. Hall addressed the meeting in an able and patriotic manner. Both gentlemen referred in terms of well deserved praise to the ability, statesmanship and solid worth of noble old Horace Greeley, and predicted his election by an overwhelming majority.

The sentiments of the speakers were rapturously applauded, and the meeting adjourned in the best spirits, to assemble again at Germania Hall next Tuesday

A Train on the Wilmington & Weldon Road Buns off the Track-A Terrible Smash-up, but no Loss of Life-A List of the Wounded, &c., &c.

We regret to be called upon to record an accident of a rather serious nature on the Wilmington & Weldon Railroad. The intelligence, however, which could not be otherwise than startling, was relieved of much of its horror by the fact that it was not attended by any fatal results to the lives of the numerous passengers. The particulars, so far as we were able to obtain them, are as follows: When the train due here at 3 o'clock yesterday morning, had arrived at a point about one mile the other side of Dudlev's, and about 8 miles from Goldsboro, it being between 11 and 12 o'clock, the smoking car ran off the track. The accident was immediately discovered by Capt. Everett, the Conductor in charge, who instantly pulled the bell to give the necessary warning. At this time the first-class coach and the sleeping car were running smoothly on the track, and he ordered the brakes on the smoking car with the hope that it would break losse from the other cars; but just as he had done so he became aware of the startling fact, which he had not before suspected, that they were on the point of crossing a dangerous trestle, one of the highest on the road. He had hardly realized the the West for several weeks past, has return- fact, he standing on the platform of the smoking car at the time, before the firstclass car and the sleeping car, tearing lose from the smoking car, had plunged over the side of the trestle into the abyss below, both cars turning completely over and going down the side of the embankment bottom-upwards. Immediate measures were taken to rescue the passengers, among whom were several ladies. The top of the cars, in going down the embankment, had become so badly broken that the passengers could not stand upright and when an entrance was effected there was discovered a heterogenious mass of men and women, valises and carpet-sacks, baskets and boxes, and all the other appurtenances usually found in such conveyances. The passengers were all relieved from their uncomfortable positions as soon as possible, and all are loud in their praise of Capts. Everett and Southall, the latter being in charge of the sleeping car, as well as Mr. Bell, formerly connected with the Southern Express Company, for their untiring energies in securing their safe transportation

As soon as the last passenger had been removed from the wrecks, Capt. Everett despatched the engine to Dudley's to meet to do; but whether we succeed or not is the freight train which was due at that point, when the coach which usually accompanies it was secured and returned for the passengers, who were taken to Dudley's, where they awaited the train which left here at 10:40 P. M. Upon its arrival, one of the coaches was appropriated and the passengers were brought on to this city, arriving here at about 7 o'clock. In the meantime, the train leaving here at 10:40 P. M. awaited the arrival of the 5:30 train for this place, when the passengers were to be transferred.

from the wrecked cars to places of security

That there were no lives lost by the accident was, under the circumstances, almost miracle. The following is a partial list of the wounded: W. H. Chew, of Augusta, Ga., ankle badly sprained and hip injured; Mrs. Chew, wife of the above, received a severe contusion on the forehead; two ladies accompanying Mr. and Mrs. Chew, received no injuries whatever; Mr. Chambers, of New Orleans, was severely injured about the face, back and breast; Mrs. M. A. Waller, of Montgomery, Ala., neice of Mr. Chambers, was seriously bruised about the body; S. S. Solomons, Superintendent of the Northeast Railroad, S. C., was slightly bruised on the knee; W. J. Smith, Abbe ville, S. C., badly injured about the head. There were several others who received slight injuries. We are glad to learn that none of the wounded are considered seri-

Whether the position of the rail was the result of accident or design is matter for conjecture, but it is supposed by some that it was purposely misplaced by some one with the intention of throwing the

The distance from the top of the trestle to the bed of the small stream down to which the cars were precipitated, was about twentyfive or thirty feet, and the rear end of the sleeping car was driven some distance under

We learn that the road will probably be clear in time for the trains to pass this morning. The two cars were badly smashed, and the track considerably torn up in the vicinity of the trestle, which was about the extent of the damage to the road.

The most of the passengers by the illfated train left for their several destinations last night.

Homeless and Friendless.

A colored man called at the City Hall yesterday and reported that a colored girl, apparently a homeless wanderer, had slept under his house on the night previous and that she was then lying on a piazza in the neighborhood in a very critical conditiou. One of the city carts was sent after her and she was taken to the City Hospital. She was unable to give her name.

The Culture of the Hair.—Just as surely as a soil infested with Canadian thistles can be made as a soil intested with Canadian tributes can be made to produce fine crops of golden grain, the scalp now sparsely covered with harsh, dry, unmanageable hair can be made prolific of silken tresses. All that is necessary to effect the change in either case is the right kind of fertilizer. Leaving the agricultura chemists to determine how the barren land shall be made fruitful, we positively assert that Lyon's Kathairon is unequaled as a fertilizer and beautifier of the hair. Twenty-five years of success is the basis of this unqualified statement. During that time it has been used by many millions of both sexes, and the first instance in which it has failed to fulfill the expectations of a rational purchaser has yet to be discovered. It will not cause hair to grow on a varnished gourd; but wherever the roots of the hirsute fibers remain undisturbed it will cause them to put forth new shoots, and in all cases where the hair has become thin it will increase its volume. sep 24-Tu Th Sat
