COURAGE BRINGS VICTORY.

Defeat in Pennsylvania and Ohio under such circumstances, bold, shameless frauds stealing our victory, ought to, and doubtless will, nerve our people to greater exertions. If it has that effect, we shall win in the great November conflict. Electing the gallant Hendricks in Indiana, carrying Georgia by 60,000 and Connecticut by seven thousand, makes this preliminary October fight a drawn battle.

No man ought to feel discouraged. We win with such work as brave men always do. Shoulder to shoulder, comrades! It is liberty under Horace Greeley or slavery under

UNDISMAYED

RIGHT MUST TRIUMPH

THE ELECTION OF HORACE GREELEY A SUPREME NECESSITY.

The Enemy Mave Done Their Worst-The Way to Vinal Victory is Clear.

[Chicago Tribune,] The Liberal party is the party of the future, notwithstanding the adverse result of yesterday's election. To the Liberals of Illinois, to the Liberals everywhere, we say, Go on bravely in the path you have entered; your cause is just, your principles are as necessary to the preservation of good government to-day as they were vesterday. It is still possible to elect your excellent State ticket in Illinois. We shall yield nothing in our zeal for Greeley and Koerner so long as there is a vote to be gained or an inch of ground to contend for; and after the contest is over, we shall still contend for the grand and ennobling principles of peace, reconciliation, and reform, which are more precious to us than any party or any 'man.

[Cincinnati Enquirer.]

In comparison with the great battle of November, when 37 States are to be heard from, the fight vesterday was but a heavy skirmish along the lines. If we had been successful in Maine, it would not do to rest upon our laurels, for if we did we might and probably would find we had a victory at Ligny only to be decisively and forever beaten at Waterloo. Trite as it is, there is no motto that should be kept before the people as that "Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty." Even if we had won the most glorious victory, we could not allow the watchfires to burn less brightly, or to have our sentinels less strongly posted in front of our lines. But if defeated in any part of the field, or in all of it, we must be more stirring and prepare for the great conflict of November. We may rely upon it that Greeley and Brown are far stronger than any of our local candidates. There are, as we have shown from the beginning, thousands of Republicans who had made up their minds to vote against Grant and in favor of Greeley, and that nothing would induce to vote for any local or State ticket that was not labeled and understood to be Republican. We shall have the advantage of this vote in November, and it is far larger than the Grant men calculate on, as they will find to their sor-

In the election just passed the Grant men had every advantage They have put in them their millions of dollars, and exercised all the arts and appliances of corruption in order that by favorable results they might have a great effect on the States that were to vote after. These are the government are not to perish from last State elections before the Presi- the annals of our history. Right dential election, and we call upon our must triumph sooner or later, and it friends everywhere to be ready for the issue. Pay not the least heed to struggle if the people shall prove mere talk of the enemy that you have no chance of success. The wish is father to the thought. Strengthen your lines and deepen your columns and press on the enemy's works. What has been done thus far in the election is nothing compared to that which is to come. Let every eye be turned on November as the month which is to ensure, by the election of Greeley, the prolongation of American freedom.

[New York Tribune.]

Writing before the October elections, we said: "If our friends carry either of the three States we shall have the better chance of success in November. The other side must carry all three to give them the better prospects."

THE MORNING STAR.

VOL. XI,---NO. 17.

We have carried one of them, and the one most desperately contested. We have overthrown the ablest of the cabal that led the President to his ruin-we would say also the most unscrupulous, if, in this hour of Pennsylvania's shame, we could forget Simon Cameron. Thomas A. Hendricks is elected Governor of Indiana.

We have no desire to underrate the gravity of the situation. We have been counted out of Pennsylvania, which we should have carried. We could-easily have dispensed with its votes in the Electoral College; but the moral effect of the loss is depressing, to a greater extent than the number of electoral votes would indicate. The work is made harder for us in New York, harder for our brethren in all the States we mean to carry, by the triumph of Cameron's money, in the success of the Penitentiary candidate. From this day till the first Tuesday of November, we shall have upon us a steady, continuous strain.

But we shall win! Our Liberal Republicans did well in Pennsylvania. In parts of Ohio they won signal victory, while the Grant majority in the State is handsomely reduced. In Indiana the Liberal and Democratic victory has been won in the face of such lavish efforts to kill the free suffrages of a State by importation and by midnight ciphering as even Morton never before attempted, and neither he nor anybody can again achieve.

And now we are in the open field! It is no longer possible to concentrate a Cabinet, a Treasury, all the patronage and all the money of the National Administration on two or three States. Thirty-seven States cannot be gagged in a night, like North Carolina and Pennsylvania, or over-powered by sheer weight like Maine. On the broader field the contest assumes a fairer aspect; and Indiana gives us the omen of victory. Under her inspiration the splendid Liberal Republican and Democratic soon. organizations in Illinois declare they can win; and, knowing their work and their power, we believe them. Courage, Friends! the enemy have done their worst; we have wrested Indiana from their grasp, and the way to final victory is clear!

BRAVE WORDS FROM ALEXAN-

Ringing Address from the Liberal To the People of Pennsylvania:

The successful consummation of measure of fraud in this city, that must appal alike the guilty authors and their no less guilty respectable abettors, has made Philadelphia appear to give the unexampled majority of over 20,000 in favor of continued corrupt rule in Pennsylvania.

With every channel of power ready to aid in executing the systematic defiance of the popular will; with debauched or pliant canvassers to register 25,000 fraudulent names; with the most desperate repeaters of three cities to vote the registry; with abundance of money, plundered from the people to pay them; with election officers selected expressly to receive every vote offered in favor of the Ring; with a police force to pilot repeaters to their localities, and protect them in polling illegal votes; with officers of the law to guarantee their immumity from punishment, and with a large preponderance of our citizens. who claim to be the champions of morality and reform, giving their unqualified sanction to what they know to be deliberately-planned pollution of the ballot-box-the result is but the logical result of the rule that is now supremely enthroned in our City

Nor was this gigantic system of fraud confined to Philadelphia. In the principal cities and towns throughout the State thousands of illegal votes have been polled. The Liberal cause was thus overwhelmed in Reading, Chester, West Chester, Columbia, Harrisburg, Pittsburg, and other localities, while the rural districts exhibit large and uniform gains. I am warranted in announcing that the large majority is wholly fraudulent.

Friends of good government let no triumph of lawlessness deter you from giving your best energies to the The highest prerogative of a free people has been violently usurped by insolent and debauched power, and the people must resent it, and resent it promptly, or give unquestionable license to wrong. Now, more than ever in this contest, is the election of Horace Greeley to the Presidency a supreme necessity, if peace and honest struggle if the people shall prove faithful to themselves, to their laws, and to their country. A. K. McClure, Chairman Lib. Repub. Com. Philadelphia, Oct. 8, 1872.

Exciting Runaway.

An exciting runaway took place yesterday afternoon. A spirited horse, attached to a sulky, became obstreperous at Messrs. Steagall & Southerland's stables, threw the driver out, darted down Princess street, taking the sidewalk by the Court House until he reached the corner of Princess and Second when the vehicle came in contact with a lamp post and the two parted company. He then pursued his course to Front street, when he turned in the direction of Market, again evincing his preference for the sidewalk and scattering pedestrians on his route. Reaching the corner he turned up Market, up which street he ran to Third, when he again changed his course, going as far as Orange and down that street towards the river. Here we lost trace of him, but learn that he was soon after secured. The huckster women near the Court House were in great trepedation and had to make good time in "getting further."

- From the Tarboro Southerner: On Saturday night some kind of show or panorama was exhibited at Sparta. A crowd of four or five negroes were congregated near by cursing and swearing. The gentle man alluded to supposed they were cursing him and approached the crowd and enquired if such was the case. They said it was and renewed their offensive epithets. He immediately "went for" them but was knocked down. Being reinforced by some of his friends, the fight became general and continued for several minutes, during which two of the negroes were badly cut and brnised. The whites suffered no further damage than the knock down alluded to. It is a most unfortunate affair and we forbear to express any opinion of the matter until it has undergone official investigation.  The progress of one of our livest little towns is thus sketched by the Battleboro Advance: A little over two years ago, Battleboro was almost unknown except as a depot on the Wilmington and Weldon Railroad. Only two small stores and a few private residences, with a population unsurpassed for energy, good morals and genuine ospitality. There are now fourteen stores whose annual business amounts to about two hundred thousand dollars. Over six thousand bales of cotton were shipped from here during last season and the prospects are that a larger amount will be shipped this fall and winter. Besides other manufacturing establishments, there is an iron foundry, which supplies the surrounding country with plows and other castings, equal to those manufactured in any market. In fact everything denotes progress and

Have it Always at Hand .- Accidents will happen in the best regulated families, and for this reason, among many others, the Mustane Lini-MENT should find a place in the cupboard of every household. In all the world there is nothing com parable to it as an application for cuts, contusions, burns, spasms, and scalds, and when every other preparation that medical ingenuity can suggest has failed to afford relief in rheumatism, neuralgia, sore throat, glandular swellings, muscular contractions, cramps, toothache, &c., this powerful anti-inflammatory and pain-destroying agent immediately assuages the sufferer's agony and eventually accomshes a radical cure.
