COUNTY EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE. ROOMS DEMOCRATIC-CONSERVATIVE.

Executive Committee New Hanover Co., Wilmington, N. C., Oct. 5, 1872.

The members of the Democratic-Conservative Executive Committee of New Hanover County are requested to meet at the Star office, in this city, Friday afternoon, October 25th, at 3 o'clock.

This will probably be the last regular meeting of the campaign, and as important business is to be transacted, every member is earnestly requested to attend.

W. H. BERNARD, Chairman.

COL. WADDELL'S ADDRESS. We publish this morning the eloquent battle-call of our Congressman, Hon. Alfred M. Waddell, addressed to his constituents of the Cape Fear district.

Confessing partial defeat where we expected victory, Col. Waddell claims that by organization, faith, courage and untiring effort Greeley can still be elected, even if he should lose Pennsylvania and Ohio.

But, as a matter of closer interest, he addresses himself particularly to the work of stirring up North Carolinians to a sense of duty and responsibility. Disappointing our friends in August, let us surprise them in November, when we shall have a better opportunity.

"Whatever course others may pursue," says Col. Waddell, "let us redeem North Carolina, and hold fast the doctrine of local self government which underlies liberty, and which is disappearing from the political creed of this country."

We commend the Address to the careful perusal of every friend of civil liberty in the third district and the State.

Let it stir us up.

NOW FOR NOVEMBER.

Work is the word.

More can be done between tomorrow, the 14th of October, and Tuesday, the 6th of November by persistency, energy, resolution and courage than any man deemed possible last Wednesday.

Don't relax your exertions, Democratic and Liberal friends, because Pennsylvania and Ohio did not roll up Liberal majorities. There is the more need for hearty, old-fashioned work. Those States were carried by fraud. Let us go to work and carry them, and with them others, in November by honest means. Let us make sure of North Carolina and the South. The South must go for Greeley. We want peace, restoration and fraternity. Greeley alone can give them. Let us then go hard to work for the Cincinnati-Baltimore ticket.

Work is the word.

Connecticut greets us with her seven thousand Liberal majority. Can we not do as well in North Carolina? Georgia thunders her 66,000 for our encouragement. Are we deaf to the grand music of such inspiration? Are we dead? No! Let us awake, awake everywhere, in every county and town and city, in North Carolina, the South, the whole Union.

Work is the word.

Yes, work, hard work, ceaseless, untiring work, work with a heart, noble work with a soul in it. It is the last chance. Brothers, in the cause! we conjure you to get ready to aid, make your battle line this week, and let us determine that Horace Greeley shall be the next President of the United States, despite frauds, bribery, patronage or other illegal and immoral advantages possessed by the enemy.

Work is the word.

Now for November! Give the word along the long lines of our brave Liberal host. Every hour should beat with this high purpose. Greeley and our country's liberties—Greeley and peace and fraternity.

WORK, WORK, WORK IS THE WORD!

The year 1840 was an eventful one in American politics. In that year the Whigs went into the Presidential battle under the leadership of General Harrison, while the Democrats marshaled their forces under the banner of Martin Van Buren.

Being but three years of age at the time, the writer has but an indistinct recollection of the incidents of that memorable campaign; but history tells us that the Democrats were successful in every State election held that year previous to November except in that of New Jersey, and that the Whigs carried all the States for Harrison, one month afterwards, except New Hampshire, Virginia, Illinois, Missouri, Alabama and Arkansas.

Now, what does this prove? It proves that tens of thousands of voters who supported Democratic candidates for State officers in 1840 supported a Whig candidate for the Presidency in the very same year.

In 1872, several hundred thousand Republicans will support Greeley for President who would not support Democratic candidates for State officers or for Congress.

The vote next month will be an agreeable surprise to our most sanguine friends. Mark the prediction.

GRANT'S CHANCES. Grant's chances of election must be desperate indeed when the New York Times, his leading organ, has to make up his electoral vote by claiming such positive Liberal States as Virginia, West Virginia, Alabama, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Connecticut, &c.

But the Times is not very consistent in its claims; for, after electing Grant with the greatest ease, giving him 277 electoral votes, it exposes its doubts and fears in the following unmistakable manner:

It will be seen that from the list of States counted for Grant, and morally sure to go for him, we can afford to lose Alabama, Arkansas, California, Illinois, New Jersey and New York, in all eight-seventy votes; or carrying Illinois, can share the remainder of the last named States and Connecticut and the two Virginias; or carrying New York and Illinois—as we shall—can give up Alabama, Arkansas, California, Indiana, New Jersey, Nevada, New Hampshire, North Carolina, Connecticut, West Virginia and Virginia.

Now, is it not clear that the Times is decidedly "shaky" in regard to the vote of every State named in the foregoing paragraph? When it says the Radical candidates "can afford to lose" certain States, it satisfies every reflecting mind that those States are almost sure to vote for Greeley and Brown.

A GAIN OF 7,000. In the local elections which took place in Connecticut on the 8th inst., the Liberal gains were uniform throughout the State, aggregating nearly 7,000 votes. Has this result no meaning? Are the "local causes" all in antagonism to Grant? Or is this splendid victory in Connecticut an indication that the Liberal movement has more strength in that State, in proportion to population, than in any Northern State that has held an election since the Liberal-Democratic ticket has been in the field?

Thinking men have concluded that the result of this election possesses a national significance; and the Liberals and Democrats of the whole country will catch its inspiration and march forth to battle with a higher courage and a firmer step.

All hail, little Connecticut! Your sisters of the South will stand shoulder to shoulder with you on the 5th day of November.

TIMELY TOPICS. William H. Seward, the distinguished author of the expression to which he gave utterance in a speech at Rochester in 1858, "The Irrepressible Conflict," died Thursday afternoon at his residence in Auburn, New York, in his 72nd year. Born in May, 1801, he graduated from Union College in 1820, was elected to the State Senate as an Anti-slavery man in 1824, was defeated by Wm. L. Marcy for Governor over whom in turn he was elected in '39, was re-elected in 1840, was elected to the United States Senate, in 1849, was the most prominent candidate at the Republican National Convention for President, was Lincoln's able and able Secretary of State during the war, stood by Johnson and was ruled out of the Republican party, and finally retired into political obscurity at the close of Andrew Johnson's administration. Mr. Seward recently returned from a tour around the world, an account of which he was preparing for the press. Wm. H. Seward was one of the most gifted politicians this country ever produced. He was never popular in this section for excellent reasons—but of this we do not speak.

The scientific expedition under the command of Lieutenant Hayden, sent out by the Government to explore the Yellowstone country and adjacent regions, have made important discoveries. They went through Idaho to Fort Hall, up the west side of Snake River Valley, across the Teton range of mountains, through the valley of Henry's Fork, Madison Valley, and the Targhee Pass, to the Geyser basin of the Yellowstone region. They discovered the four remarkable passes of Henry's Forks, with Henry's Lake situated in the centre. These passes are so low that a carriage can easily be driven through them, and railroads could be built without obstructions of any sort. Emigrants are beginning to occupy the rich valleys and slopes of this beautiful country.

Post offices were formerly used pro bono publico—irrespective of parties. Now they are abused into party use of the most degrading kind. The following shows what Grant expects of his postmasters:

FORT WAYNE, Indiana. To Postmaster of Arcola, Indiana.—Here with I send you posters for a Republican meeting to be held here Aug. 10.

Please post these up in conspicuous places at once, giving it your personal attention, and not only oblige me but aid the cause, and write me of prospects.

J. J. KAMM, Postmaster. Of course, it is useless to protest against such gross abuses of the public service; the President looks on the offices as his special perquisite; and Senators, like Morton, who put in such postmasters as that at Fort Wayne, will keep them in as long as they attend to politics.

Some over their tremendous defeat, Radical small fry politicians are writing all sorts of falsehoods to the Northern papers about the fairness of the Georgia election. The following specimen brick is taken from a Cincinnati Radical paper. "The election was carried Wednesday in this State by fraud, force, gunpowder, and lead. Colored men and white Republicans were shot down like sheep killing dogs, at the polls, for daring to exercise the right given them by the Constitution to vote, or use the elective franchise."

POLITICAL PARAGRAPHS. —Greeley doesn't give it up.

—The Philadelphia Press admits that Hantran's majority was swollen by frauds.

—Three against three: Georgia, Connecticut, Indiana—Pennsylvania, Ohio, Nebraska. The thing's even now. Let's make it odd in November.

—A "sound Democratic" Electoral ticket is to be brought out at Atlanta; that is, the Bourbons of Georgia are bent on foolishness. What to them is unity and harmony?

PROMINENT PERSONALS. —Froude and Tyndall are over.

—Awful—John Bright catching Salmon in the Jaw.

—The Grand Duke Nicholas of Russia is at Constantinople.

—Mettich has been watering in Austria. He winters in Paris.

—Miss Emily Faithful, of England, has arrived in New York city.

—On his journeys Thiers always carries a hundred select volumes with him.

—The Emperors of Austria and Germany are expected to visit Dresden some time in November to celebrate the "golden wedding" of the King and Queen of Saxony.

—Honest Old Horace talked agriculture to the Baltimoreans at their big Fair last Thursday. He made a lengthy address. He had a reception at the Carrollton House, and made a short speech for peace and union. There was a grand torchlight procession at night.

—The Hon. Lionel Sackville West, Secretary to the British Embassy at Paris, is gazetted Envoy and Minister Plenipotentiary from Great Britain to the Argentine Republic. Now if the hot-blooded Argentinians don't seek this lion and send him West, he'll have a slivery time, doubtless.

..At a meeting of the executive committee of the Carolina Sportsmen's Club held in Charleston, Thursday noon, a long list of Vice-Presidents from the interior counties were chosen.

..Marlboro Times regrets to learn that on Sunday last, Mr. John G. Grant's mule ran away with his wagon, and that Mr. Grant's wagoner was so severely injured as to necessitate the amputation of his leg on the next day.

Tobacco Dealers' Protective Union, of Charleston, have elected the following officers: B. Bollmann, president; C. H. Ehrhardt, vice-president; H. H. Kneel, secretary; E. J. S. Fisher, treasurer; Simons & Simons, solicitors.

Charleston papers are full of casualties from fights between colored people. Alexander Gate, a colored boy about sixteen years of age, was seriously stabbed at the Ten-Mile Hill, on the South Carolina Railroad, about twelve o'clock, Thursday, by a colored man named Peter Davis, says the Republican.

The construction of the Port Royal Railroad is now progressing rapidly. Regular train service has been extended to Allendale, sixty miles below Beaufort and twelve miles beyond Hoover's, the last terminus. The bridge across the Savannah river, it is expected, will be completed by December 1.

In the Ellis Allen murder case the jury, after a short consideration of the matter, rendered a verdict of felonious killing, which is equivalent to willful murder. Brown was committed to jail for trial at the next term of the General Sessions Court, says the Charleston Courier.

From the Wimsboro News we learn that Theodore DeHay, colored, who was convicted of aiding in the escape of a prisoner from the jail at that place, and sentenced to ten years imprisonment in the penitentiary by Judge Thomas was pardoned by Governor Scott a few days ago.

A Cuban mass meeting was held in Charleston Thursday. The meeting was called to order by Mr. Victor Valdez, the agent of the association for South Carolina. A permanent organization was effected, and the following officers were elected: Jose G. Gomez, President; R. L. Morillo, Secretary; Jose Rosis, Treasurer.

The Wimsboro News is some pumpkins on a corn story. Hear him: Mr. James Jones, one of the most enterprising farmers in this county, raised this year on seven acres of river bottom land seven hundred and eleven and a quarter bushels corn, eighteen thousand pounds fodder, and the land is now covered with pumpkins. Wonder if Uncle Horace would advise Mr. Jones to go West.

The meeting, yesterday, at the Fair Grounds, was large and passed off pleasantly. The State Grange was organized and the following officers elected: Master—Colonel Thomas Taylor; Overseer—Colonel A. D. Goodwyn; Lecturer—John S. Richardson, Esq.; Secretary—D. Wyatt Aiken; Treasurer—A. M. Aiken; Chaplain—Rev. J. I. Bommer; Steward—J. K. Davis; Assistant Steward—Thomas Holloway; Gate Keeper—D. Nunnemaker. We will give a more extended report to-morrow.—Columbia Phoenix Friday.

Mr. Lowe on the Geneva Award. The British Chancellor of the Exchequer was recently complimented at Glasgow by a presentation of the freedom of the city. Of course he made a speech. As this was close upon the arbitrators' decision on the Alabama claims he alluded to that subject, declaring he had no doubt in the world that, as a mere question of the law of nations, England was not responsible for a penny of the claim, but, as friends might who had quarrelled, the two countries agreed together to establish certain rules in adjusting the difficulty and named certain men who were to apply those rules, say who had been in the wrong and what satisfaction should be made. He deprecated the delivery of an adverse judgment by Chief Justice Cockburn, thinking that when the matter is decided all are bound to act on it and none are justified in stirring up and renewing the strong argument against the American demand. The Chancellor advises the prompt and cheerful payment of the award without murmur or complaint. As he, doubtless, speaks the sentiment of the government of which he is a member, it is probable that, though the British public may read with interest the editorials which abuse the arbitrators for their decision and applaud the Chief Justice for his obstinate dissent, the sooner the fine is paid and the matter forgotten the better will John Bull be pleased.

News from the Polar Fleet. Dr. Petermann, of Gotha, Germany, has received intelligence from Hammerfest (Norway), bearing date of Aug. 4, of the successful progress of one of the outstanding Polar expeditions, commanded by Captain Altmann. This is the first tidings that has reached us of any of the Arctic fleet of explorers, and contains some interesting facts. Captain Altmann found that this year the east coast of Spitzbergen has been remarkably free from ice and safe for navigation, which is highly encouraging for the results of the various ship work seeking to penetrate to high latitudes in the icy ocean. This officer also discovered and landed upon King Carl's land, which had before been sighted but never visited by any expedition. Captain Altmann found that it consisted of three large and many small islands, lying in the throat of the Polar stream that pours around Spitzbergen. The observations now differ materially from those heretofore published by the Swedes. It is not improbable that the drift ice this year will be found in large quantities, but it would seem not in formidable proportions, and almost all the exploring vessels now in the high north are prepared to rough it among the worst seas of ice. Dr. Petermann, in a circular dated Gotha, Sept. 2 (present), takes this intelligence as confirmatory of the theory of the ice and current conditions on which the outstanding Austrian expedition and others have been projected.
